MANY "Reds" killed in Shanghai and other places in China. One of the Chinese leaders is expected to send Uncle Sam a rather sharp, unpleasant note concerning Uncle Sam's demands. That's part of the news from Asia.

Other news tells of 36 pilgrims, Hindus, killed in the spring rush to be first to bathe in the holy Ganges river.

The Hindus have a religious bathing ceremony, and the more ignorant believe it is particularly meritorious to be first into the river.

In addition to being the great Hindu bathtub, the "holy" Ganges river is a burial place.

We know that not the first to bathe in the Ganges river, but the person that never bathes there, is the one to congratulate.

But the religious Hindus do not know it. Their ideas are thousands of years old, and that's why the British, with today's ideas, rule 300,000,000 of them so easily.

SACCO-VANZETTI agitation continues. Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts, says he is inundated with messages requesting clemency for the two condemned men. Next Sunday Boston labor unions will vote on the case and decide about taking any action or making any recommendation to the governor.

Mary E. Woolley, president, and 51 members of the faculty of Mount Holyoke college petition Governor Fuller to appoint an impartial committee to investigate the case. On the other side the Civilian Club of Boston protests against "attempts to intimidate the governor."

Twenty-eight new communications received by Governor Fuller include one from 23 citizens of Cleveland, and another from the Social Problems club of Columbia university, both asking intervention. A similar appeal comes from Switzerland.

THREE AMERICAN WARSHIPS SPEED TO HANKOW; SITUATION THREATENING

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Three American warships, the cruiser Cincinnati, and the destroyers Preble and Noa, have been ordered to Hankow "where the situation appears to be threatening," Admiral C. S. Williams advised the navy today in a dispatch from Shanghai. He also reported the ordering of three destroyers from Manila to Shanghai; the Simpson, McLeish and McCormick.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Chinese nationalists' reply to the American demands growing out of the Nanking outrages reached the state department today.

Generally speaking, officials considered it "unsatisfactory"—although it is doubtful if it is unsatisfactory enough to impel the United States to take any punitive steps. It is considered here a very adroit answer to the American note, going far enough to appease the American demands in some points, but still not far enough to end the matter.

The note was cabled to the state department by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow, the Southern Chinese headquarters, and reached Washington just before the cabinet assembled at the White House for renewed discussion of the general Chinese problem. It reached Washington, too, just after Secretary Kellogg had left the city for an Easter vacation at Hot Springs. Hence no action will be taken by the administration on the note until after his return next week.

Refer To Shelling of City.

The principal point at which the Chinese reply fails to meet the demands of this government is in the quasi-denial of responsibility for the Nanking attack on foreigners, and in the proposal for a Chino-American commission to investigate and report on a findings of fact.

The state department has taken the position that there is no question but that the anti-foreign attacks were directed and perpetrated by Nationalist soldiers in uniform. To back up this position, it has collected numerous sworn affidavits from foreigners, stating that the attackers wore Southern uniforms. As a matter of cold legality, while this evidence is convincing, it is admittedly not conclusive.

The counter-protest filed by the Cantonese because American and British warships shelled Nanking is regarded by state department officials as a piece of bluff and incorporated largely for home consumption. Nevertheless, it is admitted that the shelling of Nanking makes the determination of actual damage to foreign property a difficult matter. The Chinese can claim, and doubtless will, that some of the damage to foreign property for which the powers demand indemnity and reparation actually was caused by the shelling by foreign warships.

Ready to Make Reparations.

THREE AMERICAN WARSHIPS SPEED TO HANKOW; SITUATION THREATENING

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Three American warships, the cruiser Cincinnati, and the destroyers Preble and Noa, have been ordered to Hankow "where the situation appears to be threatening," Admiral C. S. Williams advised the navy today in a dispatch from Shanghai. He also reported the ordering of three destroyers from Manila to Shanghai; the Simpson, McLeish and McCormick.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Chinese nationalists' reply to the American demands growing out of the Nanking outrages reached the state department today.

Generally speaking, officials considered it "unsatisfactory"—although it is doubtful if it is unsatisfactory enough to impel the United States to take any punitive steps. It is considered here a very adroit answer to the American note, going far enough to appease the American demands in some points, but still not far enough to end the matter.

The note was cabled to the state department by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow, the Southern Chinese headquarters, and reached Washington just before the cabinet assembled at the White House for renewed discussion of the general Chinese problem. It reached Washington, too, just after Secretary Kellogg had left the city for an Easter vacation at Hot Springs. Hence no action will be taken by the administration on the note until after his return next week.

Refer To Shelling of City.

The principal point at which the Chinese reply fails to meet the demands of this government is in the quasi-denial of responsibility for the Nanking attack on foreigners, and in the proposal for a Chino-American commission to investigate and report on a findings of fact.

The state department has taken the position that there is no question but that the anti-foreign attacks were directed and perpetrated by Nationalict soldiers in uniform. To back up this position, it has collected numerous sworn affidavits from foreigners, stating that the attackers wore Southern uniforms. As a matter of cold legality, while this evidence is convincing, it is admittedly not conclusive.

The counter-protest filed by the Cantonese because American and British warships shelled Nanking is regarded by state department officials as a piece of bluff and incorporated largely for home consumption. Nevertheless, it is admitted that the shelling of Nanking makes the determination of actual damage to foreign property a difficult matter. The Chinese can claim, and doubtless will, that some of the damage to foreign property for which the powers demand indemnity and reparation actually was caused by the shelling by foreign warships.

Ready to Make Reparations.

111 PUBLIC AND PAROCHIAL SCHOOL BOYS, WINNERS IN BOOK-READING AND ESSAY-WRITING CONTEST, WILL BE ROTARY CLUB GUESTS TUESDAY

One hundred and eleven boys, attending the public and parochial schools, who were adjudged winners in the book-reading and essay-writing contest conducted under the direction of the Rotary club, will be guests of the Rotarians at next Tuesday's noon luncheon meeting in the Ceramic cafeteria hall, West Fifth street.

In 84 of the 111 school rooms participating, every boy member read at least two books and submitted an essay on the subject, "What I liked Best in the Book I Read." Each of these rooms will receive an American flag or a framed picture of Washington or Lincoln from the club.

Boys enrolled from the first to the eighth grades, inclusive, were eligible to compete in the contest, an annual plan of encouraging the reading of "good books" by boys. The boy, who submitted the best story from each room was selected to be the guest of the club.

The total number taking part was 1,727. Essays were read and judged by members of the Boys' Work committee, who had charge of the contest.

The club will present a fountain pen to the writer of the best essay from each of the eighth grades. Winners of special prizes will not be announced until luncheon day.

The program following the club club luncheon will be rendered by a group of boys from the Neville Institute, of which Miss Maud Baum is the principal. For two successive years every boy in this building, an eight-room structure, has met the requirements of the contest.

Colored shoes reappear hopefully every year. This time, they promise to be better than ever before.

PRE-EASTER SERVICES HERE

Rev. L. J. Davison Speaks in Second Presbyterian Church.

Before another large audience at the Second Presbyterian church, Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian, preached a forceful sermon in the Holy week series of meetings last evening. His subject was: "The Unchangeable Christ."

His text was taken from Hebrews: "Jesus the same today and forever."

Preceding the service was a song service in which an augmented choir led the Congregational singing. It was directed by Robert Raffle with Mrs. Mary McVey as organist.

The invocation was made by Rev. George Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. F. A. Dean, the pastor, presided.

"Every being and substance has in it the evidence of change," Rev. Mr. Davison declared. "Mutability obtains in all life. Our fathers and mothers who yesterday were straight as trees today are bending towards the South; our children, once babies, have grown; our neighbors, who formerly were many, have been reduced to a few.

"In the mountains of Kentucky oxcarts still are found. Once they were the universal mode of transportation. But they have given away to horses, steam engines, automobiles and aeroplanes.

"Time was when carriers rode their horses to death in carrying messages. Now swifter progress is made by mail, telegraph, telephone and the radio.

"Rural life, once the mode, has so metamorphosed that city comforts abound. All has changed. It is the rule of existence. No two sun sets are alike.

"Customs do not remain the same. Where is the mother who would nurse her child until he is 40 years of age?

"If nature were to remain unchanged and be the same year after year this world would present a tragic, drab universe in which to live. Men come and go, but the Christ remains forever unchanged.

"Christ's unchangeableness is manifest in His teachings. His words, unwritten, He having no amanuensis with no record being kept save by a company of fishermen, have remained untarnished. 'Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.'

"Ancient Egypt's cities of antiquity, incriptions, monarchial treasures are dead beneath the rubbish of the ages yet, thank God, the words of God, glowing in their vitality, yet exist despite the changes and ravages of time.

"Christ is likewise unchangeable in His personality. To believe in His works one must need believe in Him. His person radiates faith; it dissipates doubt. To see Him is to know Him."

Manila Actors Systematic.

In developing the drama in Manila, actors are proceeding along systematic lines, not only in choosing players, but in selecting plays. Because little or no professional talent that visits the Philippine city appeals to the English-speaking population, amateurs have organized the Community's Players, who will give a play a month during the theatrical season. To select types from the abundance of talent in the cosmopolitan population, questionnaires are being sent to potential actors, and a card index of heights, weights, colors of hair, nationalities, accents and other data will be kept. Possibilities for parts will be given tryouts until the best type is found. Questionnaires also are being sent to all theatregoers, asking them the title or type of play they would enjoy seeing.

So successful was Saloniki's first fair last year that another will be held.

THE "BRANFORD" SUITE
BY BERKEY & GAY

"LE DERNIER MOT" is French for "the last word"—and this suite might have been called that. For it is the last word in furniture style as its Berkey & Gay Shop Mark suggests.

All the charm of famous Old Colonial masterpieces has been retained while inimitable modern, stylish touches have been added. Integrity of Colonial standards of craftsmanship have been fully preserved in this suite—which is so soundly constructed that its beauty will last for a lifetime.

Here are rich contrasts of wonderfully grained woods—butt walnut, maple burl and burl walnut. Here are pediments bewitchingly carved, turnery as classically beautiful as Greek forms. While simple in form, each piece is rich in effect—hand rubbing adding a wonderful tonal value. Convenient and charming modern touches are the jewelry trays of bureau and chiffonier, the sliding plate glass tray of the dressing table. The skillfully fitted dust-proof drawers glide smoothly.

Warning From a Train Driver

The expert New York Central engineer, Joseph F. Coffey, who holds the world's record for locomotive speed—138 miles in 115 minutes—is a thorough believer in safety first for everybody and particularly for motorists. He has been a railroader for 34 years and has watched the development of the automobile driver who races trains to crossings and is a pest and menace to human life. He has saved a good many fool motorists by his watchfulness and forethought and his prompt application of the brakes.

Because of its size, he explains, a train moving at tremendous speed sometimes appears merely to be crawling. There is an optical illusion that tricks many drivers.

Coffey is not the only railroad engineer who has tried to warn the foolish motorist or who has admitted that the engineer's life is made more nerve-wracking and hazardous by that type. However, human nature being what it is, the foolish driver who thinks it smart or useful to race a train to the crossing is probably here to stay as long as automobiles and trains stay.

The elimination of as many grade crossings as possible and protection of those which survive are surer means of saving the foolish motorist and his helpless companions from this danger.

Chicago-On-The-Sea

"Big Bill" Thompson, mayor-elect of Chicago, announces among many promises:

"I will work on for any early completion of the waterway which will make Chicago a seaport town via the Illinois and Mississippi rivers."

There's nothing small about Thompson. He will give Chicago her window on the sea by emptying the Great Lakes into the Gulf of Mexico, regardless of the fact that Nature has seen fit to empty them into the Atlantic.

The matter is of practical interest to other Great Lakes ports, nearly all of which are fighting the large present abstraction of water by Chicago, through her sewer drainage canal, and still larger quantity demanded.

There is apparently no objection in the Great Lakes region to a deep channel between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi, provided seagoing vessels are locked through without waste of water. But there is strenuous objection to an unnatural outlet from the lakes to the Mississippi, beyond the natural watershed, in the form of a great stream that lowers the lake levels, causing big losses to navigation, leaving docks and wharves stranded, rendering channels useless and lowering the value of thousands of miles of lake short frontage.

That matter, however, is now out of the hands of politicians and before the supreme court of the United States. A decision will be rendered before long by Charles Evans Hughes, as special master, for the court. That may clarify the situation not only for the Great Lakes region but for many other parts of the country where natural rights to waters in a given drainage basin are questioned.

Detroit Speeders

The Detroit traffic court proposes to jail 14,000 automobile speeders who have been ignoring court summonses since last December.

There must be more fast driving in Detroit than anybody has imagined, and there must be a mighty busy police force. But evidently something is wrong with the wheels of justice, when 14,000 citizens calmly ignore a police order to appear in court.

The plan now is to assign 10 motorcycle men to the special duty of rounding up those 14,000 delinquent offenders and bringing them into court, where the judge will sentence them all to spend a night in jail.

If they try to do it all at once, Detroit will have to use the Ford factory for a jail. But there is doubtless a limit to the amount of rounding up that 10 motorcycle cops can do in one day.

And then, while the delinquents are getting what's coming to them, probably thousands of new offenders will ignore new summonses.

The situation shows what happens when any court gets behind in its work. Justice needs to learn modern efficiency. It's better to arrest fewer people and handle them more promptly. Merely pretending to arrest offenders, and letting them ignore a summons and fancy they're getting away with it, breeds contempt for the law.

Antiquity

We all thought the archeologists were getting back pretty far when they dug up King Tut and his funeral riches. The University of Pennsylvania diggers at Ur, Abraham's old home in Mesopotamia, report new discoveries rivaling those of Tutankhamen in artistic merit and craftsmanship, and 2,000 years older.

Records are found of kings formerly thought to be legendary and mythical, proving once more that there is likely to be something substantial at the bottom of any legend. In strata underneath those are found graves containing "clay tablets inscribed with a semi-pictographic script and seals bearing the names of kings unrecorded in any history."

Their date is fixed at about 5,000 B. C., which is rather close to Adam, if the ordinary Hebrew chronology is accepted.

That open door in China is doing a lot of slamming.

ABSOLUTELY AN EVEN BREAK

This one has the merit of being venerable. To my way of thinking, it likewise is very good.

A funeral was in progress at a church. Just as the services were getting fairly under way, an intoxicated person wandered in and staggered up the aisle to a seat near the front.

The sexton rose to eject him; but as the stranger seemed to have fallen into a doze the sexton deemed it best to leave him alone until the last sad rites were concluded. The clergyman proceeded with the ritual until he reached the passage:

"And after darkness there shall be light!"

The intoxicated party straightened up.

"There, now!" he said, addressing the gathering generally, "could anything on earth be fairer than that?"

NEW YORK, April 15.—Thoughts while strolling: More German movie stars. All the members seem to do in a rich club is glare. The wrestler with the heavy mustache. Handy thing to yank. A tabloid reporter leaving an exposition of brocades. Sophie Tucker back on Broadway.

Old movie extras. With faces like fiddles. And the professional skater who wears a red yarn stocking cap. Whatever became of the Brownie books? A whimpering puppy with a lop ear in an express crate. Sisters of charity waiting timidly to cross a crowded street.

An engaging bank sign: "Don't save all but save a little." Nothing so aristocratic looking as a yachting cap. A string quartette in a drug store soda fountain. Those blond slight girls who dress in Oriental style. Fake antiques— with plenty of buyers.

Two button spats. Be-ribboned powder puff dogs. Leonard Leibling the music critic and a deft pianist himself. Two former night clubs become drug stores. Those turreted old houses. Which barricade the last of the dowagers and their metallic savoir faire. And slinking basement cats.

Straw colored caretakers. Who laze through summers leaning back in sidewalk chairs. Old women in black sateens who sell link sausage and huge pretzels. The old men who potter about elevated platforms picking up sticks, paper and twine. Grayer houses and grayer people.

Assured and enameled shop girls. More defiant than the debutante. Black cotton umbrellas hanging on a string. Bertha M. Clay novels. Windows of gaudy beads. Three evictions in a block. And rooms with or without table board.

That sullenness that comes with dusk to the tenements. Puling babies. Shrilled-voiced mothers. And shirt-sleeved fathers who snore heavily before dinner. Gasolene torches of the decaying fruit merchants. A few thumping nickel pianos. And night with its spatter of stars.

A Long Island home owner advertises for a yardman at a salary of $175 a month and board. I remember when yards were cleaned for the privilege of selling the bottles found on the premises.

The newest in jobs concerns an establishment that hires a young society youth to stand inconspicuously near the door. He identifies customers of importance and relays the names to clerks. In a short time many drop by to call the customer by name. He fells so important he would never think of asking a reduction in price.

A shoe merchant reserved sculptorial niches in his gaudy new building on Broadway for a popularity contest by ballot. The winners were. Drama, Ethel Barrymore; Comedy, Marilyn Miller; Opera, Rosa Ponselle; Screen, Mary Pickford. Bronze heads of the winners will be installed.

As a matter of fact there is not at present a strikingly popular actress of the calibre of Maud Adams, Viola Allen, Mary Mannering or several others who flourished in the Nineties. Jeritza is doubtless the most romantic and appealing of the operatic stars. After all, popularity can be judged best by the box office, and Gloria Swanson thereby tops the list in the cinema world. She leads the pack. If there are any real comediennes on the stage today I have not seen thm.

New names, new faces and short careers rule the theatre. Every time I see Wilton Lackay or Otis Skinner at liberty I have no trouble figuring out what is the matter with the drama.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Street Car Safety.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—With a view of stimulating the efforts of managements and employees of street railway systems in accident prevention and health promotion, the family of the late Anthony N. Brady in 1914 established the Brady memorial Award. After three years the award was abandoned, largely due to the World war that was engrossing all interest and activity. Now it is to be revived.

The American Electric Railway association found that the award was so effective in maintaining efficiency and safety that it has asked for its resumption, and Nicholas F. Brady, at the request of the American Museum of Safety, has agreed.

The award is merely a medal, or rather, a group of three medals, and it may be a matter of surprise that it would excite an impersonal corporation like a street railway company, or stir its individual employees who are altogether personal, to exceptional effort to guard the lives and health of passengers. However, the Museum of Safety and the Electric association in announcing the renewal of the award affirm that it does do that very thing.

Everybody, it seems, including school children of both sexes, Boy Scouts, life guards, athletes, soldiers, scientists, and street railway executives and subordinates, likes to do something to earn the distinction of being awarded a medal or a decoration. It grows out of the competitive spirit, which is almost as much of a human instinct as the natural impulses of living, and it is the thing that brings about heroic deeds and successes in diverse fields of endeavor.

Not infrequently, it is declared, the hope of winning a medal has inspired greater efforts than could be incited by prospects of monetary reward. Kings and governments discovered this about the time the first war was staged, which was quite a while ago, and the practice of applying the idea has been going strong ever since.

Safer to Ride Than to Walk.

At any rate, the fact that is far safer to ride in a street car than to walk at the present time is said to be due in no small degree to accident prevention work that was accelerated when the Brady Award was inaugurated 13 years ago. And that the cited fact is a fact was revealed in an analysis of accident statistics which shows that only one passenger out of every 100,000,000 passengers carried by electric railways has suffered fatal accident in recent years.

Despite greater traffic problems, there has been since 1923, it is stated, a decrease of 16 per cent in all accidents on electric railways.

The rules for the competition for the Brady award, formulated by a committee chosen from the industry itself, have been sent to every electric railway company in the United States. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are to be given for the best safety records, and the railways are divided into three groups—those operating more than 5,000,000 vehicle miles, those operating 1,000,000 and 5,000,000 vehicle miles, and those operating less than 1,000,000 vehicle miles. This gives the smallest company and its employees a chance at earning the distinction without being handicapped by the unlimited resources of the big corporations.

The first of the new competitions will be based on the promotion of safety and health during the year 1926, and statistics and claims must be in the hands of the American Museum of Safety not later than August 1, 1927. The committee of award, headed by Lewis Gawtry, president of the Bank of Savings of New York City, includes Col. A. B. Barber, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United

PANHANDLE MINES ON NORMAL BASIS

Non-union coal mines in the northern panhandle district of West Virginia are back on a normal basis. Statements obtained from various operators about the district yesterday indicate that the minor drop in production noted early this month has been entirely overcome, and the mines of Ohio, Brooke and Marshall counties are contributing very substantially to the nation's coal needs during the suspension of the mines in the central competitive field.

Most of the mines in the panhandle are protected against unionization by injunctions granted by the state courts. Mines not so protected have not been assailed nearly so heavily as was at first predicted by the union officials, and each and every mine has taken its place in the important task of producing fuel during the emergency period.

"Mines in the panhandle are back on a normal basis," said the spokesman for a number of the operators yesterday. "There is no shortage of men, for the mine offices are besieged daily by miners, all experienced, who seek work."

WORLD DEMANDS TO SEE CROSS IN OUR LIVES, SAYS PASTOR

Dr. D. W. MacLeod Delivers Holy Week Sermon.

CALVARY THEME

Good Friday Cantata Tonight in Methodist Episcopal Church.

"The world demands to see the Cross in our lives. There is no good in a Christianity that does not involve crucifixion" asserted Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, First Presbyterian pastor in an outstandinf union Holy Week sermon at the First Baptist church last evening.

"How professing Christians at this period of preparation for the Lord's Supper can sit down at card tables rather than attend a place of worship makes for so blinded a condition as to send us to the Throne of Grace," he declared.

The invocation and benediction were made by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The music was directed by Harry Chilton. Miss Ruby Aley was the organist.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, presided at the meeting. "These Holy Week gatherings have more than met the expectations of the Ministerial association in results accomplished and interest shown," he said. "Just today I was told that had they been begun sooner a revival would have broken out in the city. We shall hope to even better our manner of procedure next year."

Instead of the usual preaching service the downtown service tonight will consist of a service of song at the First Methodist Episcopal church when a cantata, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, the congregation's choral leader, will be given.

"Persons allied to churches indulging in social frivolities at this time have not caught the passion of the Saviour," affirmed Dr. MacLeod. "The world has the right in our actions to see the print of the nails of the Crucified Christ in our hands if we affect to be His followers and devotees of His church. It is not for Jesus to bear the cross alone."

Rising to dramatic heights, with consummate logic and with striking sincerity of manner, Dr. MacLeod drove home the fundamental truths surrounding Calvary's victorious sacrifice.

"Our crosses, those professing Christ's name, involve a separation from the world that is apparent and easily discernible," went on Dr. MacLeod. "They include a loyalty to His church at all times."

Dr. MacLeod averred that preaching Christ and Him crucified was the pertinent duty of ministers. "This is the central message of the gospel," he said. "Without it there is no true gospel."

He deprecated the soft tendency of many present-day ministers to say only beautiful things about Christ while neglecting to stress His crucifixion and attach little or no significance to His death.

"These held no sacrificial character to the cross. They make the atonement little short of repulsive, calling such a viewpoint a religion of shambles. They emphasize His life, not death. His priceless words have no heritage in modern ideals which are the world's most priceless possession.

"Such people existed in Christ's day. To them the cross was 'a stumbling block to the Jews and foolishness to the Greeks.'

"Christ Himself gave the cross the central place in His early career. Paul followed in His standards there on.

"The Christ declared unto his Deciples that it was part of His duty to die. To this end he directed his life efforts. At the Mount of Transfiguration, where the only convention with heavenly delegates was ever held, He conferred with Moses and Elijah, the one the exponent of Mt. Sinai and the other the hero of Mt. Carmel, on his death.

"Before His passing He instituted the Lord's Supper whose viands are to commemorate His death. He thus recognized His blood covenant with humanity as the High Priest of heaven

"The cross alone reveals to man the real nature of sin. Men must know its depravity and how God regards it. The tendency of the world is to veneer sin, making it a thing of less tragic significance."

"The Cross is a revelation of supreme love in our lives. This love so amazingly demands a reciprocity of loyalty, separation from the world and activity in furthering His kingdom.

SEVENTH ART SHOW TO OPEN HERE MONDAY

Exhibit of Printing in Newman Store Windows.

57 MASTERPIECES

Norman T. A. Munder's Collection Will be Displayed.

An exhibit of fine printing, the seventh art show brought to East Liverpool under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, will be presented in the show windows of the Newman store, Washington street, starting Monday.

The exhibit, secured through the American Federation of Arts, is the property of Norman T. A. Munder, Baltimore. It is being circulated for the purpose of bringing attention of the public to the fact that printing is an art. The display is made up of 57 masterpieces.

Munder ranks among America's foremost printers. For his "perfect book," reproduction of drawings by old masters, he was awarded the gold medal of the Society of Graphic Arts at the society's exhibition at the National Arts club in 1920. This book also won the Grand Prix as the best example of fine printing and other awards.

The display emphasizes the significance of personality, not only in craft work but in the industrial arts. The exhibit includes the following samples:

Title page, first reading page, specimen sheet, sample pages, book pages, prospectus, announcement, advertising folder, Christmas card, catalogue, advertising book, covers and pages, Chinese rugs, unusual office forms, wall card, wood engraving, illustrated announcement halftone reproduction.

Reproductions of etchings and notable works of art also in the collection include:

Gateway of The Glasgow university; The Pantheon; Palazzo Vecchio, Florence; "The Birches;" Rose Window, Notre Dame de Paris; color reproduction of antique pottery; Old Canongate Tolbooth, Edinburgh; St. Maclou; cluny Museum; St. Ives; John Harvard House; Rheims Cathedral, Facade; Strasburg Cathedral; Separation of Orpheus and Eurydice by Hermes; The Pearl Diver; Venezia; Age of Innocense; Rouen Cathedral; Joan of Arc; Portrait of Miss Appy; Church of The Magdalene, Paris; Hard Times; interior of Chartres Cathedral; Lioness; Dante and Beatrice.

States; Lucius S. Storrs, managing director of the American Electric Railway association; and James H. McGraw, president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

The factors prescribed as conditions for obtaining the award are: The success in gaining good will as indicated by the initiative, skill, and enterprise manifested in improved safety conditions; the improved safety conditions which have resulted from original ideas, as well as the extent to which the company has taken advantage of new development of safety in operating and maintenance practice and equipment originating with others; improvements in safety practice which have resulted in reduced maintenance, or greater reliability of service; particular success in conducting a safety program and actually reducing the number and seriousness of accidents; outstanding accomplishments in development of cooperation between management and employees in safety promotion; and similar accomplishments in measures to promote sanitation and health.

Honorable Mention Possible.

In addition to awarding medals the committee may in its discretion make honorable mention of one or more electric railway organizations, based upon the same criteria as the award of medals or any other factors that may impress the committee as especially worthy of commendation.

In 1914 the Brady medal was given to the Boston Elevated Railway company. A silver replica went to Russell A. Sears, general attorney, and a bronze replica to Henry V. Neal, a mechanic in the company's employ. Honorable mentions were accorded that year to the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company.

The Union Traction company of Indiana carried off the gold medal the year following, with the silver replica going to its general manager, Harry A. Nicholl, and the bronze to John Hancock, a motorman. Honorable mention was made of the Chicago Elevated Railroads, the Peninsula Railway company and San Jose Railroads, and the Columbus Railroad company.

In 1916 the Connecticut company was given the gold medal, the silver replica was awarded to Seth W. Baldwin, assistant attorney, and the bronze replica was carried off by W. J. Flickinger, secretary to the president of the company.

"We believe that, while an enviable record in accident prevention among electric railways has already been accomplished, a still finer record can be made in the future," says President Williams, of the American Museum of Safety. "The very fact that the suggestion for resuming the Brady Award came from the railroads themselves shows their willingness to respond."

The Museum of Safety includes among its officers such notables as Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, George F. Kunz, Edson S. Lott, James Speyer, William H. Nichols, Arthur H. Young, and Barron Collier. It was formerly known as the Safety Institute of America and was incorporated by special charter of the State of New York in 1911.

Its motto or slogan is, "Now let us conserve human life."

Forsees Bottle-Fed Nation.

There is danger of bottle-feeding becoming a craze, declared Dr. A. F. G. Sparks, a prominent English doctor, at a recent maternity and child welfare conference at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. Unless bottle feeding for infants is checked, he said, the nation would become bottle-fed with consequent loss in efficiency. His remarks were confirmed by other medical men. The sheriff of Newcastle suggested that welfare centers teach fathers how to keep babies asleep at night.

States; Lucius S. Storrs, managing director of the American Electric Railway association; and James H. McGraw, president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

The factors prescribed as conditions for obtaining the award are: The success in gaining good will as indicated by the initiative, skill, and enterprise manifested in improved safety conditions; the improved safety conditions which have resulted from original ideas, as well as the extent to which the company has taken advantage of new development of safety in operating and maintenance practice and equipment originating with others; improvements in safety practice which have resulted in reduced maintenance, or greater reliability of service; particular success in conducting a safety program and actually reducing the number and seriousness of accidents; outstanding accomplishments in development of cooperation between management and employees in safety promotion; and similar accomplishments in measures to promote sanitation and health.

Honorable Mention Possible.

In addition to awarding medals the committee may in its discretion make honorable mention of one or more electric railway organizations, based upon the same criteria as the award of medals or any other factors that may impress the committee as especially worthy of commendation.

In 1914 the Brady medal was given to the Boston Elevated Railway company. A silver replica went to Russell A. Sears, general attorney, and a bronze replica to Henry V. Neal, a mechanic in the company's employ. Honorable mentions were accorded that year to the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company.

The Union Traction company of Indiana carried off the gold medal the year following, with the silver replica going to its general manager, Harry A. Nicholl, and the bronze to John Hancock, a motorman. Honorable mention was made of the Chicago Elevated Railroads, the Peninsula Railway company and San Jose Railroads, and the Columbus Railroad company.

In 1916 the Connecticut company was given the gold medal, the silver replica was awarded to Seth W. Baldwin, assistant attorney, and the bronze replica was carried off by W. J. Flickinger, secretary to the president of the company.

"We believe that, while an enviable record in accident prevention among electric railways has already been accomplished, a still finer record can be made in the future," says President Williams, of the American Museum of Safety. "The very fact that the suggestion for resuming the Brady Award came from the railroads themselves shows their willingness to respond."

The Museum of Safety includes among its officers such notables as Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, George F. Kunz, Edson S. Lott, James Speyer, William H. Nichols, Arthur H. Young, and Barron Collier. It was formerly known as the Safety Institute of America and was incorporated by special charter of the State of New York in 1911.

Its motto or slogan is, "Now let us conserve human life."

Forsees Bottle-Fed Nation.

There is danger of bottle-feeding becoming a craze, declared Dr. A. F. G. Sparks, a prominent English doctor, at a recent maternity and child welfare conference at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. Unless bottle feeding for infants is checked, he said, the nation would become bottle-fed with consequent loss in efficiency. His remarks were confirmed by other medical men. The sheriff of Newcastle suggested that welfare centers teach fathers how to keep babies asleep at night.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEES TO DISCUSS FRANCHISE TAX

Upper Branch Balks on Amendments to Aigler Bill.

GAS TAX HIT

Direct Levy and Excise Bills Await Donahey Action.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—While the Ohio senate and house was in recess, members of a joint conference committee here today met in an effort to iron out differences existing between the two legislative branches relative to house amendments to the Algler bill, increasing the franchise tax on corporations doing business in Ohio.

The house and senate recessed late Thursday night until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, April 20.

After the house, Wednesday night, passed the Aigler bill, by a vote of 95 to 11, the senate refused to concur in house amendments and forced the measure to a joint conference committee.

Determined to dispose of the Aigler bill controversy first, the senate refused to carry out the plan which called for a vote Wednesday night on a question of passing the Sullivan bill, increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

Three Major Measures Held Up.

Of the five major financial measures, only two have passed the legislature and are ready for the approval, or disapproval, of Governor Vic Donahey. These are: The Dodd bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill, and the Kumbler bill, increasing the excise tax on certain utilities from 1.2 to 1.35 per cent.

When the legislators reconvene next week, the senate will be asked to pass the Sullivan bill, which already has passed the house; the house will be requested to concur in senate amendments to the Norton bill, recodifying and revising state highway laws, and both legislative branches will be asked to approve the joint conference committee's report relative to the Aigler bill.

As it passd the senate, the Aigler bill had increased the franchise tax from 1-12 to 1-8 of one per cent for the first year and provided for 1-19 of one per cent for subsequent years, besides authorizing exemption from this tax of 20 per cent of corporate properties outside Ohio. The house changed the tax rate for the first year to 1-7 of one per cent and boosted the percentage of exempted property from 20 per cent to 100 per cent.

House Passes Forney Bill.

The joint conference committee on the Aiger bill comprises Senators C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican floor leader; A. G. Aigler, Bellevue, and P. M. Herbert, Columbus, and Representative Martin Dodd, Toledo, Republican floor leader; C. H. Jones, Jackson, and G. P. Ward, Columbus.

The senate next week will be asked to concur in the action of the house which, by a vote of 91 to 13, passed the Forney bill, levying a 10 per cent tax upon the sale of cigarettes throughout Ohio. The bill, it was estimated, if operative as law, would increase the state's revenues about $4,750,000 a year.

The house, also, passed, 99 to 4, the Sullivan bill, changing the inheritance tax rate so that this state will share the full 80 per cent allowed by the federal government. This measure, which now goes to the senate, is estimated to increase the state's revenues about $1,000,000 annually.

Dry Legislation Remedy.

Efforts will be made, it was stated, to have the senate and house next week pass the Marshall and Etling bills, now pending in the senate, which, dry leaders claimed, if enacted into law, will remedy the situation resulting from the decree of the U. S. Supreme court which invalidated Ohio statutory provisions which authorized village mayors to accept as compensation part of fines collected from liquor law violators.

The senate and house late Wednesday adopted the Pustard joint resolution providing for a joint committee of five senators and five house members, to investigate and study the criminal jurisprudence of Ohio and report to the next legislative session with a view to enacting a new criminal code. This proposed committee, it was stated, would sumbit recommentations dealing, among other things, with the jurisdictions of justices of the peace and village mayors and the recommendations for permanent reconstruction of the interior system of Ohio.

Mooney Proposal Defeated.

The Mardis bill, seeking to eliminate all alleged discrimination against Ohio coal mines and users of Ohio coal by reducing intra-state freight rates on coal shipments, is in the hands of the senate committee on commerce and industry, after passing the house.

The Anderson joint resolution, which was adopted by the house, memorializing congress to grant additional federal aid relative to the Ohio river road in Belmont and Jefferson counties, is in the hands of the senate highways committee.

A sundry appropriations bill, introduced by Representative Williamson, Greene county, was referred to the house finance committe.

By a vote of 92 to 2 the house passed the bill, by Representative Guthrie, Coshocton, relating to the investment of funds of that teachers' retirement system. The bill went to the senate.

The Mooney bill, providing for a teacher's examination as a requirement of certification, besides keeping the present required amount of training, was defeated by the house, 28 to 60.

Carpenter-Lewis Bills.

The senate, by a vote of 34 to 0, passed the Carpenter emergency supplemental appropriation bill, appropriating about $160,000 to care for legislative expenses and for special repairs at Indian Lake. The bill went to the house.

Senator Lewis, Belmont county, introduced a bill to relieve the sinking fund trustees of Yorkville for responsibility for loss of public funds in connection with the failure of the Yorkville bank.

By a vote of 31 to 1, the senate concurred in the action of the house in passing the Anderson bill, removing jurisdiction of justices of the peace in Canton. As the bill passed the senate, it relates to civil and criminal proceedings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Closing of the speculative and many of the commodity markets today is in accordance with a long established custom, though Good Friday is not observed as a holiday in New York state. The banks, clearing houses and most of the business houses remain open, while the cotton and produce market remain closed until Monday.

Summarizing the movements of speculative security prices over the past two or three weeks, it can be said without fear of controversy that this has been one of the most confused periods since the break in prices in February and March of last year. Though within a week the average price of representative industrial and railroad stocks have recorded their highest ranges for a decade or more, there have nevertheless occurred violent reactions in some of the prominent groups of stocks with prices declining below the bottom prices of last year's "big smash."

Prominent in this list are the oil, sugar and specialty stocks. Demoralization in the crude oil production situation, following a year of high prices and excellent earnings for the oil industry as a whole, has made the oil stocks an excellent target for the professional bears, and forced liquidation of stock by investors who feared for the safety of their dividends. Copper and sugar stocks also have been compelled to carry the handicap of over production and the consequent declines in commodity prices.

THREE DIE AS FLOOD, STORM RAGE IN WEST

Two Drowned in Kansas; One Killed in Colorado.

RAILROADS HIT

Oklahoma and Wyoming Also Report Heavy Damage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 15.—Streams in southeast Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma today were at highest flood marks this year. Lowlands were flooded, railroad tracks were imperiled and volunteers were aiding county authorities in stemming onslaughts against levees and dikes.

Coffeyville, Kansas, was hardest hit by the high waters of the Verdigris river which after midnight began rising at the rate of four inches an hour. Missouri Pacific railroad officials at that place were concerned chiefly today with ballasting down sections of track between Independence and New Albany. A wall of water three to five feet deep was menacing the Frisco railroad between Neodesha and Fredonia. The toll of life today stood at two drowned.

DENVER, April 15.—One man was killed and many others were seriously injured in a severe storm that has swept Colorado and Wyoming. Air mail service is paralyzed, train service delayed and in some districts entirely blocked.

Fifty automobiles were abandoned today on the Denver-Colorado Springs highway because of the high drifts and blinding snowfall.

Note Unsatisfactory

tacks, postponing punishment until guilt is definitely established, it was learned today.

Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government at Hankow, handed the Chinese answer to the United States consul at Nanking Thursday.

Minister Chen says that the Nationalists are preparing to indemnify the United States for damage to the American consulate at Nanking, regardless of the identity of the persons causing the damage, because the consulate, which is upon Chinese soil, was violated.

Asks Probe for Bombardment.

As regards reparations for personal injuries and other material damage from the consulate, the note states that the Nationalists are ready to make "reasonable and necessary" reparations, except where it can be proved that the damages were caused by the American and British bombardment or northern soldiers.

The note declares that the demand for punishment of the perpetrators is a presumption of national guilt and that, while this presumption is contradicted by the preliminary inquiry, the Nationalist government is still making an investigation and proposes that punishment be withheld by an international commission to be created by the Nationalists and the United States.

Chen's reply says that, as the laws of nations and civilized practices prohibit the bombardment of a city or territory of a friendly state, it is proposed that the commission also investigate "the bombardment of unfortified Nanking by United States forces." The document suggests an apology, but says that the Nationalist administration will await the determination of guilt.

Shanghai is Quiet.

Effective measures are promised to protect foreign lives and properties in the future. But the document emphasizes that the "best guarantees of effective protection would be removal of the fundamental causes of the present troubled relations—namely, unequal treaties."

This city was quiet today, interest centering upon Nanking where Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, Vei Chung Hsi, Gen. Chow Feng Chi and others are attending the all important kuomintang conference.

This meeting, it is believed, will result in an open split between the conservatives and the communists. If this comes to pass it is understood Gen. Chiang plans to establish a new government ignoring both the Wuhan and Peking administrations.

British Airplanes Land.

The military situation is not clear, the Nationalists claiming a strategic victory in their retreat back to the Yangtse and that the Anhwei forces have cut the northern vanguards from their base.

Northerners confirm the Cantonese success at Pukow, declaring that Gen. Chang Tsung transferred his headquarters from Suchow to Pengpu.

A British aircraft carrier landed six airplanes here this afternoon, stationing them at the race course where hangars already had been built. The British plan to use the planes to cooperate with artillery units in the event of an attack against the international settlement. However, fears of such an attack have about died out now.

Calculated to Mislead Public.

PEKING, April 15.—The Chinese Nationalists' reply to the American note protesting against the anti-foreign outrages in Nanking on March 24, was characterized today by American officials as "extremely unsatisfactory." They declared belief that the Chinese answer was calculated to mislead the public abroard.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, commander of the northern armies, has assured United States Minister John MacMurray that the strictest orders have been issued to the Northern troops to prevent a recurrence of firing upon United States warcraft such as occurred when shots were discharged against the American gunboat Noa in the Yangtze river near Nanking. It was explained that this attack was due to a misunderstanding.

Chinese Aid Communists.

During a conference this morning the American minister urged Marshal Chang's secretary of foreign affairs to publish the documents seized in the recent raid upon the Soviet embassy compound.

It is reported that receipts were found proving that the Communist Leader Li Tachao received one hundred American dollars monthly from the Soviets.

It was further reported that written reports were discovered made out by Chinese employed by the American and other legations. These reports were designed to keep the Soviets informed of all that went on in the legations.

The police are still holding 35 Chinese Communists arrested at the time of the raid. Nineteen others were released.

Soviet Charge Seeks Passports.

The Soviet charge d'affaires, who was recalled last Saturday by the Moscow government as a result of the embassy raid, has asked the Chinese foreign office for passports for himself and the principal embassy secretaries. Minor attaches already have departed.

The Peking government has cabled the Chinese charge d'affaires at Moscow the text of the reply to the Soviet note protesting against the embassy raid. This answer declares that the diplomatic immunity of the embassy could not be extended to activities subversive of the Peking government and that such activities had been carried on within the embassy premises.

Chinese police still occupy the Soviet embassy compound and Russian property which was seized has not yet been released.

The Soviet charge d'affaires plans to leave Peking on Tuesday.

Replies Almost Identical.

LONDON, April 15.—The Cantonese replies to the Nanking protest notes of America, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, were almost identical, it was learned here this afternoon. The differences were that the Cantonese in their replies to Britain and America, reproached those countries for the bombardment at Nanking, while France was reproached for firing upon the Chinese at Canton.

Japanese Troops Go To Manchuria.

TOKIO, April 15.—Because of the tense situation in Manchuria, the Japanese war office has decided to strengthen its forces there, sending an additional division, it was learned here today.

The war office is sending replacements, without recalling the present forces, it was reported.

British Censor on Job.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Most of the news dispatches from China are being "censored by British sources," Rear Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, retired, U. S. N., chairman of the federal radio commission, declared today after a conference at the White House.

Bullard, just returned from China, called to thank President Coolidge for his appointment to the commission.

STATE SCORES IN HEWITT CASE

JEFFERSON, O., April 15.—The state scored today in the Floyd Hewitt murder trial when Judge Charles R. Sargent presiding, ruled that the confession made by Hewitt the day following the killing of Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February, and which he later repudiated, was not obtained through force. The judge indicated that he would permit the confession to be introduced as evidence.

H. D. Hannum, county detective, who obtained Hewitt's statement, was on the stand most of the morning. Attorneys argued the matter and questioned Hannum, with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

MR. MENCKEN, who writes, is annoyed that Boston should suppress books held by its appointed judges to be immoral or otherwise undesirable. He mentions the suppression of a book by Sinclair Lewis as proof that Boston possesses a "moron kultur."

Sinclair Lewis has written a book which sincere religious people believe to be harmful because in it the character of a clergyman is made despicable. If those in Boston, with the legal right, decide that they don't want such a book sold, that does not prove them morons.

MANY lawyers and their criminal clients will be shocked to hear how one court in Hungary operates. It is an extraordinary court trying cases of treason and attempted revolution. If it finds the accused guilty it sentences them to death.

Immediately thereafter it changes itself into a "court of mercy" and investigates the desirability of a pardon. If there is no pardon the condemned are executed within two hours.

"There is service," as the automobile salesman would express it. Here, if he has money to hire lawyers, the criminal can postpone unpleasant consequences a year or two at least. Both systems are wrong.

A BROOKLYN doctor leaves $1 to his wife, one cent to his son. Napoleon Bonaparte would not allow that and in many places law contends that a man responsible for bringing a child to this earth is responsible for him after he gets there.

Napoleon decreed that sons should respect and obey their parents, and parents, if able, should provide for their children.

And no families are more closely united than French families. Some ignorant American opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

Human Voice Now Imitated.

By the use of an organ-pipe reed, his fingers and a bellows operated by foot, an English inventor has succeeded in imitating the human voice to an extent that is uncanny. The reed serves as the vocal organ and the fingers as the tongue and lips. He recently produced the sentence, "Hello, London; are you there?" as clearly as if he were telephoning from New York. It is claimed that the experiment proves that the human voice is largely a mechanical result of muscular and nervous action.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEES TO DISCUSS FRANCHISE TAX

Upper Branch Balks on Amendments to Aigler Bill.

GAS TAX HIT

Direct Levy and Excise Bills Await Donahey Action.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—While the Ohio senate and house was in recess, members of a joint conference committee here today met in an effort to iron out differences existing between the two legislative branches relative to house amendments to the Algler bill, increasing the franchise tax on corporations doing business in Ohio.

The house and senate recessed late Thursday night until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, April 20.

After the house, Wednesday night, passed the Aigler bill, by a vote of 95 to 11, the senate refused to concur in house amendments and forced the measure to a joint conference committee.

Determined to dispose of the Aigler bill controversy first, the senate refused to carry out the plan which called for a vote Wednesday night on a question of passing the Sullivan bill, increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

Three Major Measures Held Up.

Of the five major financial measures, only two have passed the legislature and are ready for the approval, or disapproval, of Governor Vic Donahey. These are: The Dodd bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill, and the Kumbler bill, increasing the excise tax on certain utilities from 1.2 to 1.35 per cent.

When the legislators reconvene next week, the senate will be asked to pass the Sullivan bill, which already has passed the house; the house will be requested to concur in senate amendments to the Norton bill, recodifying and revising state highway laws, and both legislative branches will be asked to approve the joint conference committee's report relative to the Aigler bill.

As it passd the senate, the Aigler bill had increased the franchise tax from 1-12 to 1-8 of one per cent for the first year and provided for 1-10 of one per cent for subsequent years, besides authorizing exemption from this tax of 20 per cent of corporate properties outside Ohio. The house changed the tax rate for the first year to 1-7 of one per cent and boosted the percentage of exempted property from 20 per cent to 100 per cent.

House Passes Forney Bill.

The joint conference committee on the Aiger bill comprises Senators C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican floor leader; A. G. Aigler, Bellevue, and P. M. Herbert, Columbus, and Representative Martin Dodd, Toledo, Republican floor leader; C. H. Jones, Jackson, and G. P. Ward, Columbus.

The senate next week will be asked to concur in the action of the house which, by a vote of 91 to 13, passed the Forney bill, levying a 10 per cent tax upon the sale of cigarettes throughout Ohio. The bill, it was estimated, if operative as law, would increase the state's revenues about $4,750,000 a year.

The house, also, passed, 99 to 4, the Sullivan bill, changing the inheritance tax rate so that this state will share the full 80 per cent allowed by the federal government. This measure, which now goes to the senate, is estimated to increase the state's revenues about $1,000,000 annually.

Dry Legislation Remedy.

Efforts will be made, it was stated, to have the senate and house next week pass the Marshall and Etling bills, now pending in the senate, which, dry leaders claimed, if enacted into law, will remedy the situation resulting from the decree of the U. S. Supreme court which invalidated Ohio statutory provisions which authorized village mayors to accept as compensation part of fines collected from liquor law violators.

The senate and house late Wednesday adopted the Bustard joint resolution providing for a joint committee of five senators and five house members, to investigate and study the criminal jurisprudence of Ohio and report to the next legislative session with a view to enacting a new criminal code. This proposed committee, it was stated, would sumbit recommentations dealing, among other things, with the jurisdictions of justices of the peace and village mayors and the recommendations for permanent reconstruction of the interior system of Ohio.

Mooney Proposal Defeated.

The Mardis bill, seeking to eliminate all alleged discrimination against Ohio coal mines and users of Ohio coal by reducing intra-state freight rates on coal shipments, is in the hands of the senate committee on commerce and industry, after passing the house.

The Anderson joint resolution, which was adopted by the house, memorializing congress to grant additional federal aid relative to the Ohio river road in Belmont and Jefferson counties, is in the hands of the senate highways committee.

A sundry appropriations bill, introduced by Representative Williamson, Greene county, was referred to the house finance committe.

By a vote of 92 to 2 the house passed the bill, by Representative Guthrie, Coshocton, relating to the investment of funds of that teachers' retirement system. The bill went to the senate.

The Mooney bill, providing for a teacher's examination as a requirement of certification, besides keeping the present required amount of training, was defeated by the house, 28 to 60.

Carpenter-Lewis Bills.

The senate, by a vote of 34 to 0, passed the Carpenter emergency supplemental appropriation bill, appropriating about $160,000 to care for legislative expenses and for special repairs at Indian Lake. The bill went to the house.

Senator Lewis, Belmont county, introduced a bill to relieve the sinking fund trustees of Yorkville for responsibility for loss of public funds in connection with the failure of the Yorkville bank.

By a vote of 31 to 1, the senate concurred in the action of the house in passing the Anderson bill, removing jurisdiction of justices of the peace in Canton. As the bill passed the senate, it relates to civil and criminal proceedings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Closing of the speculative and many of the commodity markets today is in accordance with a long established custom, though Good Friday is not observed as a holiday in New York state. The banks, clearing houses and most of the business houses remain open, while the cotton and produce market remain closed until Monday.

Summarizing the movements of speculative security prices over the past two or three weeks, it can be said without fear of controversy that this has been one of the most confused periods since the break in prices in February and March of last year. Though within a week the average price of representative industrial aid railroad stocks have recorded their highest ranges for a decade or more, there have nevertheless occurred violent reactions in some of the prominent groups of stocks with prices declining below the bottom prices of last year's "big smash."

Prominent in this list are the oil, sugar and specialty stocks. Demoralization in the crude oil production situation, following a year of high prices and excellent earnings for the oil industry as a whole, has made the oil stocks an excellent target for the professional bears, and forced liquidation of stock by investors who feared for the safety of their dividends. Copper and sugar stocks also have been compelled to carry the handicap of over-production and the consequent declines in commodity prices.

Philadelphia Detective Chief Dies.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—James T. Cortelyou, 56, chief of county detectives and formerly director of public safety, died early today in Jefferson hospital. Death was due to pneumonia and pleurisy and a complication of diseases.

THREE DIE AS FLOOD, STORM RAGE IN WEST

Two Drowned in Kansas; One Killed in Colorado.

RAILROADS HIT

Oklahoma and Wyoming Also Report Heavy Damage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 15.—Streams in southeast Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma today were at highest flood marks this year. Lowlands were flooded, railroad tracks were imperiled and volunteers were aiding county authorities in stemming onslaughts against levees and dikes.

Coffeyville, Kansas, was hardest hit by the high waters of the Verdigris river which after midnight began rising at the rate of four inches an hour. Missouri Pacific railroad officials at that place were concerned chiefly today with ballasting down sections of track between Independence and New Albany. A wall of water three to five feet deep was menacing the Frisco railroad between Neodesha and Fredonia. The toll of life today stood at two drowned.

DENVER, April 15.—One man was killed and many others were seriously injured in a severe storm that has swept Colorado and Wyoming. Air mail service is paralyzed, train service delayed and in some districts entirely blocked.

Fifty automobiles were abandoned today on the Denver-Colorado Springs highway because of the high drifts and blinding snowfall.

North German Lloyd Company Purchases British Steamer

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Purchase by the North German Lloyd Steamship company of the British steamer Ormuz was announced here today by J. Schroeder, North German Lloyd representative.

The Ormuz will be added to the North German Lloyd's New York-Bremen service in June, Schroeder said.

The Ormuz was built for the North German Lloyd, but was seized by the British during the war.

CLEVELAND MAN SHOT TO DEATH

CLEVELAND, April 15.—Another victim has been added to the list of "Roaring Third" precinct murders here. An unidentified man, his body riddled with buckshot, was found dead on East 28th street, early today, making a total of nine killings in the "black belt" since the first of January.

Two Die in Auto Crash.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanko, 33, and Elizabeth Romopsky, 6, are dead here today, victims of an automobile accident in which a one-armed driver played the principal role. Another woman, Mrs. J. C. Gutson, was injured when the auto, driven by Louis Kennedy, swerved from the street up over the sidewalk, pinning the woman and the girl against a building and crushing Mrs. Stanko and the Romopsky girl.

Note Unsatisfactory

tacks, postponing punishment until guilt is definitely established, it was learned today.

Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government at Hankow, handed the Chinese answer to the United States consul at Nanking Thursday.

Minister Chen says that the Nationalists are preparing to indemnify the United States for damage to the American consulate at Nanking, regardless of the identity of the persons causing the damage, because the consulate, which is upon Chinese soil, was violated.

Asks Probe for Bombardment.

As regards reparations for personal injuries and other material damage from the consulate, the note states that the Nationalists are ready to make "reasonable and necessary" reparations, except where it can be proved that the damages were caused by the American and British bombardment or northern soldiers.

The note declares that the demand for punishment of the perpetrators is a presumption of national guilt and that, while this presumption is contradicted by the preliminary inquiry, the Nationalist government is still making an investigation and proposes that punishment be withheld by an international commission to be created by the Nationalists and the United States.

Chen's reply says that, as the laws of nations and civilized practices prohibit the bombardment of a city or territory of a friendly state, it is proposed that the commission also investigate "the bombardment of unfortified Nanking by United States forces." The document suggests an apology, but says that the Nationalist administration will await the determination of guilt.

Shanghai is Quiet.

Effective measures are promised to protect foreign lives and properties in the future. But the document emphasizes that the "best guarantees of effective protection would be removal of the fundamental causes of the present troubled relations—namely, unequal treaties."

This city was quiet today, interest centering upon Nanking where Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, Vei Chung Hsi, Gen. Chow Feng Chi and others are attending the all important juomintang conference.

This meeting, it is believed, will result in an open split between the conservatives and the communists. If this comes to pass it is understood Gen. Chiang plans to establish a new government ignoring both the Wuhan and Peking administrations.

British Airplanes Land.

The military situation is not clear, the Nationalists claiming a strategic victory in their retreat back to the Yangtse and that the Anhwei forces have cut the northern vanguards from their base.

Northerners confirm the Cantonese success at Pukow, declaring that Gen. Chang Tsung transferred his headquarters from Suchow to Pengpu.

A British aircraft carrier landed six airplanes here this afternoon, stationing them at the race course where hangars already had been built. The British plan to use the planes to cooperate with artillery units in the event of an attack against the international settlement. However, fears of such an attack have about died out now.

Calculated to Mislead Public.

PEKING, April 15.—The Chinese Nationalists' reply to the American note protesting against the anti-foreign outrages in Nanking on March 24, was characterized today by American officials as "extremely unsatisfactory." They declared belief that the Chinese answer was calculated to mislead the public abroard.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, commander of the northern armies, has assured United States Minister John MacMurray that the strictest orders have been issued to the Northern troops to prevent a recurrence of firing upon United States warcraft such as occurred when shots were discharged against the American gunboat Noa in the Yangtze river near Nanking. It was explained that this attack was due to a misunderstanding.

Chinese Aid Communists.

During a conference this morning the American minister urged Marshal Chang's secretary of foreign affairs to publish the documents seized in the recent raid upon the Soviet embassy compound.

It is reported that receipts were found proving that the Communist Leader Li Tachao received one hundred American dollars monthly from the Soviets.

It was further reported that written reports were discovered made out by Chinese employed by the American and other legations. These reports were designed to keep the Soviets informed of all that went on in the legations.

The police are still holding 35 Chinese Communists arrested at the time of the raid. Nineteen others were released.

Soviet Charge Seeks Passports.

The Soviet charge d'affaires, who was recalled last Saturday by the Moscow government as a result of the embassy raid, has asked the Chinese foreign office for passports for himself and the principal embassy secretaries. Minor attaches already have departed.

The Peking government has cabled the Chinese charge d'affaires at Moscow the text of the reply to the Soviet note protesting against the embassy raid. This answer declares that the diplomatic immunity of the embassy could not be extended to activities subversive of the Peking government and that such activities had been carried on within the embassy premises.

Chinese police still occupy the Soviet embassy compound and Russian property which was seized has not yet been released.

The Soviet charge d'affaires plans to leave Peking on Tuesday.

Replies Almost Identical.

LONDON, April 15.—The Cantonese replies to the Nanking protest notes of America, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, were almost identical, it was learned here this afternoon. The differences were that the Cantonese in their replies to Britain and America, reproached those countries for the bombardment at Nanking, while France was reproached for firing upon the Chinese at Canton.

Japanese Troops Go To Manchuria.

TOKIO, April 15.—Because of the tense situation in Manchuria, the Japanese war office has decided to strengthen its forces there, sending an additional division, it was learned here today.

The war office is sending replacements, without recalling the present forces, it was reported.

British Censor on Job.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Most of the news dispatches from China are being "censored by British sources," Rear Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, retired, U. S. N., chairman of the federal radio commission, declared today after a conference at the White House.

Bullard, just returned from China, called to thank President Coolidge for his appointment to the commission.

"British censorship is being exercised chiefly on dispatches sent through London," Bullard declared.

STATE SCORES IN HEWITT CASE

JEFFERSON, O., April 15.—The state scored today in the Floyd Hewitt murder trial when Judge Charles R. Sargent presiding, ruled that the confession made by Hewitt the day following the killing of Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February, and which he later repudiated, was not obtained through force. The judge indicated that he would permit the confession to be introduced as evidence.

H. D. Hannum, county detective, who obtained Hewitt's statement, was on the stand most of the morning. Attorneys argued the matter and questioned Hannum, with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

MR. MENCKEN, who writes, is annoyed that Boston should suppress books held by its appointed judges to be immoral or otherwise undesirable. He mentions the suppression of a book by Sinclair Lewis as proof that Boston possesses a "moron kultur."

Sinclair Lewis has written a book which sincere religious people believe to be harmful because in it the character of a clergyman is made despicable. If those in Boston, with the legal right, decide that they don't want such a book sold, that does not prove them morons.

MANY lawyers and their criminal clients will be shocked to hear how one court in Hungary operates. It is an extraordinary court trying cases of treason and attempted revolution. If it finds the accused guilty it sentences them to death.

Immediately thereafter it changes itself into a "court of mercy" and investigates the desirability of a pardon. If there is no pardon the condemned are executed within two hours.

"There is service," as the automobile salesman would express it. Here, if he has money to hire lawyers, the criminal can postpone unpleasant consequences a year or two at least. Both systems are wrong.

A BROOKLYN doctor leaves $1 to his wife, one cent to his son. Napoleon Bonaparte would not allow that and in many places law contends that a man responsible for bringing a child to this earth is responsible for him after he gets there.

Napoleon decreed that sons should respect and obey their parents, and parents, if able, should provide for their children.

And no families are more closely united than French families. Some ignorant American opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

Walter L. Main Shows to Exhibit Here on May 11

Mayor Ralph Benedum today granted a permit to the Walter L. Main shows which will exhibit at Patterson Field on Wednesday, May 11.

According to the advance representative, the show has been enlarged since its appearance in Wellsville last year. It travels on 20 double length railroad cars.

A street parade will be given at 11 a. m.

Human Voice Now Imitated.

By the use of an organ-pipe reed, his fingers and a bellows operated by foot, an English inventor has succeeded in imitating the human voice to an extent that is uncanny. The reed serves as the vocal organ and the fingers as the tongue and lips. He recently produced the sentence, "Hello, London; are you there?" as clearly as if he were telephoning from New York. It is claimed that the experiment proves that the human voice is largely a mechanical result of muscular and nervous action.

C'mon Fans, Be Good Sports, Help Boost Frank Neilson Fund

Elks, Midland Clash In Benefit Tonight

Great Contest Between Two Arch Rivals Will Ring Down Curtain on 1926-27 Cage Campaign; "Dim" Zange, Old Central Loop Referee, Will be Extra Man on Court.

C'mon, fans, be good sports, just for tonight, if no other time. The cost is small, only 50 cents, and the benefits will be great.

Fifty cents probably means very little to you, it may mean a whole lot to Frank Neilson, badly crippled pottery worker who is fighting for his life in the hospital here, while his wife and eight little hungry mouths at home must live, too.

The East Liverpool Elks and the Midland Collegians, two great cage combines, are going to play for Frank Neilson and his family tonight at the high school. It will be the last basketball attraction of the season and what a game it promises to be.

Both clubs, it was announced today, will be lined up to peak strength. It will be recalled that the Collegians defeated the Elks in two games out of a three-game series and the team that does that must be good, despite the fact that the Antlers, at the time, were shy one of their stars.

It's spring, spring for almost everybody, a season of rejoicing, the gala season of the year. It's spring for you baseball fans and followers of sports in general, as you look forward to another great season.

But it's just spring, just another season, for Frank Neilson and his family as a result of the accident in which Neilson almost lost his life—the accident which was caused when Neilson out of work, was forced to dig coal to keep his home warm last winter.

Everybody connected with the game is helping out.

"Dim" Zange, the best referee in the game in the days of the old Central loop, will work tonight's contest and won't take a cent for it. The Keystone Printing company is providing tickets and other advertising materials, the Midland Collegians are coming down for actual transportation expenses, and other individuals are assisting likewise.

They are all donating their services and getting nothing in return, nothing except the satisfaction that they have helped. You can't measure that in dollars and cents.

For fifty cents you, Mr. Fan, can see two great basketball teams in action, and a real battle every minute of the fray is the order of the day.

The big game will start at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary between two local teams.

Greenleaf Winner Over Local Stars

Cue Champ Cops Matches With Daher and Johnson.

William Greenleaf, midwest pocket billiard champion, played before two large crowds yesterday afternoon and last night in the American Billiard parlors.

Greenleaf exhibited many of the fancy and trick shots that have won him an enviable standing among followers of the green top tables and also put on a couple of special matches with local cue sharks.

In the afternoon Greenleaf defeated Harry Daher, 75 to 63, the local lad giving the champ a hot battle all the way.

In the evening performance, Greenleaf won easily from "Nig" Johnson, 75 to 18. Greenleaf had runs of 21 and 29 in the two matches.

He is scheduled to match shots tonight with Miller, champion of the American tourney last winter.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS PLAN NEW LOOP

Sunday School Athletic association will hold a meeting on Monday night, at 7 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A.

Plans will be discussed for the organization of a soft ball league among Sunday school players of the district.

SCOTT SUBDUES GIANTS, 9 TO 6

Phils Pound Grimes; Roush and Hornsby go Hitless.

NEW YORK, April 15.—John McGraw, whose acquisition of Pitcher Burleigh Grimes was hailed as a "master stroke," was beginning to fear today that he was short-changed in the deal. For former Jack Scott, who went to the Phillies in the trade which brought Grimes from Brooklyn to the Giants beat McGraw's sluggers single handed yesterday while the Phils were knocking the belligerent Burleigh loose from his toenails.

In addition to holding his former mates to two earned runs, Farmer Jack raised havoc with his bat. He made four hits, one a home run, and drove in four runs. The score was 9 to 6, and incidentally Hornsby and Roush went hitless.

Meanwhile the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Reds again, 6 to 2, and gained undisputed possession of first place. Lee Meadows kept Cincinnati's hits scattered, while the Bucs bunched hits off Carl Mays.

The Boston Braves jumped to second place by downing Brooklyn again, 7 to 3. Dazzy Vance was shelled from the mound while Foster Edwards, ex-Dartmouth hurler, demonstrated the advantage of higher education to the Robins.

In the American League the Athletics achieved a moral victory by holding the Yankees to a 9 to 9 tie in ten innings. Eddie Rommel was given a four lead but couldn't stand the prosperity. When darkness ended the slugfest, eight pitchers in all had been carried off the field. Sammy Hale led the hitters with four blows.

The Senators made it two straight from Boston, winning 5 to 2. Hollis Thurston, former White Sox pitcher, held the Red Sox to four hits.

The White Sox almost beat Cleveland again with a ninth inning rally. The venerable Sherry Smith, relieving Bennie Karr with two on base, retired the next three men and Cleveland won, 3 to 2. Karr, supposedly a second string hurler, pitched brilliantly for eight innings.

Adverse weather conditions prevented the Cardinals, Cubs, Browns and Tigers from playing. The Tigers and Browns have yet to play a league contest.

'Mike' Making Good In Piedmont Loop

"Mike" Cebula, former star flinger for the Chester City League club, is making good with a whirl his minor league trials at Highpoint, N. C., according to word from the Piedmont League town.

He pitched four innings of a recent game, allowed two hits and crashed out a home run and a single in his two trips up.

"If you keep that up, it will be Chattanooga for you in a few weeks," his manager is said to have told him. Chattanooga owns the Piedmont franchise.

Consequently, "Mike" is in a fair way to step up.

City League Moguls Discuss 1927 Plans

Approve Motors-Billiards Franchise Transfer; Three New Pilots in Loop; Great Season Predicted.

Approval of the recent City Industrial League franchise transfer from Victory Motors to the American Billiards, the debut of three new loop managers, E. E. McVey of the Billiards, Roy Nicholson of Wellsville and E. L. Dailey, of Laughlin, the booking of pre-season exhibition games, and discussion of plans in general, all indicating a 1927 season that should be even better than the two previous campaigns, featured the city league conference last night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

Under the American Billiards, McVey, machinist at Homer Laughlin No. 6, will pilot the former Motors. Long a player with various clubs in past years McVey should be able to produce. He and "Ted" Ganos, the owner, will work together. The team's home field will be Klondyke.

Dailey at Laughlin succeeds Saul McCoy. Pilot Nicholson, of Wellsville, will garden a bit, having had experience on various clubs in the past. He lived in Alliance the greater part of last year, but saw enough of the Wellsville games to have faith in the club's potentialities which should be good enough with the addition of a man or two.

"Pearl" Dailey is labor foreman at No. 6. Like his predecessor, McCoy, he will hand out orders from the bench Joe Dickey will handle the business affairs of the club.

Clyde Parsons, veteran gardener, will be the 1927 field captain of the championship Laughlin aggregation.

Charles Armstrong, who piloted the Wellsville club at the finish last year, will be the team's business manager this summer. Wellsville will have a new playing lot at Nicholson park, west of Eighteenth street. Covered with sandly loam, it will not be so easy to rain out games.

Laughlin's grounds at Newell are being in superb condition. The outfield has already been leveled. Additional seats, doubling last year's capacity, are being installed. The champs will display new uniforms.

Patterson Field, home grounds of the Turk-Nash, will be thoroughly gone over by the club.

At Klondyke, the Boosters' club of the vicinity has agreed to aid in putting the diamond in first class condition for the opening fray.

Plans are being considered by various clubs for putting wire cages back of the plate to prevent the loss of baseballs.

Exhibition games, as part of the preliminary training, will be staged by the Chester Superior Cord Tires and Laughlin at Chester on Saturday, April 23, and between Chester and Turk-Nash on the following Saturday, the games to begin at 4 o'clock.

Chester will be known as the Superior Cord Tires, the rubber company recently taking over the franchise, players and the managerial services of Frank Riley.

K. T. K., piloted by the capable Saul McCoy, will train and play at Columbian park.

Permission was granted Wellsville to use Pitcher Kuntzler of Toronto, who has accepted a position for the summer in Wellsville. Pitcher John Thomas, with Laughlin in 1925 and a part of 1926, has been awarded to the American Billiards. Catcher Hinton, it was announced, will report to Wellsville after completing his college duties in June.

Announcement was made that Shortstop Coleman, of last year's Victory Motor club, has been traded to Wellsville for pitcher and utility man, Del Manning.

Permission was given Laughlin to play the Homestead Grays on the occasion of the Homer Laughlin picnic at Rock Springs park August 6.

Charles Armstrong, who piloted the Wellsville club at the finish last year, will be the team's business manager this summer. Wellsville will have a new playing lot at Nicholson park, west of Eighteenth street. Covered with sandly loam, it will not be so easy to rain out games.

Laughlin's grounds at Newell are being in superb condition. The outfield has already been leveled. Additional seats, doubling last year's capacity, are being installed. The champs will display new uniforms.

Patterson Field, home grounds of the Turk-Nash, will be thoroughly gone over by the club.

At Klondyke, the Boosters' club of the vicinity has agreed to aid in putting the diamond in first class condition for the opening fray.

Plans are being considered by various clubs for putting wire cages back of the plate to prevent the loss of baseballs.

Exhibition games, as part of the preliminary training, will be staged by the Chester Superior Cord Tires and Laughlin at Chester on Saturday, April 23, and between Chester and Turk-Nash on the following Saturday, the games to begin at 4 o'clock.

Chester will be known as the Superior Cord Tires, the rubber company recently taking over the franchise, players and the managerial services of Frank Riley.

K. T. K., piloted by the capable Saul McCoy, will train and play at Columbian park.

Permission was granted Wellsville to use Pitcher Kuntzler of Toronto, who has accepted a position for the summer in Wellsville. Pitcher John Thomas, with Laughlin in 1925 and a part of 1926, has been awarded to the American Billiards. Catcher Hinton, it was announced, will report to Wellsville after completing his college duties in June.

Announcement was made that Shortstop Coleman, of last year's Victory Motor club, has been traded to Wellsville for pitcher and utility man, Del Manning.

Permission was given Laughlin to play the Homestead Grays on the occasion of the Homer Laughlin picnic at Rock Springs park August 6.

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

JACK SAYS HE'S FEELING GREAT

Down to Within Five Pounds of His Fighting Weight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Ostensibly far from being the picturesque ruin that long distance critics claim to have seen, Jack Dempsey already has trained himself to within five pounds of his fighting weight, according to word received here today direct from the ex-champion at his Wheeler, Hot Springs camp in southern California. He proclaimed his present weight to be 201 pounds, said he was "feeling great," which is answer No. 2 in the customary Dempsey interview; and declared that he believed his comeback can be achieved without undergoing the operation his physicians deem to be necessary.

Dempsey, it seems, has ignored defense in his early preparations. It has been all attack with him and, like the man who was born on February 22, he has done it with his little hatchet. Cherry is barred as a bit effeminate or something but bird's-eye maple, mahogany and ciscassion walnut have fallen in great profusion.

The boy friend, in brief, has heard about the overemphasis laid upon woodchopping in this section and, being a young, ambitious fellow, is willing to begin absolutely at the beginning and see what good may come of it.

So far, nothing has been lost by the experiment except a lot of California forestry and about nine pounds of Dempsey's weight. According to his own story, his condition is just about where he wants it to be and, in the course of a few weeks, he will be ready to begin intensive training.

Lost Extra Pounds Easily.

The fact that Dempsey carried so little superfluous weight, comparatively speaking, and was able to lose it so readily, hardly supports the contention that physically he is the old eye wash. Still, you can't laugh off that series of skin eruptions and neither can he; at least, not until he has shown that he is able to knock over something slightly more agile than a tree. The latter is a good judge of distance but its footwork is terrible.

It may be well, in fact, to keep both the band wagon and the ambulance in the stable, pending further developments. Dempsey was told in no uncertain terms by his physicians a few weeks ago that his condition then precluded any possibility of a successful return to boxing. He was advised that an operatoin was expedient if an imperfect recovery from a previous operation in 1923 was to be corrected.

Being an "ex-miner" himself, he naturally knew that this was the bunk; so he told the medicos to turn their attention to something important while he went about the formality of curing himself at Wheeler, Hot Springs.

His message today indicates that he considers the cure to have been effective, which leads me to wonder whether Dempsey hasn't something in common with surgeons who wire the following to friends and relatives:

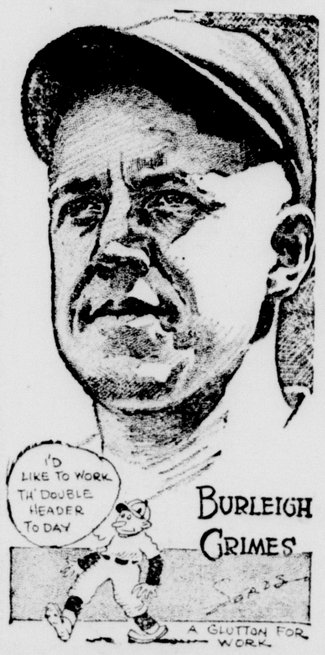
"Operation highly successful but patient died."

Delaney to Meet Spaniard.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Paolino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, was expected to sign for a fifteen round bout with Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, here on June 22.

Yanks Farm Two Hurlers.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The New York Yankees have sent Pitcher Henry Johnson to Milwaukee under option and Pitcher Shep Cannon has been sent to Waco under a similar agreement.



BECAUSE he stands out as one of the few remaining spitball pitchers in the major leagues.

Because he has been hurling that spitter eighteen years and therefore stands as a living refutation of the theory that the moist delivery is a strain on the arm that shortens a flinger's days.

Because he is one of the hardest working pitchers in the game—and one of the most willing. Which may or may not prove again that the way to success is through labor and lots of it.

Because he has just begun his first season as a member of the New York Giants.

And because, with an uncertain pitching staff around him he has a golden opportunity to pitch the Giants to a pennant with a list of some 20 victories for the season.

"Stuffy McInnis' main problem with young Wrightstone is to put him in the Wrightplace."

ACMES TOPPLE RINKEYDINKS

Even up Spring Series With 6 to 0 Victory.

In the second game of their series, the Acmes defeated the Rinkeydinks, 6-0, yesterday afternoon at West End. The series now is even, each team taving a victory.

Baker, in the box for the Acmes, had the Rinkeydinks at his mercy all the way, fanning eleven and allowing but two hits. Mackall also hurled good ball and what would have been an interesting pitcher's battle was spoiled by the errors in Mackall's support.

City League Moguls

Everett Ashe, formerly of Laughlin, is to get a tryout with the Wheeling club of the Mid-Atlantic league.

President C. W. Davis, who presided at last night's session, announced that applications for places as league umpires should be filed with him.

Former President C. C. Cline attended the conference and aided the new officers with advice regarding league rules.

Managers, announcing regular practice sessions from now on, ask that players report with complete equipment, including gloves, shoes, etc. Players that will be held as eligible for the several teams will be selected by 15 days after the opening of the season. Until that date the clubs will try out numerous candidates.

DUGAN BENCHED BY SPIKE WOUNDS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Joe Dugan, the Yankees' third baseman, will be out of the game for three or four days due to a spike wound received in yesterday's contest with the Athletics. Mike Gazella will sub for him.

JACK SAYS HE'S FEELING GREAT

Down to Within Five Pounds of His Fighting Weight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Ostensibly far from being the picturesque ruin that long distance critics claim to have seen, Jack Dempsey already has trained himself to within five pounds of his fighting weight, according to word received here today direct from the ex-champion at his Wheeler, Hot Springs camp in southern California. He proclaimed his present weight to be 201 pounds, said he was "feeling great," which is answer No. 2 in the customary Dempsey interview; and declared that he believed his comeback can be achieved without undergoing the operation his physicians deem to be necessary.

Dempsey, it seems, has ignored defense in his early preparations. It has been all attack with him and, like the man who was born on February 22, he has done it with his little hatchet. Cherry is barred as a bit effeminate or something but bird's-eye maple, mahogany and ciscassion walnut have fallen in great profusion.

The boy friend, in brief, has heard about the overemphasis laid upon woodchopping in this section and, being a young, ambitious fellow, is willing to begin absolutely at the beginning and see what good may come of it.

So far, nothing has been lost by the experiment except a lot of California forestry and about nine pounds of Dempsey's weight. According to his own story, his condition is just about where he wants it to be and, in the course of a few weeks, he will be ready to begin intensive training.

Lost Extra Pounds Easily.

The fact that Dempsey carried so little superfluous weight, comparatively speaking, and was able to lose it so readily, hardly supports the contention that physically he is the old eye wash. Still, you can't laugh off that series of skin eruptions and neither can he; at least, not until he has shown that he is able to knock over something slightly more agile than a tree. The latter is a good judge of distance but its footwork is terrible.

It may be well, in fact, to keep both the band wagon and the ambulance in the stable, pending further developments. Dempsey was told in no uncertain terms by his physicians a few weeks ago that his condition then precluded any possibility of a successful return to boxing. He was advised that an operatoin was expedient if an imperfect recovery from a previous operation in 1923 was to be corrected.

Being an "ex-miner" himself, he naturally knew that this was the bunk; so he told the medicos to turn their attention to something important while he went about the formality of curing himself at Wheeler, Hot Springs.

His message today indicates that he considers the cure to have been effective, which leads me to wonder whether Dempsey hasn't something in common with surgeons who wire the following to friends and relatives:

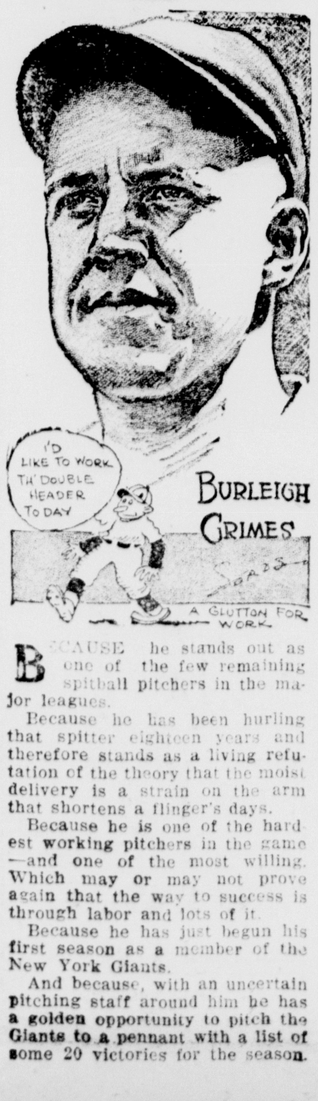
"Operation highly successful but patient died."

Delaney to Meet Spaniard.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Paolino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, was expected to sign for a fifteen round bout with Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, here on June 22.

Yanks Farm Two Hurlers.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The New York Yankees have sent Pitcher Henry Johnson to Milwaukee under option and Pitcher Shep Cannon has been sent to Waco under a similar agreement.



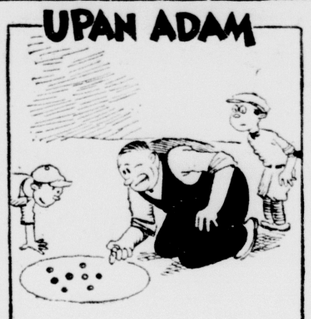
BECAUSE he stands out as one of the few remaining spitball pitchers in the major leagues.

Because he has been hurling that spitter eighteen years and therefore stands as a living refutation of the theory that the moist delivery is a strain on the arm that shortens a flinger's days.

Because he is one of the hardest working pitchers in the game—and one of the most willing. Which may or may not prove again that the way to success is through labor and lots of it.

Because he has just begun his first season as a member of the New York Giants.

And because, with an uncertain pitching staff around him he has a golden opportunity to pitch the Giants to a pennant with a list of some 20 victories for the season.



"Stuffy McInnis' main problem with young Wrightstone is to put him in the Wrightplace."

ACMES TOPPLE RINKEYDINKS

Even up Spring Series With 6 to 0 Victory.

In the second game of their series, the Acmes defeated the Rinkeydinks 6-0, yesterday afternoon at West End. The series now is even, each team taving a victory.

Baker, in the box for the Acmes, had the Rinkeydinks at his mercy all the way, fanning eleven and allowing but two hits. Mackall also hurled good ball and what would have been an interesting pitcher's battle was spoiled by the errors in Mackall's support.

City League Moguls

Everett Ashe, formerly of Laughlin, is to get a tryout with the Wheeling club of the Mid-Atlantic league.

President C. W. Davis, who presided at last night's session, announced that applications for places as league umpires should be filed with him.

Former President C. C. Cline attended the conference and aided the new officers with advice regarding league rules.

Managers, announcing regular practice sessions from now on, ask that players report with complete equipment, including gloves, shoes, etc. Players that will be held as eligible for the several teams will be selected by 15 days after the opening of the season. Until that date the clubs will try out numerous candidates.

DUGAN BENCHED BY SPIKE WOUNDS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Joe Dugan, the Yankees' third baseman, will be out of the game for three or four days due to a spike wound received in yesterday's contest with the Athletics. Mike Gazella will sub for him.

WELLSVILLE POLICE EXPECT AUTO THEFT RING EXPOSE

ANOTHER MAN IMPLICATED IN INQUIRY HERE

William Steele, 20, Denies he Was Car Driver.

COMPANION FLEES

One Suspect Awaits Hearing on Charge of Larceny.

Possibility that the arrest of William Steele, 20, of Pennsylvania avenue, East Liverpool, alleged auto thief, may clear away the mystery surrounding the disappearance of a number of automobiles in the Wellsville-East Liverpool district, was hinted by authorities of the two cities as Steele prepared to face Municipal Judge Jesse C. Hanley at a hearing at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

In his arraignment this morning Steele pleaded not guilty to a larceny charge. He asserted that he was not driving the automobile belonging to Mrs. Pearl Smith, 920 St. George street, East Liverpool, in which he was arrested by Patrolman John Cole, of Wellsville, Wednesday night.

In the meantime, police are searching for another man, Steele's companion, who is said to have jumped out of the automobile as it reached East Liverpool, after a chase up the Wellsville road.

Steele, following his arrest, according to police, disclosed the fact that he and his companion had also taken a car belonging to S. D. Yost, of Clark avenue, prior to the theft of the Smith machine and had abandoned it at Somerset. Police later found the Yost car.

Two other machines recently were stolen from Wellsville and recoveries were made in both instances. A car stolen several weeks ago from Paul Eaton was found on a rural road back of East Liverpool.

Sedan owned by E. G. Whitacre was stolen from the Whitacre garage a week ago and driven to Midland where state police took up the pursuit. On that occasion two men jumped from the car and escaped.

The NEW Leonard Cleanable REFRIGERATOR
"Like a Clean China Dish"

The New Leonard means more than convenient food storage. It means greater efficiency and economy, less work, better results.

Get the New Leonard in your home. It will buy itself over and over in saving food and ice. Learn how it gives most refrigeration at least cost. Learn why the new insulation of thick Compressed Corkboard, sealed with wool felt, retains the cold air and repels heat. Corkboard insulation is moisture-proof, odorless. Does not "settle down."

See the One-piece Porcelain Food Chamber. Feel the round corners; note how the porcelain extends clear around the door frame; cleaning is easy. The patent copper drain pipe and trap is removable through food chamber. Doors close air-tight. Lever latches, with hair triggers work automatically, like magic.

The New Leonard's circulation is based on principles of science. Cold dry air is forced to rise to the highest point in the food chamber, then over the ice for repurifying and chilling. Shelves are of open woven wire mesh, permitting free circulation of crisp, cold pure air.

Ice chamber admits standard shapes and sizes of artificial ice. The section beneath the ice chamber admits quard milk bottles.

The Leonard Cleanable is unexcelled for Ice or Electrical Refrigeration. Size and style for every purse.

ANTI-RUM MEN PREPARE FOR BORDER MOP-UP

Dry Forces Organize for Fight Against Liquor Runners.

EYE ON CANDA

International Line to Seem Like Armed Camp.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—According to well-informed federal circles the United States government will place this Summer the largest force of preventative forces along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river in the history of Volsteadism. New section headquarters are to be established at Oswego, Watertown, Alexandria Bay, Ogdensburg and Massena upstate and in the Western section at Sodus, Niagara Falls and other points along Lake Erie to the West.

The Oswego division, it became known here, is to be one of the most vital spots in the federal plans to stop the flow across the border. At this point, it is said, will be stationed fast patrol boats, whose duty will be to head off all big craft bound for quiet coves on the Southern shores of Lake Ontario. These cutters, it is said here, will mount a one-pound cannon and will be equipped as well with small arms and a machine gun or two to be used in cases of emergency.

"Wide Open" River.

If the dry navy and officers on shore succeed in mopping up practicaly all liquor coming in via the border, few bootleggers themselves believe themselves that the business will continue to any great degree. On the other hand, officers wise in the way of the underworld fear to give the rum-runners an upper hand for a moment, realizing that to do so means a "wide open" river and lake in the future.

All along the lake and river front at points of control will be stationed small units of two or three members of the border patrol. In each unit will be two customs agents and one immigration officer, it is said.

Behind this "second line of defense," for as usual the Marines receive the first call to duty, will come the "moppers up," the state police.

Raiding Stills.

Working back among the cities and industrial centers where the smuggled liquor supplies ultimately find their way will be the prohibition enforcement agents, a distinct group of federal agents whose chief duty is to raid stills, arraign prisoners, secure "buys" from "speak-easies" and make an occasional visit to breweries not officially marked "clean."

Then there is still another force in the gigantic army of United States and state officials lining up against the new "rum row." There are the men who perhaps are least known but whose activities always result in the "big boys" being brought to court. They are the "under cover men," agents who work quietly in civilian clothes armed with blackjacks and highpowered revolvers and plenty of Uncle Sam's expense money. The daring young fellows silently slip through the enemy lines, mingle in Canada with the brewers themselves and after everything is set they spring the trap that nabs a whole shipload at once—thousands of dollars loss to someone "higher up."

Like Mexican War.

"This game of battling the liquor toters this summer ought to be a lot like the Mexican war," a veteran customs agent declared in discussing the coming campaign. "Here is the way I dope it out. The government, under direction of the president or secretary of the treasury or General Andrews, or someone, wants to make a real honest-to-goodness effort at stopping smuggling this summer. So they are ordering on all kinds of reinforcements."

Officials and watchers agree on one thing—that the Canadian border will resemble an armed camp from May 1 until snow flies later in the winter.

National Anthem in Dispute.

When to play the national anthem has caused great discussion in Australia following the request of the Returned Soldiers' League that managers of theatres play it at the opening instead of at the close of performances. The soldiers say that the exit scramble interferes with the proper observance of the singing, while managers claim that late comers would spoil the anthem when sung as the opening number. Managers also point out that there seldom is any sign of indifference, and that few other countries continue the singing of national anthems at every performance.

ANTI-RUM MEN PREPARE FOR BORDER MOP-UP

Dry Forces Organize for Fight Against Liquor Runners.

EYE ON CANDA

International Line to Seem Like Armed Camp.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—According to well-informed federal circles the United States government will place this Summer the largest force of preventative forces along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river in the history of Volsteadism. New section headquarters are to be established at Oswego, Watertown, Alexandria Bay, Ogdensburg and Massena upstate and in the Western section at Sodus, Niagara Falls and other points along Lake Erie to the West.

The Oswego division, it became known here, is to be one of the most vital spots in the federal plans to stop the flow across the border. At this point, it is said, will be stationed fast patrol boats, whose duty will be to head off all big craft bound for quiet coves on the Southern shores of Lake Ontario. These cutters, it is said here, will mount a one-pound cannon and will be equipped as well with small arms and a machine gun or two to be used in cases of emergency.

"Wide Open" River.

If the dry navy and officers on shore succeed in mopping up practicaly all liquor coming in via the border, few bootleggers themselves believe themselves that the business will continue to any great degree. On the other hand, officers wise in the way of the underworld fear to give the rum-runners an upper hand for a moment, realizing that to do so means a "wide open" river and lake in the future.

All along the lake and river front at points of control will be stationed small units of two or three members of the border patrol. In each unit will be two customs agents and one immigration officer, it is said.

Behind this "second line of defense," for as usual the Marines receive the first call to duty, will come the "moppers up," the state police.

Raiding Stills.

Working back among the cities and industrial centers where the smuggled liquor supplies ultimately find their way will be the prohibition enforcement agents, a distinct group of federal agents whose chief duty is to raid stills, arraign prisoners, secure "buys" from "speak-easies" and make an occasional visit to breweries not officially marked "clean."

Then there is still another force in the gigantic army of United States and state officials lining up against the new "rum row." There are the men who perhaps are least known but whose activities always result in the "big boys" being brought to court. They are the "under cover men," agents who work quietly in civilian clothes armed with blackjacks and highpowered revolvers and plenty of Uncle Sam's expense money. The daring young fellows silently slip through the enemy lines, mingle in Canada with the brewers themselves and after everything is set they spring the trap that nabs a whole shipload at once—thousands of dollars loss to someone "higher up."

Like Mexican War.

"This game of battling the liquor toters this summer ought to be a lot like the Mexican war," a veteran customs agent declared in discussing the coming campaign. "Here is the way I dope it out. The government, under direction of the president or secretary of the treasury or General Andrews, or someone, wants to make a real honest-to-goodness effort at stopping smuggling this summer. So they are ordering on all kinds of reinforcements."

Officials and watchers agree on one thing—that the Canadian border will resemble an armed camp from May 1 until snow flies later in the winter.

National Anthem in Dispute.

When to play the national anthem has caused great discussion in Australia following the request of the Returned Soldiers' League that managers of theatres play it at the opening instead of at the close of performances. The soldiers say that the exit scramble interferes with the proper observance of the singing, while managers claim that late comers would spoil the anthem when sung as the opening number. Managers also point out that there seldom is any sign of indifference, and that few other countries continue the singing of national anthems at every performance.

NEW LI.. FOR SENATE PROBERS, A RESULT OF DAWES' DECISION

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Now that Vice President Charles G. Dawes has breathed the breath of what may prove to be eternal life into Senator Jim Reed's slush fund investigating committee, Reed's expected back in Washington, as soon as he can get away from the Ford-Sapiro trial, to begin to make the most of his opportunity.

The way Reed fought to keep that committee alive, just before congress adjourned, and the corresponding fury with which the other side fought, to chloroform it, suggest that its subsequent activities promise—or threaten—still worse revelations than its past ones.

The committee has raised Cain thus far mainly in connection with the 1926 Republican senatorial primaries and the subsequent elections in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

However, there are plenty of other states to be delved into, and earlier elections, too, and it may be later ones.

THE committee literally, the way Dawes has fixed it, is in a position to go on forever, if it chooses.

It was a creation of the 69th congress, which ended last March, and promptly proceeded to devote itself principally to ripping Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois up his political back and to lifting the political scalp of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

It's pretty generally agreed that Reed accomplished these two objects, though the final verdict won't be announced until the senate has held an inquest over Smith's and Vare's remains, if any, next December.

UNFORTUNATELY, as Reed viewed it, he and his fellow committeemen were kept so busy with the Smith and Vare cases, up to the time that the 69th congress expired, that they hadn't had much chance to deal with other eligibles.

"Therefore," said Reed, 'the committee will have to go on with its work after adjournment. Several more backs are marked for the ripping up process and several more scalps are ripe to be lifted."

And he introduced a resolution extending the committee's life indefinitely.

"Oh, no," rejoined a group of senators who were getting sick of it, and they filibustered the Reed resolution to death. That is, they didn't allow it to come to a vote and it went into the discard with the 69th congress.

"WELL," said Reed, "a senate committee's a permanent institution, anyway. That resolution would have been nice but it wasn't necessary."

"It was, too," insisted the successful filibusters. "Your committee's extinct. A committee quits when congress does."

This is true of a house of representatives' terms all begin together and end together, and when their terms end naturally their committees end.

But the senate's what's known as a "continuing body." Only a third of its members' terms expire at a clatter. The others hold over. Consequently the senate never dies. Query: What, then, becomes of its committees?

IT was a point for Dawes to decide, as presiding officer of the senate.

After thinking the matter over carefully, Dawes has ruled for Reed—let the senate once create a committee, and until that committee gets ready, the senate can't get rid of it.

Its personnel may change—Senator Goff did, in fact, resign from the slush fun committee and Dawes named Senator Fess but Fess declined the appointment.

Behold a senate Frankenstein!

CONEY ISLAND MAN ON ROCK SPRINGS STAFF

Charles Welsh Will Handle Publicity and Promotion.

EX-CIRCUS AGENT

"Dare-devil" Signs Contract for Three-week Engagement.

Charles Welsh, former 24-hour man with the Sells-Floto Circus, and for seven years connected with Coney Island, New York's famous pleasure resort, today assumed charge of publicity and special promotions at Rock Springs park.

Oscar V. Babcock, internationally known "dare-devil," will stage his act of looping the loop, for a three-week period beginning Decoration Day, Monday, May 30. Afternoon and evening performances will be given.

Babcock, who will appear at some of the leading parks of the country, is now in Birmingham, Ala., and from Rock Springs park will go to Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh.

Improvements at the park are being rushed, the force of workers having been increased by Manager C. C. Macdonald.

The coaster ride, one of the new attractions, has been completed and motors and other electric equipment are now being installed. Installation of the new merry-go-round, costing $22,000, will be started within the next week. Walks and grounds are being put in first class condition.

The first picnic of the season will be the Odd Fellows' outing on June 4. The school picnic will be held during the same week.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. De Brissac makes love to Hattie as part of her training for screen work and Hattie seems powerless to resist him. She refuses to go with him on his yacht away from her family, however. O'Malley, to whom she becomes engaged, advises her to try to get work at another studio and invites a lawyer to look over her contract with De Brissac. A rival studio gives her a part and she goes to work for them.

She is a failure without De Brissac and finally she sees him in a restaurant. He asks her not to tie up with the other concern for more than one picture.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE.

Certain difficulties that confront the novelist have a troublesome habit of appearing to be insuperable. Coincidence, for one. So common in our daily lives as to seem, often, the determining factor, coincidence must not, with its familiar long arm, touch and arrange the scrupulous narrative . . . Talent, for another. Not unfamiliar to the least pretentious village neighborhood, a driving force in every department of life, it yet remains a quality that the writer dare bestow upon one of his characters only at the risk of his reader's simple belief . . . And, for still another. Success. Old-fashioned success, that spells riches and what widespread interest must step warily among them if he is to hold his reader's faith. And among all these facts of outcropping material success, the most blatantly familiar, of late, the swiftest to arrive, the most overpowering in quantity and force, are the successes of the screen. They come, some of them, overnight. They are almost instantly a matter of wireless communication from careless brain to empty brain all round the world. They strike capriciously and hard.

Thousands of eager young actresses and actors swarm at the gates of the studios. Some have experience, some talent; either may fail or succeed. A gifted and beautiful young actress may appear in twenty pictures without once capturing the popular fancy. A little cash girl out of a store may wander in by chance and arrive in a day. Repeatedly the managers in concert abolish the star system. Only to fight like cut-throats over the ignorant child who, as a result of some unknown law, photographs well; offering her fortunes in a moment, placing her in authority over trained, mature men. . . . A picture is released; within a week it is viewed by more than a million theatre-goers, and still within that week a thousand, two thousand, five thousand exhibitors have telegraphed to their exchanges a peremptory demand for more pictures of a certain pretty little face, or a pair of crossed eyes, or of two acrobatic feet. This dramatically capricious bolt strikes not, perhaps, so often, but strike it does. And no system of management can withstand it.

De Brissac's greatest picture, "Bagdad," was released after very brief preliminary announcements, but with a sudden burst of publicity that taxed the resources of the Earthwide's press department. Suddenly, in a blaze-light outbreak of posters and display advertising and reading matter, every city in the United States became vividly aware of it. The name "DE BRISSAC" everywhere preceded the slogan—"The Greatest Picture Ever Made." It was played in regular theatres at theatre prices in the Griffith manner. The great director went East in person for the New York opening. He was dined by Mayors and Governors. At Washington the President attended as his guest.

Hattie was at this time nearly through with her job at Plantagenet town. She was unhappy and tired. The end of the family income was more than in sight; it was fairly upon her within the fortnight. Mr. Mortimer had, she knew, done his best in his brusque way, to make the best of a bad bargain. And she had done her best; but knew now that it was nothing. She wasn't an actress; was sure now that she didn't want to be one. She even longed for the routine of the mailing room, which at least, however monotonous, didn't tire her brain, worry her about things she couldn't understand, drive her to secret tears and to playing in secret, at home, with a doll she, as secretly, bought one day. She talked to the doll. It was the only one she could talk her heart out to. More and more she had to cheer Henry. The family didn't know that she'd helped finance his fruitless journey to New York.

It was just then that the United States rose up and demanded more of Harriet John. She didn't even know that this was her new name. She saw none of the Earthwide people. And at first, when the men and women she saw changed sharply in their attitude toward her, she couldn't catch the significance of it. She was too tired. But she did observe with an almost impersonal, almost meaningless little thrill the constant appearance of her own "stills" in the Los Angeles papers. And a girl on the lot gave her the dramatic sheet of a sober New York Sunday paper with a remarkable lot of praise for her acting. They said she was an artist of rare delicacy, of utter appeal and charm, yet, surprisingly, with emotional power. Even this failed to come home to her. She knew she was no artist. The bitter thought came—"Ask Mr. Mortimer. He'll tell the world!" Whatever she was in "Bagdad" was what de Brissac had made her, by working in from the outside—by dressing her, and cleverly making her up, and posing her. She had never known what he was up to, what anything meant.

The family and Henry were excited, however. Alice couldn't resist dreaming expansively. At last the money was to come pouring in. But they hadn't got it yet. Times were terribly bad; Beverly was wretched with unemployment. Some of the studios had shut down. Henry, for all his natural enthusiasm, wasn't certain that the wealth would come so quickly. Ultimately, yes; he was sure about that; but perhaps not right away. It was a delicate time.

A Mr. Harbin, from the Earthwide press department, called one evening, with an enormous bundle of clippings for Hattie. He said that Mr. Zeeck, who had just returned from New York, thought that she'd be glad to have them. So there was no hard feeling, after all. She thought it awfully nice of them, and read the astonishing pile of reviews—all praise for Harriet John—with a queer, bewildered sense of unreality. They left her no happier than before, merely more excited. She found refuge in locking her door and whispering playfully with the doll. On the following evening Mr. Wurzel called up to warn her against accepting any offers that might come. "I may be able to tell you something pretty interesting within a week or two," he said. "Keep this closely to yourself. Suppose you just put yourself in my hands. That's the best way."

Vaguely, not knowing of any other course, she replied, "Yes. All right."

But if this sudden and unbelievable success brought no immediate wealth, it did bring something.

She came home from Plantagenet Town on her last evening but one, utterly dispirited. Alice met her at the door of the flat with flushed cheeks and rather apprehensive bright eyes.

"You can't guess who's here," she whispered.

"No, I can't," said Hattie.

"Arthur!"

"Who—oh, not——"

Alice nodded brightly, and led her within.

J. C. PENNEY'S COMPANY NOW 25 YEARS OLD

Silver Jubilee Discloses Growth of $500 Investment.

OWN 773 STORES

All Developed on Theory and Practice of Partnership.

The J. C. Penney company, with a store in East Liverpool, today is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary.

The silver jubilee discloses the fact that the original $500 invested in a "Mother Store" has grown to annual sales of $120,000,000.

According to Penney, "Success is entirely a matter of moral fibre. The opportunity for achievement is greater today than ever before." Upon his firm belief in the truth of it rests the foundation of the system of department stores, bearing his name, which now cover the entire country.

Community Stores.

These stores are not chain stores in the ordinary acceptance of the name. They are a closely knit group of individual community stores, contributing to the welfare of the community in the same manner as other local stores but with the added advantage afforded by co-operation with other Penney stores.

They have all been developed on the theory and practice of partnership. They have all contributed in a purely local manner to the development of the towns where they are located. The strength of the group has been used to serve the welfare of the local community.

The original J. C. Penney store was founded in Kemmerer, Wyoming, on April 14th, 1902. Today there are 773 J. C. Penney stores and plans are already under way to increase this number to more than 800 before the close of this year.

No Outside Capital.

In 1902, the "mother store" in Kemmerer did a business of $28,898.11. At the close of 1926 the 745 stores operating at that time did a total of $115,682,737 in sales for the year.

The $500 which was the original investment of J. C. Penney in the little store at Kemmerer was turned better than 230,000 times last year.

The original investment has grown to over $30,000,000 of invested capital. This growth has been brought about inside the group of stores. No outside capital is invested in the J. C Penney Company, and the only time that outside help was asked for was in 1919 when an issued of preferred stock was offered to furnish funds for tax purposes. This preferred stock has since been retired.

The growth of the Ford Motor Company was founded on an original $28,000 and was continued without the use of further outside capital. But this $28,000 has not grown in the same percentage ratio as the growth of the Penney $500 investment. And giving Ford a total turnover of $1,000,000,000 for 1926, the turnover is but 35,000 times the original investment which has been working approximately the same time as the Penney investment.

1,000 Partners.

A still greater difference is shown in the fact that today, J. C. Penney has more than 1,000 partners, each one of whom has started in exactly the same manner as he started, with the same future ahead and the same factors to contend with and to turn into personal success.

The Penney investment has been in men and the Penney policy has been to teach these men how to turn their investment of time, energy, personal interest and earnings into greater profits for themselves through the application of service to the people of the community where they are located.

The only way in which ownership of stock in the J. C. Penney company can be acquired is through work.

Today, in the 773 stores which operate under the Penney name, and in the home organization, the 1,000 partners are doing exactly what J. C. Penney did and still does and each one has the same potential success ahead of him that the founder had.

E. C. Sams President.

At the start, 25 years ago, Penney owned a third interest in the original store in Kemmerer. He acquired the balance through earnings made by that store.

When Penney decided to start a second store he gave E. C. Sams an opportunity to acquire an interest in the new place of business. Penney had started a group with the Kemmerer store as the foundation. Sams soon started a group with the second store as a foundation.

Each trained managers for stores to follow. This was the birth of the Penney system.

Now, Sams is president of the J. C. Penney Company, and Penney is chairman of the board of directors.

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18:—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NICARAGUAN REVOLT RENEWS ACTION ON PLANS FOR CANAL

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Nicaragua probably would have waited a long time for an inter-oceanic canal if Dr. Juan B. Sacasa hadn't rebelled against President Adolfo Diaz.

As it is, prospects favor a pretty early start on the job.

The Washington was led into intervening in the Sacasa-Diaz fight.

Nobody seems very well satisfied with Secretary of State Kellogg's reasons.

It will hardly do to say that intervention was at the instance of some small-calibre banking interests.

But if it appears that the United States was forced to act, to protect its rights in a contemplated billion-dollar canal—why, that'll be an excuse which can't but be accepted as valid, on account of the huge sum involved, regardless of any other reason.

A billion-dollar stake justifies anything.

TO give verisimilitude to this explanation, it's necessary to have the Washington and Managua governments pushing the Nicaragua canal negotiations at a great rate.

Well, it so happens that there were some Nicaraguan canal plans and estimates on file in the office of the chief of army engineers.

The state department sent for 'em in hot haste. They were hard to find, for they were in a nearly forgotten pigeon hole, and most of them were very old, the most recent document bearing date more than four years ago.

The army engineers would have fixed up a nice new set, but this was such a hurry-up order that there wasn't time for that.

So the old papers were dusted off and turned over to ex-Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and Stimson's on his way to Nicaragua now, as President Coolidge "personal representative," to open up canal negotiations with President Diaz, as soon as possible.

THE curious thing is this:

Whereas you couldn't find a government engineer in Washington six months ago who'd discuss a Nicaragua canal with you as anything but a remote possibility of the dim and uncertain future, today you can't find one who doesn't insist it's an urgent necessity.

Nobody argues that the Panama canal's used up to anything like its capacity.

It's only open to shipping by daylight. It could do twice the business as a 24-hour waterway, but it wouldn't pay. It hasn't customers enough. If it ever does get on a 24-hour basis and can't handle the traffic, enlarging its locks will again double its capacity. It will cost money to enlarge its locks, but not a quarter as much as a new canal will cost.

ARMY and navy men admit all this. "But think," they say, "how nice it would be, if one canal should be shaken down by an earthquake or blown up by an enemy, to have another one to fall back on."

A sound argument maybe, only why didn't it occur to them until so recently?

AT all events, with Henry L. Stimson as canal negotiator-in-chief, it's reasonable to look for rapid action.

Stimson bossed muh of the heavy work on the Panama ditch, while secretary of war under President Taft. He knows the ropes and has a reputation as a go-getter.

Within the next two or three years engineers look forward to seeing dirt flying in Nciaragua.

To Prospect by Airplane.

Airplanes are to be used in South Africa to prospect for copper ore. The plan will first be tried in the new Katanga copper belt of the southern Belgian Congo and northern Rhodesia, and while that country is wooded as a whole, all the great outcrops of copper thus far found there by ordinary means are almost wholly bare of vegetation, prospectors say. Photographs will be taken from the plane by the continuous film methods, and when these reveal possible existence of ore bodies, geologists will be sent first by plane and then by land to the spots. By old methods about 200 square miles a year could be prospected, but by airplane it is expected that about 1,300 times as much territory can be covered.

40 MILLION TO RIDE IN AUTOS

Prediction Made By Chevrolet Motor Company.

The nation's greatest migration is to be made this summer. According to figures furnished R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, by officials of the American Automobile association, before the close of year, 40,000,000 people—a third of the country's population—will travel by motor car. Their wheeled flight over highways and byways, mountain and plain, constitute the most colossal peace-time movement in the history of mankind.

These vast caravanseries will use between 9,900,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in their wanderings—almost half the passenger cars in use in the nation. These figures are based on the situation which prevailed in 1926.

All indications point to an increase of about 10 per cent in the number of tourists and the number of automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 people taking to the highways in approximately 9,000,000 automobiles.

A vast amount of money will be spent by the traveling hosts to enrich the innumerable cities and towns and the millions of stay-at-home servitors that cater to road-side wants. The traveler will spend at least three and a third billion dollars—a tremendous factor in the increased prosperity of thousands of communities throughout the nation.

Of the total of ten million cars which will be on the road, three and a third millions will carry camping equipment and tour for an average of 33 days each. The other two-thirds will patronize hotels and will spend an average of 10 days on tour. For the canvas brigade the daily expenditure is estimated at $10 per car or $33,333,00 daily for them all, which in 33 days will total nearly $1,100,000. The hotel tourists will find their expenses running about even with the camping cohorts, although touring about only one-third as long, and will spend approximately $2,200,000,00. At the most conservative estimate it is safe to assume that the resorts, hotels, garages, filling stations and other agencies catering to motor travel will benefit to the extent of at least $3,300,000,000 from this year's mighty host of motor vacationists.

40 MILLION TO RIDE IN AUTOS

Prediction Made By Chevrolet Motor Company.

The nation's greatest migration is to be made this summer. According to figures furnished R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, by officials of the American Automobile association, before the close of year, 40,000,000 people—a third of the country's population—will travel by motor car. Their wheeled flight over highways and byways, mountain and plain, constitute the most colossal peace-time movement in the history of mankind.

These vast caravanseries will use between 9,900,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in their wanderings—almost half the passenger cars in use in the nation. These figures are based on the situation which prevailed in 1926.

All indications point to an increase of about 10 per cent in the number of tourists and the number of automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 people taking to the highways in approximately 9,000,000 automobiles.

A vast amount of money will be spent by the traveling hosts to enrich the innumerable cities and towns and the millions of stay-at-home servitors that cater to road-side wants. The traveler will spend at least three and a third billion dollars—a tremendous factor in the increased prosperity of thousands of communities throughout the nation.

Of the total of ten million cars which will be on the road, three and a third millions will carry camping equipment and tour for an average of 33 days each. The other two-thirds will patronize hotels and will spend an average of 10 days on tour. For the canvas brigade the daily expenditure is estimated at $10 per car or $33,333,00 daily for them all, which in 33 days will total nearly $1,100,000. The hotel tourists will find their expenses running about even with the camping cohorts, although touring about only one-third as long, and will spend approximately $2,200,000,00. At the most conservative estimate it is safe to assume that the resorts, hotels, garages, filling stations and other agencies catering to motor travel will benefit to the extent of at least $3,300,000,000 from this year's mighty host of motor vacationists.

"TIN HATS" IS COMEDY HIT

Conrad Nagel and Claire Windsor at the American.

If you don't like war pictures, don't let that fact keep you away from "Tin Hats," for in spite of the title, there are no actual war scenes included. It is as delightful a comedy, and kept an enthusiastic audience near hysterics today at the American theatre where it was shown for the first time.

"Tin Hats" is a riotous yarn about three American doughboys, who through no fault of their own find themselves in Germany immediately after the Armistice has been signed, and in command of a village. This strange trio is composed of a rich man's son, a former gangster, and a roly-poly, German-American boy, played respectively by Conrad Nagel, George Cooper and Bert Roach.

Claire Windsor is a vision as the heroine of the story, Elsa Von Bergen. Miss Windsor's regal appearance, which has been lost in the last two or three pictures, is again in evidence, caused principally by the gowns which the actress wears, and the old-fashioned headdress of 1919.

Conrad Nagel is developing into one of our foremost comedians. If it is possible for a comedian to be dignified, Nagel is that, and is creating a type of comedy essentially his own. The actor has been learning a great deal about "timing" in his last few pictures, and "Tin Hats" shows a decided improvement over his earlier efforts.

Many Laughs.

Most of the laughs of the piece are contributed by George Cooper and Bert Roach, however, who make as funny a pair as were ever seen on the screen. These two as Lefty, and Dutch, bring a laugh whenever they walk in front of the camera.

Tom O'Brien, remembered as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the tough top sergeant in a manner that would strike fear in the heart of any recruit.

This is the season of the year when the householder endeavors to remember which of the neighbors last used his lawn roller.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

Machine Tests Auto Drivers.

Prospective drivers of automobiles are now being tested by machinery in Liepzig, Germany. They sit in a dummy car and handle the controls, while in front of them a motion picture showing traffic in a congested district gives the impression one would have in driving through a busy street. Any mistake in handling the machine is registered automatically on a tape connected with the testing machine.

CLIMATE HERE IS HELP TO CATARRH

Experts Say Three in Every Five People Suffer From This Disease

Experts on catarrh say the climate of this part of the country is one of the chief reasons why catarrh is so prevalent here.

Experts state that catarrh is so prevalent in this section that as many as three out of every five people suffer from the disease and its distressing symptoms, which are dripping in to the throat of a poisonous acid, of fensive substance, a great deal of which is swallowed and enters the stomach, discharge from the nose of large quantities of this same substance, pains the head, huskiness, dryness and soreness of nasal passages and throat, weak, watery eyes and the like.

World's Tonic offers catarrh sufferers something they have long needed, that is, a systemic treatment for catarrh. It relieves almost at once the distress of catarrh in the nose and throat and at the same time fights the disease within the system, where it originates, and is designed to rid the system of catarrh. It has brought astonishing results in many cases. World's Tonic, the new systemic treatment that is doing so much good in East Liverpool and vicinity, is sold by Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (248).

Test North Sea Flying Boats.

As the result of experimental flights being made in a big all-metal German Dronier Wal flying boat, driven by two British Rolls Royce engines, a regular flying boat service may be established across the North Sea between Oslo, Norway, and Harwich, England. The machine being used in the tests is that in which Capt. Roald Amundsen, the explorer, made his dash to the North Pole in 1925.

"TIN HATS" IS COMEDY HIT

Conrad Nagel and Claire Windsor at the American.

If you don't like war pictures, don't let that fact keep you away from "Tin Hats," for in spite of the title, there are no actual war scenes included. It is as delightful a comedy, and kept an enthusiastic audience near hysterics today at the American theatre where it was shown for the first time.

"Tin Hats" is a riotous yarn about three American doughboys, who through no fault of their own find themselves in Germany immediately after the Armistice has been signed, and in command of a village. This strange trio is composed of a rich man's son, a former gangster, and a roly-poly, German-American boy, played respectively by Conrad Nagel, George Cooper and Bert Roach.

Claire Windsor is a vision as the heroine of the story, Elsa Von Bergen. Miss Windsor's regal appearance, which has been lost in the last two or three pictures, is again in evidence, caused principally by the gowns which the actress wears, and the old-fashioned headdress of 1919.

Conrad Nagel is developing into one of our foremost comedians. If it is possible for a comedian to be dignified, Nagel is that, and is creating a type of comedy essentially his own. The actor has been learning a great deal about "timing" in his last few pictures, and "Tin Hats" shows a decided improvement over his earlier efforts.

Many Laughs.

Most of the laughs of the piece are contributed by George Cooper and Bert Roach, however, who make as funny a pair as were ever seen on the screen. These two as Lefty, and Dutch, bring a laugh whenever they walk in front of the camera.

Tom O'Brien, remembered as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the tough top sergeant in a manner that would strike fear in the heart of any recruit.

This is the season of the year when the householder endeavors to remember which of the neighbors last used his lawn roller.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

Machine Tests Auto Drivers.

Prospective drivers of automobiles are now being tested by machinery in Liepzig, Germany. They sit in a dummy car and handle the controls, while in front of them a motion picture showing traffic in a congested district gives the impression one would have in driving through a busy street. Any mistake in handling the machine is registered automatically on a tape connected with the testing machine.

CLIMATE HERE IS HELP TO CATARRH

Experts Say Three in Every Five People Suffer From This Disease

Experts on catarrh say the climate of this part of the country is one of the chief reasons why catarrh is so prevalent here.

Experts state that catarrh is so prevalent in this section that as many as three out of every five people suffer from the disease and its distressing symptoms, which are dripping in to the throat of a poisonous acid, offensive substance, a great deal of which is swallowed and enters the stomach, discharge from the nose of large quantities of this same substance, pains the head, huskiness, dryness and soreness of nasal passages and throat, weak, watery eyes and the like.

World's Tonic offers catarrh sufferers something they have long needed, that is, a systemic treatment for catarrh. It relieves almost at once the distress of catarrh in the nose and throat and at the same time fights the disease within the system, where it originates, and is designed to rid the system of catarrh. It has brought astonishing results in many cases. World's Tonic, the new systemic treatment that is doing so much good in East Liverpool and vicinity, is sold by Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (248).

Short Skirt Wearers Fined.

Whether taxation will lengthen skirts or merely fatten the village treasury is still a question bothering the brave Mayor of Lamendrale, Spain. Following his threat to tax modern styles out of existence he finds that skirts are no longer that before, and some even are shorter. The tax is a monthly one, so that the senoritas after paying the fine are immune for a few weks. Some in defiance have cut off still more of the abbreviated covering. More than 200 have laughingly paid fines, but the mayor hopes that eventually they will have longer skirts on the street or longer faces when they appear in court. Reports from the village say that the policeman and tax-collector patrol the streets with a tape measure, allowing only girls with skirts reaching to within seven inches of the ground to pass.

Life Preserver Has Paddles.

Those caught in a shipwreck can don a costume of air-inflated rubber and float for an indefinite length of time during calm or storm, declares the inventor of the costume. The suit has a helmet of metal with hinged front that may be opened to replenish the air. A pair of paddles to attach to the wrists so that one may pull for the shore, is supplied with the suit. Tests of the invention in Germany have proved satisfactory, it is reported.

NOVEL REVUE AT CERAMIC

Herbert Crowley and Six Gobs Appear With Screen Hit.

With broad travesty that gives a hint of the fads and foibles of the gentle sex, Herbert Crowley and his six allied sailors — all husky gobs who saw service during the war — have fashioned an odd stage conception, termed "Herbert Crowley's Different Revue," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

The seven youths, who appear in conjunction with the picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," are made up as pretty girls. They give a touch of real novelty to the offering. They make no attempt to fool their audience for even though they impersonate women they always let it be known that they are men. Beautiful gowns, bright comedy and many novel songs and dances make the revue an unusual treat.

Using the same ingenius devices for creating suspense which have already won him everlasting fame, Herbert Brenon has taken Dixie Willson's tale of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," and turned it into such a film as should make even the author's heart beat with pride. Paramount's production is comparable to the best pictures which have so far been produced and because of it, both director and cast are destined to garner much praise.

The four featured players—Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall, and William Collier Jr.—each have "fat" roles to which they do full justice. Miss Moran plays the young waif who falls in love with an uncouth sailor, for all its worth. Mulhall is the gob who loved as he gambled, not too wisely but too many. The vamp of "Variety" has her best part since coming to America, as the woman who placed her happiness on the flip of two coins — which she knew were crooked. Collier enacts a different sort of "heavy" after a series of hero roles.

As for the story—it is a rich, colorful affair in which Mulhall marries the little girl he'd met during the Mardi Gras carnival, only to have his home broken up by a former sweetheart who walks into his life and then refuses to leave it.

Paramount's production is comparable to the best pictures which have so far been produced and because of it, both director and cast are destined to garner much praise.

The four featured players—Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall, and William Collier Jr.—each have "fat" roles to which they do full justice. Miss Moran plays the young waif who falls in love with an uncouth sailor, for all its worth. Mulhall is the gob who loved as he gambled, not too wisely but too many. The vamp of "Variety" has her best part since coming to America, as the woman who placed her happiness on the flip of two coins — which she knew were crooked. Collier enacts a different sort of "heavy" after a series of hero roles.

As for the story—it is a rich, colorful affair in which Mulhall marries the little girl he'd met during the Mardi Gras carnival, only to have his home broken up by a former sweetheart who walks into his life and then refuses to leave it.

PONTIAC SIX HITS HIGH MARK

One Hundred Thousand Cars Roll Out In 15 Months.

PONTIAC, Mich., April 15.—The Oakland Motor Car company's production set a new mark for the automotive industry to shoot at on March 28 when the 100,000th Pontiac Six rolled off the assembly line in the huge new plant at Pontiac, Mich. less than 15 months from the time car No. 1 was built.

In recognition of the company's achievement, not even remotely approached by any new car in the history of the industry, a brief ceremony was arranged at the factory. A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, handed the key of the 100,000th Pontiac Six to Mayor Charles L. Rockwell of Pontiac, who had christened the first Pontiac Six on January 4, 1926, less than 15 months ago. Several officials, including W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, and A. J. Brandt, vice president in charge of operations, were present.

"Completion of the 100,000th Pontiac Six was hastened by the heavy influx of orders for spring delivery," explained Tracy. "March production was increased from 14,000 to 16,000 Oakland and Pontiac cars in response to this increased buying, thus almost equalling last August's record production of 17,000. April's total will far outstrip all records in the company's history, being set at 22,000. This figure exceeds even the record production of August by 5,000 cars.

"There is a close relation between the recent announcement of the New and Finer Pontiac Six at new low prices and the volume of Pontiac Sixes built during its very brief history," said Tracy.

Pontiac Six No. 1, a two-door sedan produced less than 15 months ago sold at $825 at the factory while Pontiac Six No. 100,000 also a two-door sedan sells for but $775 at the factory. The price reduction to the public being due directly to the manufacturing economies possible by volume production.

CANADA BORDER NO LONGER BAR TO U. S. INDIAN

New Ruling Affects 100,000 Members of Six Nations.

CASES PENDING

St. Regis Reservation is Partly in United States.

MALONE, N. Y.—The Canadian boundary does not exist for the American Indians, who may go to and from Canada as often and as freely as they did when the Six Nations were a power on the North American continent.

This was the ruling of a decision announced in Philadelphia by Judge Oliver B. Dickinson of the United States District Court. While affecting more than 100,000 members of the Six Nations, it will have a direct bearing on the 1,500 members of the St. Regis reservation at Hogansburg, half of which is in the United States and half in the Dominion of Canada.

Several Cases Pending.

At present several cases are pending in courts growing out of the situation which the Federal Court ruling seeks to clarify. The decision means that the Canadian and American Indians are immune to the quota laws and immigration restrictions, and this is expected to create a still further tangle in the litigations affecting the Indians in the border reservation. The work of the immigration, customs and Federal prohibition enforcement bureaus will be hampered to a considerable extent.

The ruling made in a test suit instituted by Paul Diabo, an Iroquois Indian deported to his reservation in Canada affects the entire population of the Six Nations. The entire confederation supported Diabo in the legal battle with the government over the efforts of the immigration authorities to class them as aliens. Diabo was deported on the grounds that he was an alien, and had come into this country to follow his trade of structural iron worker without a visa of entry.

The Jay Treaty.

Immigration authorities contended that the Jay Treaty between the United States and Great Britain in 1794, recognizing the right of American Indians to unrestricted travel across the Canadian border was abrogated by the war of 1812. Judge Dickinson held that the Jay treaty did not affect the Indians' status because "it made no division of their country."

The turning point in the case is thus thought to be in answer to the question of whether the Indians are included among the members of the alien nations whose admission to this country is controlled by immigration laws. Judge Dickinson said:

"The answer seems to be a negative one. From the Indian viewpoint, he crosses no boundary line. For him this does not exist.

"This fact the United States has always recognized, and there is nothing in this legislation to work a change in our attitude. This does not mean that the United States could not exclude him, but it does mean that the United States, having recognized his right to go from one part of his country to another, unobstructed by a boundary line which to him does not exist, will not be taken to have denied his right unless the clear intention so to do appears. We do not find any such denial in any of the cited exclusion acts of Congress."

Inspector W. C. Robie of the Malone immigration office stated that there were several cases pending which come under this class.

Great Britain is literally flooding this country with lecturers, inspiring an exchange to suggest that we might retaliate by sending Aimee McPherson over there.—Zanesville Signal.

It's hardly possible that the power, when insisting on that open door in China, ever imagined that they were going to be kicked through it.—Marion Star.

CANADA BORDER NO LONGER BAR TO U. S. INDIAN

New Ruling Affects 100,000 Members of Six Nations.

CASES PENDING

St. Regis Reservation is Partly in United States.

MALONE, N. Y.—The Canadian boundary does not exist for the American Indians, who may go to and from Canada as often and as freely as they did when the Six Nations were a power on the North American continent.

This was the ruling of a decision announced in Philadelphia by Judge Oliver B. Dickinson of the United States District Court. While affecting more than 100,000 members of the Six Nations, it will have a direct bearing on the 1,500 members of the St. Regis reservation at Hogansburg, half of which is in the United States and half in the Dominion of Canada.

Several Cases Pending.

At present several cases are pending in courts growing out of the situation which the Federal Court ruling seeks to clarify. The decision means that the Canadian and American Indians are immune to the quota laws and immigration restrictions, and this is expected to create a still further tangle in the litigations affecting the Indians in the border reservation. The work of the immigration, customs and Federal prohibition enforcement bureaus will be hampered to a considerable extent.

The ruling made in a test suit instituted by Paul Diabo, an Iroquois Indian deported to his reservation in Canada affects the entire population of the Six Nations. The entire confederation supported Diabo in the legal battle with the government over the efforts of the immigration authorities to class them as aliens. Diabo was deported on the grounds that he was an alien, and had come into this country to follow his trade of structural iron worker without a visa of entry.

The Jay Treaty.

Immigration authorities contended that the Jay Treaty between the United States and Great Britain in 1794, recognizing the right of American Indians to unrestricted travel across the Canadian border was abrogated by the war of 1812. Judge Dickinson held that the Jay treaty did not affect the Indians' status because "it made no division of their country."

The turning point in the case is thus thought to be in answer to the question of whether the Indians are included among the members of the alien nations whose admission to this country is controlled by immigration laws. Judge Dickinson said:

"The answer seems to be a negative one From the Indian viewpoint, he crosses no boundary line. For him this does not exist.

"This fact the United States has always recognized, and there is nothing in this legislation to work a change in our attitude. This does not mean that the United States could not exclude him, but it does mean that the United States, having recognized his right to go from one part of his country to another, unobstructed by a boundary line which to him does not exist, will not be taken to have denied his right unless the clear intention so to do appears. We do not find any such denial in any of the cited exclusion acts of Congress."

Inspector W. C. Robie of the Malone immigration office stated that there were several cases pending which come under this class.

Great Britain is literally flooding this country with lecturers, inspiring an exchange to suggest that we might retaliate by sending Aimee McPherson over there.—Zanesville Signal.

MARKET SYSTEM IS BLAMED FOR COTTON LOSS

Growers Attribute Bankruptcy to Handling Plan.

ADVANCE SOUGHT

Expert Sees Diversified Crops as Means of Relief.

ATLANTA—Bankruptcy of hundreds of farmers in the southeast in the past few years is blamed on the "rotten system of marketing" by Martin Amorous, state cotton statistician and agricultural economist.

Amorous, who has spent years in the cultivation and study of cotton has invited farmers and agricultural economics anywhere in the country to suggest some plan which would be a good substitute for the present marketing system known as the United States cotton futures act.

"In the present system of marketing," he says, "there is no element of supply and demand fixing the prices of the farmers cotton. If the farmers produce 16,000,000 bales of cotton in one year, and the mills actually need 15,000,000 bales in that same year, the 15,000,000 at less than cost to produce and throw in the other million bales as bonus.

Producers' Profits.

"In all other articles of commerce the producers get a profitable price on actual demand and are thus enabled to margin and carry the surplus if any. If the saw mill men produce more lumber than they can sell, they get a profit on every car they sell and carry the surplus. Even if it rots in the pile, they still can pay their debts.

"I assert the bankruptcy of the farmer is due to the rotten system of marketing accredited by the United States government under what is known as the United States cotton futures act. Under this law, New York is the final market for all cotton grown in the United States. The New York cotton exchange is limited to trade in one grade of cotton, known as middling 7-8 inch, and the longest staple. This grade is only 25 per cent of the normal crop.

"The pricing of all other grades is fixed at 10 local spot markets, and once a month the average prices of these spot markets are used on the New York cotton exchange to settle differences in future contracts. All cotton mills protect the price level for the year by trading on the New York cotton exchenge.

Delivering Cotton.

"The Mills make four separate trades before getting a bale of cotton into their plants, two of which are made on the exchange. The spot cotton merchant who contracts to supply the actual cotton makes five different trades before delivering the bale to the mill, two of which are made on the exchange. The mills in Georgia do not buy their cotton from Georgia farmers and they have no advantage in buying cotton over the mill in Massachusetts despite the fact the cotton may be grown next door."

Your "Regular" Pain Now Needless

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes.

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable! Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

Midol
Takes Pain Off the Calendar

Diversified farming is the only solution in sight for the cotton farmer, Amorous says.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

15 extra hours on the NASH motor to be certain it is right

The illustration shows two Nash Advanced Six engines hooked together in the great Nash testing room.

One of these motors is driving the other, to limber it up. After a few hours of this, the motor now being driven will limber up another.

Then, after 8 to 10 hours on its own power, it will be taken apart. Bearings, connecting rods and pistons carefully inspected. Valves ground and reseated.

Next, the trained ear of an engine expert will listen to the operation of this motor. When he is sure it is absolutely right, it will be mounted on its chassis.

Then another rigid examination, in the car, out on the road. 15 extra hours in all are consumed before the motors shown above are ready for their owners.

How easily Nash could save this time and expense. You would never be able to see the difference.

But every Nash owner knows there is a difference!

News From Asia.
Sacco-Venzetti Appeal.
Mr. Mencken Again.
Justice in Two Hours.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

MANY "Reds" killed in Shanghai and other places in China. One of the Chinese leaders is expected to send Uncle Sam a rather sharp, unpleasant note concerning Uncle Sam's demands. That's part of the news from Asia.

Other news tells of 36 pilgrims, Hindus, killed in the spring rush to be first to bathe in the holy Ganges river.

The Hindus have a religious bathing ceremony, and the more ignorant believe it is particularly meritorious to be first into the river.

In addition to being the great Hindu bathtub, the "holy" Ganges river is a burial place.

We know that not the first to bathe in the Ganges river, but the person that never bathes there, is the one to congratulate.

But the religious Hindus do not know it. Their ideas are thousands of years old, and that's why the British, with today's ideas, rule 300,000,000 of them so easily.

SACCO-VANZETTI agitation continues. Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts, says he is inundated with messages requesting clemency for the two condemned men. Next Sunday Boston labor unions will vote on the case and decide about taking any action or making any recommendation to the governor.

Mary E. Woolley, president, and 51 members of the faculty of Mount Holyoke college petition Governor Fuller to appoint an impartial committee to investigate the case. On the other side the Civilian Club of Boston protests against "attempts to intimidate the governor."

Twenty-eight new communications received by Governor Fuller include one from 23 citizens of Cleveland, and another from the Social Problems club of Columbia university, both asking intervention. A similar appeal comes from Switzerland.

Both Rini and his sister-in-law are in the county jail where they were committed upon murder charges filed by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott after Anania was found dead, with a knife wound in his heart, in a Walnut street rooming house on March 22. Rini was refused bond and the woman held in default of $20,000 bond, $10,000 upon the murder charge and $10,000 as a material witness.

Rini will be defended by Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, while James Chorgas, husband of the wo-

CHINESE REPLY IS UNSATISFACTORY

NATIONALISTS PROPOSE FORMAL INQUIRY INTO ATTACKS AT NANKING

Eugene Chen, Asking Postponement of Punishment Until Responsibility is Determined, Says Cantonese are Preparing to Indemnify Uncle Sam for Damage to Consulate.

ADROIT ANSWER TO KELLOGG NOTE REACHES CAPITAL AS CABINET MEETS

Effective Measures are Promised to Protect Foreign Lives and Property in Future, But Document Emphasizes "Unequal Treaties" as Fundamental Causes of Present Trouble.

THREE AMERICAN WARSHIPS SPEED TO HANKOW; SITUATION THREATENING

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Three American warships, the cruiser Cincinnati, and the destroyers Preble and Noa, have been ordered to Hankow "where the situation appears to be threatening," Admiral C. S. Williams advised the navy today in a dispatch from Shanghai. He also reported the ordering of three destroyers from Manila to Shanghai; the Simpson, McLeish and McCormick.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Chinese nationalists' reply to the American demands growing out of the Nanking outrages reached the state department today.

Generally speaking, officials considered it "unsatisfactory"—although it is doubtful if it is unsatisfactory enough to impel the United States to take any punitive steps. It is considered here a very adroit answer to the American note, going far enough to appease the American demands in some points, but still not far enough to end the matter.

The note was cabled to the state department by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow, the Southern Chinese headquarters, and reached Washington just before the cabinet assembled at the White House for renewed discussion of the general Chinese problem. It reached Washington, too, just after Secretary Kellogg had left the city for an Easter vacation at Hot Springs. Hence no action will be taken by the administration on the note until after his return next week.

Refer To Shelling of City.

The principal point at which the Chinese reply fails to meet the demands of this government is in the quasi-denial of responsibility for the Nanking attack on foreigners, and in the proposal for a Chino-American commission to investigate and report on a findings of fact.

The state department has taken the position that there is no question but that the anti-foreign attacks were directed and perpetrated by Nationalist soldiers in uniform. To back up this position, it has collected numerous sworn affidavits from foreigners, stating that the attackers wore Southern uniforms. As a matter of cold legality, while this evidence is convincing, it is admittedly not conclusive.

The counter-protest filed by the Cantonese because American and British warships shelled Nanking is regarded by state department officials as a piece of bluff and incorporated largely for home consumption. Nevertheless, it is admitted that the shelling of Nanking makes the determination of actual damage to foreign property a difficult matter. The Chinese can claim, and doubtless will, that some of the damage to foreign property for which the powers demand indemnity and reparation actually was caused by the shelling by foreign warships.

Ready to Make Reparations.

GLEN ROBIN MILL MAN HELD FOR KILLING HIS WIFE BELIEVED INSANE

Alleged Murderer Of New York Editor Given Sanity Test

NEW YORK, April 15.—Henry Judd Gray, who with his inamorata, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, goes on trial next Monday for the brutal murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, a magazine art editor, is today undergoing a series of mental and physical tests—one of the most thorough on record—to determine his sanity or insanity, the result of which may enable either or both defendants to escape the electric chair.

Attorney P. V. Mackall is Retained to Defend Alleged Self-confessed Uxoricide.

HEARING CALLED AT STEUBENVILLE

Prisoner Charged With Choking Mrs. Goldie Boley, East Liverpool, to Death.

Theodore Boley, alleged self-confessed wife slayer, of Glen Robin, Jefferson county, and a former resident of East Liverpool, will be given a sanity hearing before Probate Judge Emmett S. Morrow, Steubenville, at 10 o'clock Friday morning, April 22.

This date was fixed today following a conference between Attorney P. V. Mackall, counsel for Boley and Prosecutor Roy N. Merryman, Steubenville, and approved by Judge Morrow. Affidavit, asserting Boley to be mentally irresponsible, has been filed by the defendant's attorneys.

Two physicians, who examined Boley in the county jail where he is being held without bond, will testify at the hearing. If the man is found to be insane he will be committed to a state hospital. If the court rules him to have been sane at the time of the alleged crime, the grand jury will be called into session and asked to return an indictment.

Boley is alleged to have choked his wife, Mrs. Goldie Boley, to death during a quarrel at their home in Glen Robin early in the morning on March 31. His three children are being cared for in the homes of relatives.

FA-I ND PRE-EASTER SERVICES HERE

Rev. L. J. Davison Speaks in Second Presbyterian Church.

Before another large audience at the Second Presbyterian church, Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian, preached a forceful sermon in the Holy week series of meetings last evening. His subject was: "The Unchangeable Christ."

His text was taken from Hebrews: "Jesus the same today and forever."

Preceding the service was a song service in which an augmented choir led the Congregational singing. It was directed by Robert Raffle with Mrs. Mary McVey as organist.

The invocation was made by Rev. George Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. F. A. Dean, the pastor, presided.

"Every being and substance has in it the evidence of change," Rev. Mr. Davison declared. "Mutability obtains in all life. Our fathers and mothers who yesterday were straight as trees today are bending towards the South; our children, once babies, have grown; our neighbors, who formerly were many, have been reduced to a few.

"In the mountains of Kentucky oxcarts still are found. Once they were the universal mode of transportation. But they have given away to horses, steam engines, automobiles and aeroplanes.

"Time was when carriers rode their horses to death in carrying messages. Now swifter progress is made by mail, telegraph, telephone and the radio.

"Rural life, once the mode, has so metamorphosed that city comforts abound. All has changed. It is the rule of existence. No two sun sets are alike.

"Customs do not remain the same. Where is the mother who would nurse her child until he is 40 years of age?

"If nature were to remain unchanged and be the same year after year this world would present a tragic, drab universe in which to live. Men come and go, but the Christ remains forever unchanged.

"Christ's unchangeableness is manifest in His teachings. His words, unwritten, He having no amanuensis with no record being kept save by a company of fishermen, have remained untarnished. 'Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.'

"Ancient Egypt's cities of antiquity, incriptions, monarchial treasures are dead beneath the rubbish of the ages yet, thank God, the words of God, glowing in their vitality, yet exist despite the changes and ravages of time.

"Christ is likewise unchangeable in His personality. To believe in His works one must need believe in Him. His person radiates faith; it dissipates doubt. To see Him is to know Him."

Manila Actors Systematic.

In developing the drama in Manila, actors are proceeding along systematic lines, not only in choosing players, but in selecting plays. Because little or no professional talent that visits the Philippine city appeals to the English-speaking population, amateurs have organized the Community's Players, who will give a play a month during the theatrical season. To select types from the abundance of talent in the cosmopolitan population, questionnaires are being sent to potential actors, and a card index of heights, weights, colors of hair, nationalities, accents and other data will be kept. Possibilities for parts will be given tryouts until the best type is found. Questionnaires also are being sent to all theatregoers, asking them the title or type of play they would enjoy seeing.

THE "BRANFORD" SUITE
BY BERKEY & GAY

"LE DERNIER MOT" is French for "the last word"—and this suite might have been called that. For it is the last word in furniture style as its Berkey & Gay Shop Mark suggests.

All the charm of famous Old Colonial masterpieces has been retained while inimitable modern, stylish touches have been added. Integrity of Colonial standards of craftsmanship have been fully preserved in this suite—which is so soundly constructed that its beauty will last for a lifetime.

Here are rich contrasts of wonderfully grained woods—butt walnut, maple burl and burl walnut. Here are pediments bewitchingly carved, turnery as classically beautiful as Greek forms. While simple in form, each piece is rich in effect—hand rubbing adding a wonderful tonal value. Convenient and charming modern touches are the jewelry trays of bureau and chiffonier, the sliding plate glass tray of the dressing table. The skillfully fitted dust-proof drawers glide smoothly.

Warning From a Train Driver

The expert New York Central engineer, Joseph F. Coffey, who holds the world's record for locomotive speed—138 miles in 115 minutes—is a thorough believer in safety first for everybody and particularly for motorists. He has been a railroader for 34 years and has watched the development of the automobile driver who races trains to crossings and is a pest and menace to human life. He has saved a good many fool motorists by his watchfulness and forethought and his prompt application of the brakes.

Because of its size, he explains, a train moving at tremendous speed sometimes appears merely to be crawling. There is an optical illusion that tricks many drivers.

Coffey is not the only railroad engineer who has tried to warn the foolish motorist or who has admitted that the engineer's life is made more nerve-wracking and hazardous by that type. However, human nature being what it is, the foolish driver who thinks it smart or useful to race a train to the crossing is probably here to stay as long as automobiles and trains stay.

The elimination of as many grade crossings as possible and protection of those which survive are surer means of saving the foolish motorist and his helpless companions from this danger.

Chicago-On-The-Sea

"Big Bill" Thompson, mayor-elect of Chicago, announces among many promises:

"I will work on for any early completion of the waterway which will make Chicago a seaport town via the Illinois and Mississippi rivers."

There's nothing small about Thompson. He will give Chicago her window on the sea by emptying the Great Lakes into the Gulf of Mexico, regardless of the fact that Nature has seen fit to empty them into the Atlantic.

The matter is of practical interest to other Great Lakes ports, nearly all of which are fighting the large present abstraction of water by Chicago, through her sewer drainage canal, and still larger quantity demanded.

There is apparently no objection in the Great Lakes region to a deep channel between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi, provided seagoing vessels are locked through without waste of water. But there is strenuous objection to an unnatural outlet from the lakes to the Mississippi, beyond the natural watershed, in the form of a great stream that lowers the lake levels, causing big losses to navigation, leaving docks and wharves stranded, rendering channels useless and lowering the value of thousands of miles of lake short frontage.

That matter, however, is now out of the hands of politicians and before the supreme court of the United States. A decision will be rendered before long by Charles Evans Hughes, as special master, for the court. That may clarify the situation not only for the Great Lakes region but for many other parts of the country where natural rights to waters in a given drainage basin are questioned.

Detroit Speeders

The Detroit traffic court proposes to jail 14,000 automobile speeders who have been ignoring court summonses since last December.

There must be more fast driving in Detroit than anybody has imagined, and there must be a mighty busy police force. But evidently something is wrong with the wheels of justice, when 14,000 citizens calmly ignore a police order to appear in court.

The plan now is to assign 10 motorcycle men to the special duty of rounding up those 14,000 delinquent offenders and bringing them into court, where the judge will sentence them all to spend a night in jail.

If they try to do it all at once, Detroit will have to use the Ford factory for a jail. But there is doubtless a limit to the amount of rounding up that 10 motorcycle cops can do in one day.

And then, while the delinquents are getting what's coming to them, probably thousands of new offenders will ignore new summonses.

The situation shows what happens when any court gets behind in its work. Justice needs to learn modern efficiency. It's better to arrest fewer people and handle them more promptly. Merely pretending to arrest offenders, and letting them ignore a summons and fancy they're getting away with it, breeds contempt for the law.

Antiquity

We all thought the archeologists were getting back pretty far when they dug up King Tut and his funeral riches. The University of Pennsylvania diggers at Ur, Abraham's old home in Mesopotamia, report new discoveries rivaling those of Tutankhamen in artistic merit and craftsmanship, and 2,000 years older.

Records are found of kings formerly thought to be legendary and mythical, proving once more that there is likely to be something substantial at the bottom of any legend. In strata underneath those are found graves containing "clay tablets inscribed with a semi-pictographic script and seals bearing the names of kings unrecorded in any history."

Their date is fixed at about 5,000 B. C., which is rather close to Adam, if the ordinary Hebrew chronology is accepted.

That open door in China is doing a lot of slamming.

ABSOLUTELY AN EVEN BREAK

This one has the merit of being venerable. To my way of thinking, it likewise is very good.

A funeral was in progress at a church. Just as the services were getting fairly under way, an intoxicated person wandered in and staggered up the aisle to a seat near the front.

The sexton rose to eject him; but as the stranger seemed to have fallen into a doze the sexton deemed it best to leave him alone until the last sad rites were concluded. The clergyman proceeded with the ritual until he reached the passage:

"And after darkness there shall be light!"

The intoxicated party straightened up.

"There, now!" he said, addressing the gathering generally, "could anything on earth be fairer than that?"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 15.—Thoughts while strolling: More German movie stars. All the members seem to do in a rich club is glare. The wrestler with the heavy mustache. Handy thing to yank. A tabloid reporter leaving an exposition of brocades. Sophie Tucker back on Broadway.

Old movie extras. With faces like fiddles. And the professional skater who wears a red yarn stocking cap. Whatever became of the Brownie books? A whimpering puppy with a lop ear in an express crate. Sisters of charity waiting timidly to cross a crowded street.

An engaging bank sign: "Don't save all but save a little." Nothing so aristocratic looking as a yachting cap. A string quartette in a drug store soda fountain. Those blond slight girls who dress in Oriental style. Fake antiques— with plenty of buyers.

Two button spats. Be-ribboned powder puff dogs. Leonard Leibling the music critic and a deft pianist himself. Two former night clubs become drug stores. Those turreted old houses. Which barricade the last of the dowagers and their metallic savoir faire. And slinking basement cats.

Straw colored caretakers. Who laze through summers leaning back in sidewalk chairs. Old women in black sateens who sell link sausage and huge pretzels. The old men who potter about elevated platforms picking up sticks, paper and twine. Grayer houses and grayer people.

Assured and enameled shop girls. More defiant than the debutante. Black cotton umbrellas hanging on a string. Bertha M. Clay novels. Windows of gaudy beads. Three evictions in a block. And rooms with or without table board.

That sullenness that comes with dusk to the tenements. Puling babies. Shrilled-voiced mothers. And shirt-sleeved fathers who snore heavily before dinner. Gasolene torches of the decaying fruit merchants. A few thumping nickel pianos. And night with its spatter of stars.

A Long Island home owner advertises for a yardman at a salary of $175 a month and board. I remember when yards were cleaned for the privilege of selling the bottles found on the premises.

The newest in jobs concerns an establishment that hires a young society youth to stand inconspicuously near the door. He identifies customers of importance and relays the names to clerks. In a short time many drop by to call the customer by name. He fells so important he would never think of asking a reduction in price.

A shoe merchant reserved sculptorial niches in his gaudy new building on Broadway for a popularity contest by ballot. The winners were. Drama, Ethel Barrymore; Comedy, Marilyn Miller; Opera, Rosa Ponselle; Screen, Mary Pickford. Bronze heads of the winners will be installed.

As a matter of fact there is not at present a strikingly popular actress of the calibre of Maud Adams, Viola Allen, Mary Mannering or several others who flourished in the Nineties. Jeritza is doubtless the most romantic and appealing of the operatic stars. After all, popularity can be judged best by the box office, and Gloria Swanson thereby tops the list in the cinema world. She leads the pack. If there are any real comediennes on the stage today I have not seen thm.

New names, new faces and short careers rule the theatre. Every time I see Wilton Lackay or Otis Skinner at liberty I have no trouble figuring out what is the matter with the drama.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Street Car Safety.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—With a view of stimulating the efforts of managements and employees of street railway systems in accident prevention and health promotion, the family of the late Anthony N. Brady in 1914 established the Brady memorial Award. After three years the award was abandoned, largely due to the World war that was engrossing all interest and activity. Now it is to be revived.

The American Electric Railway association found that the award was so effective in maintaining efficiency and safety that it has asked for its resumption, and Nicholas F. Brady, at the request of the American Museum of Safety, has agreed.

The award is merely a medal, or rather, a group of three medals, and it may be a matter of surprise that it would excite an impersonal corporation like a street railway company, or stir its individual employees who are altogether personal, to exceptional effort to guard the lives and health of passengers. However, the Museum of Safety and the Electric association in announcing the renewal of the award affirm that it does do that very thing.

Everybody, it seems, including school children of both sexes, Boy Scouts, life guards, athletes, soldiers, scientists, and street railway executives and subordinates, likes to do something to earn the distinction of being awarded a medal or a decoration. It grows out of the competitive spirit, which is almost as much of a human instinct as the natural impulses of living, and it is the thing that brings about heroic deeds and successes in diverse fields of endeavor.

Not infrequently, it is declared, the hope of winning a medal has inspired greater efforts than could be incited by prospects of monetary reward. Kings and governments discovered this about the time the first war was staged, which was quite a while ago, and the practice of applying the idea has been going strong ever since.

Safer to Ride Than to Walk.

At any rate, the fact that is far safer to ride in a street car than to walk at the present time is said to be due in no small degree to accident prevention work that was accelerated when the Brady Award was inaugurated 13 years ago. And that the cited fact is a fact was revealed in an analysis of accident statistics which shows that only one passenger out of every 100,000,000 passengers carried by electric railways has suffered fatal accident in recent years.

Despite greater traffic problems, there has been since 1923, it is stated, a decrease of 16 per cent in all accidents on electric railways.

The rules for the competition for the Brady award, formulated by a committee chosen from the industry itself, have been sent to every electric railway company in the United States. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are to be given for the best safety records, and the railways are divided into three groups—those operating more than 5,000,000 vehicle miles, those operating 1,000,000 and 5,000,000 vehicle miles, and those operating less than 1,000,000 vehicle miles. This gives the smallest company and its employees a chance at earning the distinction without being handicapped by the unlimited resources of the big corporations.

The first of the new competitions will be based on the promotion of safety and health during the year 1926, and statistics and claims must be in the hands of the American Museum of Safety not later than August 1, 1927. The committee of award, headed by Lewis Gawtry, president of the Bank of Savings of New York City, includes Col. A. B. Barber, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United

Non-union coal mines in the northern panhandle district of West Virginia are back on a normal basis. Statements obtained from various operators about the district yesterday indicate that the minor drop in production noted early this month has been entirely overcome, and the mines of Ohio, Brooke and Marshall counties are contributing very substantially to the nation's coal needs during the suspension of the mines in the central competitive field.

Most of the mines in the panhandle are protected against unionization by injunctions granted by the state courts. Mines not so protected have not been assailed nearly so heavily as was at first predicted by the union officials, and each and every mine has taken its place in the important task of producing fuel during the emergency period.

"Mines in the panhandle are back on a normal basis," said the spokesman for a number of the operators yesterday. "There is no shortage of men, for the mine offices are besieged daily by miners, all experienced, who seek work."

WORLD DEMANDS TO SEE CROSS IN OUR LIVES, SAYS PASTOR

Dr. D. W. MacLeod Delivers Holy Week Sermon.

CALVARY THEME

Good Friday Cantata Tonight in Methodist Episcopal Church.

"The world demands to see the Cross in our lives. There is no good in a Christianity that does not involve crucifixion" asserted Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, First Presbyterian pastor in an outstandinf union Holy Week sermon at the First Baptist church last evening.

"How professing Christians at this period of preparation for the Lord's Supper can sit down at card tables rather than attend a place of worship makes for so blinded a condition as to send us to the Throne of Grace," he declared.

The invocation and benediction were made by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The music was directed by Harry Chilton. Miss Ruby Aley was the organist.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, presided at the meeting. "These Holy Week gatherings have more than met the expectations of the Ministerial association in results accomplished and interest shown," he said. "Just today I was told that had they been begun sooner a revival would have broken out in the city. We shall hope to even better our manner of procedure next year."

Instead of the usual preaching service the downtown service tonight will consist of a service of song at the First Methodist Episcopal church when a cantata, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, the congregation's choral leader, will be given.

"Persons allied to churches indulging in social frivolities at this time have not caught the passion of the Saviour," affirmed Dr. MacLeod. "The world has the right in our actions to see the print of the nails of the Crucified Christ in our hands if we affect to be His followers and devotees of His church. It is not for Jesus to bear the cross alone."

Rising to dramatic heights, with consummate logic and with striking sincerity of manner, Dr. MacLeod drove home the fundamental truths surrounding Calvary's victorious sacrifice.

"Our crosses, those professing Christ's name, involve a separation from the world that is apparent and easily discernible," went on Dr. MacLeod. "They include a loyalty to His church at all times."

Dr. MacLeod averred that preaching Christ and Him crucified was the pertinent duty of ministers. "This is the central message of the gospel," he said. "Without it there is no true gospel."

He deprecated the soft tendency of many present-day ministers to say only beautiful things about Christ while neglecting to stress His crucifixion and attach little or no significance to His death.

"These held no sacrificial character to the cross. They make the atonement little short of repulsive, calling such a viewpoint a religion of shambles. They emphasize His life, not death. His priceless words have no heritage in modern ideals which are the world's most priceless possession.

"Such people existed in Christ's day. To them the cross was 'a stumbling block to the Jews and foolishness to the Greeks.'

"Christ Himself gave the cross the central place in His early career. Paul followed in His standards there on.

"The Christ declared unto his Deciples that it was part of His duty to die. To this end he directed his life efforts. At the Mount of Transfiguration, where the only convention with heavenly delegates was ever held, He conferred with Moses and Elijah, the one the exponent of Mt. Sinai and the other the hero of Mt. Carmel, on his death.

"Before His passing He instituted the Lord's Supper whose viands are to commemorate His death. He thus recognized His blood covenant with humanity as the High Priest of heaven.

"The cross alone reveals to man the real nature of sin. Men must know its depravity and how God regards it. The tendency of the world is to veneer sin, making it a thing of less tragic significance."

"The Cross is a revelation of supreme love in our lives. This love so amazingly demands a reciprocity of loyalty, separation from the world and activity in furthering His kingdom.

SEVENTH ART SHOW TO OPEN HERE MONDAY

Exhibit of Printing in Newman Store Windows.

57 MASTERPIECES

Norman T. A. Munder's Collection Will be Displayed.

An exhibit of fine printing, the seventh art show brought to East Liverpool under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, will be presented in the show windows of the Newman store, Washington street, starting Monday.

The exhibit, secured through the American Federation of Arts, is the property of Norman T. A. Munder, Baltimore. It is being circulated for the purpose of bringing attention of the public to the fact that printing is an art. The display is made up of 57 masterpieces.

Munder ranks among America's foremost printers. For his "perfect book," reproduction of drawings by old masters, he was awarded the gold medal of the Society of Graphic Arts at the society's exhibition at the National Arts club in 1920. This book also won the Grand Prix as the best example of fine printing and other awards.

The display emphasizes the significance of personality, not only in craft work but in the industrial arts. The exhibit includes the following samples:

Reproductions of etchings and notable works of art also in the collection include:

States; Lucius S. Storrs, managing director of the American Electric Railway association; and James H. McGraw, president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

The factors prescribed as conditions for obtaining the award are: The success in gaining good will as indicated by the initiative, skill, and enterprise manifested in improved safety conditions; the improved safety conditions which have resulted from original ideas, as well as the extent to which the company has taken advantage of new development of safety in operating and maintenance practice and equipment originating with others; improvements in safety practice which have resulted in reduced maintenance, or greater reliability of service; particular success in conducting a safety program and actually reducing the number and seriousness of accidents; outstanding accomplishments in development of cooperation between management and employees in safety promotion; and similar accomplishments in measures to promote sanitation and health.

Honorable Mention Possible.

In addition to awarding medals the committee may in its discretion make honorable mention of one or more electric railway organizations, based upon the same criteria as the award of medals or any other factors that may impress the committee as especially worthy of commendation.

In 1914 the Brady medal was given to the Boston Elevated Railway company. A silver replica went to Russell A. Sears, general attorney, and a bronze replica to Henry V. Neal, a mechanic in the company's employ. Honorable mentions were accorded that year to the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company.

The Union Traction company of Indiana carried off the gold medal the year following, with the silver replica going to its general manager, Harry A. Nicholl, and the bronze to John Hancock, a motorman. Honorable mention was made of the Chicago Elevated Railroads, the Peninsula Railway company and San Jose Railroads, and the Columbus Railroad company.

In 1916 the Connecticut company was given the gold medal, the silver replica was awarded to Seth W. Baldwin, assistant attorney, and the bronze replica was carried off by W. J. Flickinger, secretary to the president of the company.

"We believe that, while an enviable record in accident prevention among electric railways has already been accomplished, a still finer record can be made in the future," says President Williams, of the American Museum of Safety. "The very fact that the suggestion for resuming the Brady Award came from the railroads themselves shows their willingness to respond."

The Museum of Safety includes among its officers such notables as Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, George F. Kunz, Edson S. Lott, James Speyer, William H. Nichols, Arthur H. Young, and Barron Collier. It was formerly known as the Safety Institute of America and was incorporated by special charter of the State of New York in 1911.

Its motto or slogan is, "Now let us conserve human life."

Forsees Bottle-Fed Nation.

There is danger of bottle-feeding becoming a craze, declared Dr. A. F. G. Sparks, a prominent English doctor, at a recent maternity and child welfare conference at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. Unless bottle feeding for infants is checked, he said, the nation would become bottle-fed with consequent loss in efficiency. His remarks were confirmed by other medical men. The sheriff of Newcastle suggested that welfare centers teach fathers how to keep babies asleep at night.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEES TO DISCUSS FRANCHISE TAX

Upper Branch Balks on Amendments to Aigler Bill.

GAS TAX HIT

Direct Levy and Excise Bills Await Donahey Action.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—While the Ohio senate and house was in recess, members of a joint conference committee here today met in an effort to iron out differences existing between the two legislative branches relative to house amendments to the Aigler bill, increasing the franchise tax on corporations doing business in Ohio.

The house and senate recessed late Thursday night until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, April 20.

After the house, Wednesday night, passed the Aigler bill, by a vote of 95 to 11, the senate refused to concur in house amendments and forced the measure to a joint conference committee.

Determined to dispose of the Aigler bill controversy first, the senate refused to carry out the plan which called for a vote Wednesday night on a question of passing the Sullivan bill, increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

Three Major Measures Held Up.

Of the five major financial measures, only two have passed the legislature and are ready for the approval, or disapproval, of Governor Vic Donahey. These are: The Dodd bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill, and the Kumbler bill, increasing the excise tax on certain utilities from 1.2 to 1.35 per cent.

When the legislators reconvene next week, the senate will be asked to pass the Sullivan bill, which already has passed the house; the house will be requested to concur in senate amendments to the Norton bill, recodifying and revising state highway laws, and both legislative branches will be asked to approve the joint conference committee's report relative to the Aigler bill.

As it passd the senate, the Aigler bill had increased the franchize tax from 1-12 to 1-8 of one per cent for the first year and provided for 1-10 of one per cent for subsequent years, besides authorizing exemption from this tax of 20 per cent of corporate properties outside Ohio. The house changed the tax rate for the first year to 1-7 of one per cent and boosted the percentage of exempted property from 20 per cent to 100 per cent.

House Passes Forney Bill.

The joint conference committee on the Aiger bill comprises Senators C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican floor leader; A. G. Aigler, Bellevue, and P. M. Herbert, Columbus, and Representative Martin Dodd, Toledo, Republican floor leader; C. H. Jones, Jackson, and G. P. Ward, Columbus.

The senate next week will be asked to concur in the action of the house which, by a vote of 91 to 13, passed the Forney bill, levying a 10 per cent tax upon the sale of cigarettes throughout Ohio. The bill, it was estimated, if operative as law, would increase the state's revenues about $4,750,000 a year.

The house, also, passed, 99 to 4, the Sullivan bill, changing the inheritance tax rate so that this state will share the full 80 per cent allowed by the federal government. This measure, which now goes to the senate, is estimated to increase the state's revenues about $1,000,000 annually.

Dry Legislation Remedy.

Efforts will be made, it was stated, to have the senate and house next week pass the Marshall and Etling bills, now pending in the senate, which, dry leaders claimed, if enacted into law, will remedy the situation resulting from the decree of the U. S. Supreme court which invalidated Ohio statutory provisions which authorized village mayors to accept as compensation part of fines collected from liquor law violators.

The senate and house late Wednesday adopted the Bustard joint resolution providing for a joint committee of five senators and five house members, to investigate and study the criminal jurisprudence of Ohio and report to the next legislative session with a view to enacting a new criminal code. This proposed committee, it was stated, would sumbit recommentations dealing, among other things, with the jurisdictions of justices of the peace and village mayors and the recommendations for permanent reconstruction of the interior system of Ohio.

Mooney Proposal Defeated.

The Mardis bill, seeking to eliminate all alleged discrimination against Ohio coal mines and users of Ohio coal by reducing intra-state freight rates on coal shipments, is in the hands of the senate committee on commerce and industry, after passing the house.

The Anderson joint resolution, which was adopted by the house, memorializing congress to grant additional federal aid relative to the Ohio river road in Belmont and Jefferson counties, is in the hands of the senate highways committee.

A sundry appropriations bill, introduced by Representative Williamson, Greene county, was referred to the house finance committe.

By a vote of 92 to 2 the house passed the bill, by Representative Guthrie, Coshocton, relating to the investment of funds of that teachers' retirement system. The bill went to the senate.

The Mooney bill, providing for a teacher's examination as a requirement of certification, besides keeping the present required amount of training, was defeated by the house, 28 to 69.

Carpenter-Lewis Bills.

The senate, by a vote of 34 to 0, passed the Carpenter emergency supplemental appropriation bill, appropriating about $160,000 to care for legislative expenses and for special repairs at Indian Lake. The bill went to the house.

Senator Lewis, Belmont county, introduced a bill to relieve the sinking fund trustees of Yorkville for responsibility for loss of public funds in connection with the failure of the Yorkville bank.

By a vote of 31 to 1, the senate concurred in the action of the house in passing the Anderson bill, removing jurisdiction of justices of the peace in Canton. As the bill passed the senate, it relates to civil and criminal proceedings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 15.—Closing of the speculative and many of the commodity markets today is in accordance with a long established custom, though Good Friday is not observed as a holiday in New York state. The banks, clearing houses and most of the business houses remain open, while the cotton and produce market remain closed until Monday.

Summarizing the movements of speculative security prices over the past two or three weeks, it can be said without fear of controversy that this has been one of the most confused periods since the break in prices in February and March of last year. Though within a week the average price of representative industrial and railroad stocks have recorded their highest ranges for a decade or more, there have nevertheless occurred violent reactions in some of the prominent groups of stocks with prices declining below the bottom prices of last year's "big smash."

Prominent in this list are the oil, sugar and specialty stocks. Demoralization in the crude oil production situation, following a year of high prices and excellent earnings for the oil industry as a whole, has made the oil stocks an excellent target for the professional bears, and forced liquidation of stock by investors who feared for the safety of their dividends. Copper and sugar stocks also have been compelled to carry the handicap of over-production and the consequent declines in commodity prices.

THREE DIE AS FLOOD, STORM RAGE IN WEST

Two Drowned in Kansas; One Killed in Colorado.

RAILROADS HIT

Oklahoma and Wyoming Also Report Heavy Damage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 15.—Streams in southeast Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma today were at highest flood marks this year. Lowlands were flooded, railroad tracks were imperiled and volunteers were aiding county authorities in stemming onslaughts against levees and dikes.

Coffeyville, Kansas, was hardest hit by the high waters of the Verdigris river which after midnight began rising at the rate of four inches an hour. Missouri Pacific railroad officials at that place were concerned chiefly today with ballasting down sections of track between Independence and New Albany. A wall of water three to five feet deep was menacing the Frisco railroad between Neodesha and Fredonia. The toll of life today stood at two drowned.

DENVER, April 15.—One man was killed and many others were seriously injured in a severe storm that has swept Colorado and Wyoming. Air mail service is paralyzed, train service delayed and in some districts entirely blocked.

Fifty automobiles were abandoned today on the Denver-Colorado Springs highway because of the high drifts and blinding snowfall.

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Purchase by the North German Lloyd Steamship company of the British steamer Ormuz was announced here today by J. Schroeder, North German Lloyd representative.

The Ormuz will be added to the North German Lloyd's New York-Bremen service in June, Schroeder said.

CLEVELAND MAN SHOT TO DEATH

CLEVELAND, April 15.—Another victim has been added to the list of "Roaring Third" precinct murders here. An unidentified man, his body riddled with buckshot, was found dead on East 28th street, early today, making a total of nine killings in the "black belt" since the first of January.

Note Unsatisfactory

tacks, postponing punishment until guilt is definitely established, it was learned today.

Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government at Hankow, handed the Chinese answer to the United States consul at Nanking Thursday.

Minister Chen says that the Nationalists are preparing to indemnify the United States for damage to the American consulate at Nanking, regardless of the identity of the persons causing the damage, because the consulate, which is upon Chinese soil, was violated.

Asks Probe for Bombardment.

As regards reparations for personal injuries and other material damage from the consulate, the note states that the Nationalists are ready to make "reasonable and necessary" reparations, except where it can be proved that the damages were caused by the American and British bombardment or northern soldiers.

The note declares that the demand for punishment of the perpetrators is a presumption of national guilt and that, while this presumption is contradicted by the preliminary inquiry, the Nationalist government is still making an investigation and proposes that punishment be withheld by an international commission to be created by the Nationalists and the United States.

Chen's reply says that, as the laws of nations and civilized practices prohibit the bombardment of a city or territory of a friendly state, it is proposed that the commission also investigate "the bombardment of unfortified Nanking by United States forces." The document suggests an apology, but says that the Nationalist administration will await the determination of guilt.

Shanghai is Quiet.

Effective measures are promised to protect foreign lives and properties in the future. But the document emphasizes that the "best guarantees of effective protection would be removal of the fundamental causes of the present troubled relations—namely, unequal treaties."

This city was quiet today, interest centering upon Nanking where Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, Vei Chung Hsi, Gen. Chow Feng Chi and others are attending the all important juomintang conference.

This meeting, it is believed, will result in an open split between the conservatives and the communists. If this comes to pass it is understood Gen. Chiang plans to establish a new government ignoring both the Wuhan and Peking administrations.

British Airplanes Land.

The military situation is not clear, the Nationalists claiming a strategic victory in their retreat back to the Yangtse and that the Anhwei forces have cut the northern vanguards from their base.

Northerners confirm the Cantonese success at Pukow, declaring that Gen. Chang Tsung transferred his headquarters from Suchow to Pengpu.

A British aircraft carrier landed six airplanes here this afternoon, stationing them at the race course where hangars already had been built. The British plan to use the planes to cooperate with artillery units in the event of an attack against the international settlement. However, fears of such an attack have about died out now.

Calculated to Mislead Public.

PEKING, April 15.—The Chinese Nationalists' reply to the American note protesting against the anti-foreign outrages in Nanking on March 24, was characterized today by American officials as "extremely unsatisfactory." They declared belief that the Chinese answer was calculated to mislead the public abroard.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, commander of the northern armies, has assured United States Minister John MacMurray that the strictest orders have been issued to the Northern troops to prevent a recurrence of firing upon United States warcraft such as occurred when shots were discharged against the American gunboat Noa in the Yangtze river near Nanking. It was explained that this attack was due to a misunderstanding.

Chinese Aid Communists.

During a conference this morning the American minister urged Marshal Chang's secretary of foreign affairs to publish the documents seized in the recent raid upon the Soviet embassy compound.

It is reported that receipts were found proving that the Communist Leader Li Tachao received one hundred American dollars monthly from the Soviets.

It was further reported that written reports were discovered made out by Chinese employed by the American and other legations. These reports were designed to keep the Soviets informed of all that went on in the legations.

The police are still holding 35 Chinese Communists arrested at the time of the raid. Nineteen others were released.

Soviet Charge Seeks Passports.

The Soviet charge d'affaires, who was recalled last Saturday by the Moscow government as a result of the embassy raid, has asked the Chinese foreign office for passports for himself and the principal embassy secretaries. Minor attaches already have departed.

The Peking government has cabled the Chinese charge d'affaires at Moscow the text of the reply to the Soviet note protesting against the embassy raid. This answer declares that the diplomatic immunity of the embassy could not be extended to activities subversive of the Peking government and that such activities had been carried on within the embassy premises.

Chinese police still occupy the Soviet embassy compound and Russian property which was seized has not yet been released.

The Soviet charge d'affaires plans to leave Peking on Tuesday.

Replies Almost Identical.

LONDON, April 15.—The Cantonese replies to the Nanking protest notes of America, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, were almost identical, it was learned here this afternoon. The differences were that the Cantonese in their replies to Britain and America, reproached those countries for the bombardment at Nanking, while France was reproached for firing upon the Chinese at Canton.

Japanese Troops Go To Manchuria.

TOKIO, April 15.—Because of the tense situation in Manchuria, the Japanese war office has decided to strengthen its forces there, sending an additional division, it was learned here today.

The war office is sending replacements, without recalling the present forces, it was reported.

British Censor on Job.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Most of the news dispatches from China are being "censored by British sources," Rear Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, retired, U. S. N., chairman of the federal radio commission, declared today after a conference at the White House.

Bullard, just returned from China, called to thank President Coolidge for his appointment to the commission.

STATE SCORES IN HEWITT CASE

JEFFERSON, O., April 15.—The state scored today in the Floyd Hewitt murder trial when Judge Charles R. Sargent presiding, ruled that the confession made by Hewitt the day following the killing of Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February, and which he later repudiated, was not obtained through force. The judge indicated that he would permit the confession to be introduced as evidence.

H. D. Hannum, county detective, who obtained Hewitt's statement, was on the stand most of the morning. Attorneys argued the matter and questioned Hannum, with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

Presbytery Meet Will be Held Next Week at Minerva

Spring meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery will be held at Minerva on Monday and Tuesday. The session will open at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church and retiring moderator, will preach at the Monday evening session.

MR. MENCKEN, who writes, is annoyed that Boston should suppress books held by its appointed judges to be immoral or otherwise undesirable. He mentions the suppression of a book by Sinclair Lewis as proof that Boston possesses a "moron kultur."

Sinclair Lewis has written a book which sincere religious people believe to be harmful because in it the character of a clergyman is made despicable. If those in Boston, with the legal right, decide that they don't want such a book sold, that does not prove them morons.

MANY lawyers and their criminal clients will be shocked to hear how one court in Hungary operates. It is an extraordinary court trying cases of treason and attempted revolution. If it finds the accused guilty it sentences them to death.

Immediately thereafter it changes itself into a "court of mercy" and investigates the desirability of a pardon. If there is no pardon the condemned are executed within two hours.

"There is service," as the automobile salesman would express it. Here, if he has money to hire lawyers, the criminal can postpone unpleasant consequences a year or two at least. Both systems are wrong.

A BROOKLYN doctor leaves $1 to his wife, one cent to his son. Napoleon Bonaparte would not allow that and in many places law contends that a man responsible for bringing a child to this earth is responsible for him after he gets there.

Napoleon decreed that sons should respect and obey their parents, and parents, if able, should provide for their children.

And no families are more closely united than French families. Some ignorant American opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

Walter L. Main Shows to Exhibit Here on May 11

Mayor Ralph Benedum today granted a permit to the Walter L. Main shows which will exhibit at Patterson Field on Wednesday, May 11.

According to the advance representative, the show has been enlarged since its appearance in Wellsville last year. It travels on 20 double length railroad cars.

A street parade will be given at 11 a. m.

Human Voice Now Imitated.

By the use of an organ-pipe reed, his fingers and a bellows operated by foot, an English inventor has succeeded in imitating the human voice to an extent that is uncanny. The reed serves as the vocal organ and the fingers as the tongue and lips. He recently produced the sentence, "Hello, London; are you there?" as clearly as if he were telephoning from New York. It is claimed that the experiment proves that the human voice is largely a mechanical result of muscular and nervous action.

C'mon Fans, Be Good Sports, Help Boost Frank Neilson Fund

Elks, Midland Clash In Benefit Tonight

Great Contest Between Two Arch Rivals Will Ring Down Curtain on 1926-27 Cage Campaign; "Dim" Zange, Old Central Loop Referee, Will be Extra Man on Court.

C'mon, fans, be good sports, just for tonight, if no other time. The cost is small, only 50 cents, and the benefits will be great.

Fifty cents probably means very little to you, it may mean a whole lot to Frank Neilson, badly crippled pottery worker who is fighting for his life in the hospital here, while his wife and eight little hungry mouths at home must live, too.

The East Liverpool Elks and the Midland Collegians, two great cage combines, are going to play for Frank Neilson and his family tonight at the high school. It will be the last basketball attraction of the season and what a game it promises to be.

Both clubs, it was announced today, will be lined up to peak strength. It will be recalled that the Collegians defeated the Elks in two games out of a three-game series and the team that does that must be good, despite the fact that the Antlers, at the time, were shy one of their stars.

It's spring, spring for almost everybody, a season of rejoicing, the gala season of the year. It's spring for you baseball fans and followers of sports in general, as you look forward to another great season.

But it's just spring, just another season, for Frank Neilson and his family as a result of the accident in which Neilson almost lost his life—the accident which was caused when Neilson out of work, was forced to dig coal to keep his home warm last winter.

Everybody connected with the game is helping out.

"Dim" Zange, the best referee in the game in the days of the old Central loop, will work tonight's contest and won't take a cent for it. The Keystone Printing company is providing tickets and other advertising materials, the Midland Collegians are coming down for actual transportation expenses, and other individuals are assisting likewise.

They are all donating their services and getting nothing in return, nothing except the satisfaction that they have helped. You can't measure that in dollars and cents.

For fifty cents you, Mr. Fan, can see two great basketball teams in action, and a real battle every minute of the fray is the order of the day.

The big game will start at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary between two local teams.

Greenleaf Winner Over Local Stars

Cue Champ Cops Matches With Daher and Johnson.

William Greenleaf, midwest pocket billiard champion, played before two large crowds yesterday afternoon and last night in the American Billiard parlors.

Greenleaf exhibited many of the fancy and trick shots that have won him an enviable standing among followers of the green top tables and also put on a couple of special matches with local cue sharks.

In the afternoon Greenleaf defeated Harry Daher, 75 to 63, the local lad giving the champ a hot battle all the way.

In the evening performance, Greenleaf won easily from "Nig" Johnson, 75 to 18. Greenleaf had runs of 21 and 29 in the two matches.

He is scheduled to match shots tonight with Miller, champion of the American tourney last winter.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS PLAN NEW LOOP

Sunday School Athletic association will hold a meeting on Monday night, at 7 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A.

Plans will be discussed for the organization of a soft ball league among Sunday school players of the district.

SCOTT SUBDUES GIANTS, 9 TO 6

Phils Pound Grimes; Roush and Hornsby go Hitless.

NEW YORK, April 15.—John McGraw, whose acquisition of Pitcher Burleigh Grimes was hailed as a "master stroke," was beginning to fear today that he was short-changed in the deal. For former Jack Scott, who went to the Phillies in the trade which brought Grimes from Brooklyn to the Giants beat McGraw's sluggers single handed yesterday while the Phils were knocking the belligerent Burleigh loose from his toenails.

In addition to holding his former mates to two earned runs, Farmer Jack raised havoc with his bat. He made four hits, one a home run, and drove in four runs. The score was 9 to 6, and incidentally Hornsby and Roush went hitless.

Meanwhile the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Reds again, 6 to 2, and gained undisputed possession of first place. Lee Meadows kept Cincinnati's hits scattered, while the Bucs bunched hits off Carl Mays.

The Boston Braves jumped to second place by downing Brooklyn again, 7 to 3. Dazzy Vance was shelled from the mound while Foster Edwards, ex-Dartmouth hurler, demonstrated the advantage of higher education to the Robins.

In the American League the Athletics achieved a moral victory by holding the Yankees to a 9 to 9 tie in ten innings. Eddie Rommel was given a four lead but couldn't stand the prosperity. When darkness ended the slugfest, eight pitchers in all had been carried off the field. Sammy Hale led the hitters with four blows.

The Senators made it two straight from Boston, winning 5 to 2. Hollis Thurston, former White Sox pitcher, held the Red Sox to four hits.

The White Sox almost beat Cleveland again with a ninth inning rally. The venerable Sherry Smith, relieving Bennie Karr with two on base, retired the next three men and Cleveland won, 3 to 2. Karr, supposedly a second string hurler, pitched brilliantly for eight innings.

Adverse weather conditions prevented the Cardinals, Cubs, Browns and Tigers from playing. The Tigers and Browns have yet to play a league contest.

'Mike' Making Good In Piedmont Loop

"Mike" Cebula, former star flinger for the Chester City League club, is making good with a whirl his minor league trials at Highpoint, N. C., according to word from the Piedmont League town.

He pitched four innings of a recent game, allowed two hits and crashed out a home run and a single in his two trips up.

"If you keep that up, it will be Chattanooga for you in a few weeks," his manager is said to have told him. Chattanooga owns the Piedmont franchise.

Consequently, "Mike" is in a fair way to step up.

Approve Motors-Billiards Franchise Transfer; Three New Pilots in Loop; Great Season Predicted.

Approval of the recent City Industrial League franchise transfer from Victory Motors to the American Billiards, the debut of three new loop managers, E. E. McVey of the Billiards, Roy Nicholson of Wellsville and E. L. Dailey, of Laughlin, the booking of pre-season exhibition games, and discussion of plans in general, all indicating a 1927 season that should be even better than the two previous campaigns, featured the city league conference last night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

Under the American Billiards, McVey, machinist at Homer Laughlin No. 6, will pilot the former Motors. Long a player with various clubs in past years McVey should be able to produce. He and "Ted" Ganos, the owner, will work together. The team's home field will be Klondyke.

Dailey at Laughlin succeeds Saul McCoy. Pilot Nicholson, of Wellsville, will garden a bit, having had experience on various clubs in the past. He lived in Alliance the greater part of last year, but saw enough of the Wellsville games to have faith in the club's potentialities which should be good enough with the addition of a man or two.

"Pearl" Dailey is labor foreman at No. 6. Like his predecessor, McCoy, he will hand out orders from the bench Joe Dickey will handle the business affairs of the club.

Clyde Parsons, veteran gardener, will be the 1927 field captain of the championship Laughlin aggregation.

Charles Armstrong, who piloted the Wellsville club at the finish last year, will be the team's business manager this summer. Wellsville will have a new playing lot at Nicholson park, west of Eighteenth street. Covered with sandly loam, it will not be so easy to rain out games.

Laughlin's grounds at Newell are being in superb condition. The outfield has already been leveled. Additional seats, doubling last year's capacity, are being installed. The champs will display new uniforms.

Patterson Field, home grounds of the Turk-Nash, will be thoroughly gone over by the club.

At Klondyke, the Boosters' club of the vicinity has agreed to aid in putting the diamond in first class condition for the opening fray.

Plans are being considered by various clubs for putting wire cages back of the plate to prevent the loss of baseballs.

Exhibition games, as part of the preliminary training, will be staged by the Chester Superior Cord Tires and Laughlin at Chester on Saturday, April 23, and between Chester and Turk-Nash on the following Saturday, the games to begin at 4 o'clock.

Chester will be known as the Superior Cord Tires, the rubber company recently taking over the franchise, players and the managerial services of Frank Riley.

K. T. K., piloted by the capable Saul McCoy, will train and play at Columbian park.

Permission was granted Wellsville to use Pitcher Kuntzler of Toronto, who has accepted a position for the summer in Wellsville. Pitcher John Thomas, with Laughlin in 1925 and a part of 1926, has been awarded to the American Billiards. Catcher Hinton, it was announced, will report to Wellsville after completing his college duties in June.

Announcement was made that Shortstop Coleman, of last year's Victory Motor club, has been traded to Wellsville for pitcher and utility man, Del Manning.

Permission was given Laughlin to play the Homestead Grays on the occasion of the Homer Laughlin picnic at Rock Springs park August 6.

JACK SAYS HE'S FEELING GREAT

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Ostensibly far from being the picturesque ruin that long distance critics claim to have seen, Jack Dempsey already has trained himself to within five pounds of his fighting weight, according to word received here today direct from the ex-champion at his Wheeler, Hot Springs camp in southern California. He proclaimed his present weight to be 201 pounds, said he was "feeling great," which is answer No. 2 in the customary Dempsey interview; and declared that he believed his comeback can be achieved without undergoing the operation his physicians deem to be necessary.

Dempsey, it seems, has ignored defense in his early preparations. It has been all attack with him and, like the man who was born on February 22, he has done it with his little hatchet. Cherry is barred as a bit effeminate or something but bird's-eye maple, mahogany and ciscassion walnut have fallen in great profusion.

The boy friend, in brief, has heard about the overemphasis laid upon woodchopping in this section and, being a young, ambitious fellow, is willing to begin absolutely at the beginning and see what good may come of it.

So far, nothing has been lost by the experiment except a lot of California forestry and about nine pounds of Dempsey's weight. According to his own story, his condition is just about where he wants it to be and, in the course of a few weeks, he will be ready to begin intensive training.

Lost Extra Pounds Easily.

The fact that Dempsey carried so little superfluous weight, comparatively speaking, and was able to lose it so readily, hardly supports the contention that physically he is the old eye wash. Still, you can't laugh off that series of skin eruptions and neither can he; at least, not until he has shown that he is able to knock over something slightly more agile than a tree. The latter is a good judge of distance but its footwork is terrible.

It may be well, in fact, to keep both the band wagon and the ambulance in the stable, pending further developments. Dempsey was told in no uncertain terms by his physicians a few weeks ago that his condition then precluded any possibility of a successful return to boxing. He was advised that an operatoin was expedient if an imperfect recovery from a previous operation in 1923 was to be corrected.

Being an "ex-miner" himself, he naturally knew that this was the bunk: so he told the medicos to turn their attention to something important while he went about the formality of curing himself at Wheeler, Hot Springs.

His message today indicates that he considers the cure to have been effective, which leads me to wonder whether Dempsey hasn't something in common with surgeons who wire the following to friends and relatives:

"Operation highly successful but patient died."

Delaney to Meet Spaniard.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Paolino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, was expected to sign for a fifteen round bout with Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, here on June 22.

Yanks Farm Two Hurlers.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The New York Yankees have sent Pitcher Henry Johnson to Milwaukee under option and Pitcher Shep Cannon has been sent to Waco under a similar agreement.

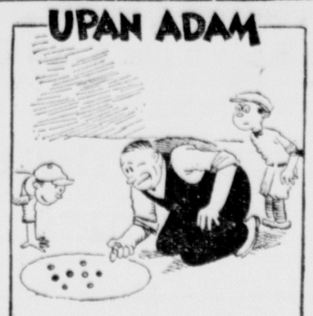
BECAUSE he stands out as one of the few remaining spitball pitchers in the major leagues.

Because he has been hurling that spitter eighteen years and therefore stands as a living refutation of the theory that the moist delivery is a strain on the arm that shortens a flinger's days.

Because he is one of the hardest working pitchers in the game—and one of the most willing. Which may or may not prove again that the way to success is through labor and lots of it.

Because he has just begun his first season as a member of the New York Giants.

And because, with an uncertain pitching staff around him he has a golden opportunity to pitch the Giants to a pennant with a list of some 20 victories for the season.



"Stuffy McInnis' main problem with young Wrightstone is to put him in the Wrightplace."

ACMES TOPPLE RINKEYDINKS

Even up Spring Series With 6 to 0 Victory.

In the second game of their series, the Acmes defeated the Rinkeydinks, 6-0, yesterday afternoon at West End. The series now is even, each team taving a victory.

Baker, in the box for the Acmes, had the Rinkeydinks at his mercy all the way, fanning eleven and allowing but two hits. Mackall also hurled good ball and what would have been an interesting pitcher's battle was spoiled by the errors in Mackall's support.

WELLSVILLE POLICE EXPECT AUTO THEFT RING EXPOSE

ANOTHER MAN IMPLICATED IN INQUIRY HERE

William Steele, 20, Denies he Was Car Driver.

COMPANION FLEES

One Suspect Awaits Hearing on Charge of Larceny.

Possibility that the arrest of William Steele, 20, of Pennsylvania avenue, East Liverpool, alleged auto thief, may clear away the mystery surrounding the disappearance of a number of automobiles in the Wellsville-East Liverpool district, was hinted by authorities of the two cities as Steele prepared to face Municipal Judge Jesse C. Hanley at a hearing at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

In his arraignment this morning Steele pleaded not guilty to a larceny charge. He asserted that he was not driving the automobile belonging to Mrs. Pearl Smith, 920 St. George street, East Liverpool, in which he was arrested by Patrolman John Cole, of Wellsville, Wednesday night.

In the meantime, police are searching for another man, Steele's companion, who is said to have jumped out of the automobile as it reached East Liverpool, after a chase up the Wellsville road.

Steele, following his arrest, according to police, disclosed the fact that he and his companion had also taken a car belonging to S. D. Yost, of Clark avenue, prior to the theft of the Smith machine and had abandoned it at Somerset. Police later found the Yost car.

Two other machines recently were stolen from Wellsville and recoveries were made in both instances. A car stolen several weeks ago from Paul Eaton was found on a rural road back of East Liverpool.

Sedan owned by E. G. Whitacre was stolen from the Whitacre garage a week ago and driven to Midland where state police took up the pursuit. On that occasion two men jumped from the car and escaped.

Five men, under indictment for alleged participation in the wrecking of the Yorkville Savings bank, will be arraigned Saturday in Steubenville.

W. E. Jones, cashier, named in three true bills, and two directors of the defunct institution, were indicted among others.

The first indictment jointly accused W. E. Jones, Thomas Jones and J. N. Hunter; the second accuses the cashiers, Thomas S. Jones and W. B. Francis, while the third accuses the cashiers, J. N. Hunter and Thomas Kademenos. The true bills were based on evidence gathered by the state banking department in its probe of the bank's affairs.

Further prosecutions in the Yorkville cases had been brought about by depositors of the institution who petitioned County Prosecutor Merryman to reopen his investigation and prosecute those responsible for the failure of the bank.

"Like a Clean China Dish"

The New Leonard means more than convenient food storage. It means greater efficiency and economy, less work, better results.

Get the New Leonard in your home. It will buy itself over and over in saving food and ice. Learn how it gives most refrigeration at least cost. Learn why the new insulation of thick Compressed Corkboard, sealed with wool felt, retains the cold air and repels heat. Corkboard insulation is moisture-proof, odorless. Does not "settle down."

See the One-piece Porcelain Food Chamber. Feel the round corners; note how the porcelain extends clear around the door frame; cleaning is easy. The patent copper drain pipe and trap is removable through food chamber. Doors close air-tight. Lever latches, with hair triggers work automatically, like magic.

The New Leonard's circulation is based on principles of science. Cold dry air is forced to rise to the highest point in the food chamber, then over the ice for repurifying and chilling. Shelves are of open woven wire mesh, permitting free circulation of crisp, cold pure air.

Ice chamber admits standard shapes and sizes of artificial ice. The section beneath the ice chamber admits quard milk bottles.

ANTI-RUM MEN PREPARE FOR BORDER MOP-UP

Dry Forces Organize for Fight Against Liquor Runners.

EYE ON CANDA

International Line to Seem Like Armed Camp.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—According to well-informed federal circles the United States government will place this Summer the largest force of preventative forces along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river in the history of Volsteadism. New section headquarters are to be established at Oswego, Watertown, Alexandria Bay, Ogdensburg and Massena upstate and in the Western section at Sodus, Niagara Falls and other points along Lake Erie to the West.

The Oswego division, it became known here, is to be one of the most vital spots in the federal plans to stop the flow across the border. At this point, it is said, will be stationed fast patrol boats, whose duty will be to head off all big craft bound for quiet coves on the Southern shores of Lake Ontario. These cutters, it is said here, will mount a one-pound cannon and will be equipped as well with small arms and a machine gun or two to be used in cases of emergency.

"Wide Open" River.

If the dry navy and officers on shore succeed in mopping up practicaly all liquor coming in via the border, few bootleggers themselves believe themselves that the business will continue to any great degree. On the other hand, officers wise in the way of the underworld fear to give the rum-runners an upper hand for a moment, realizing that to do so means a "wide open" river and lake in the future.

All along the lake and river front at points of control will be stationed small units of two or three members of the border patrol. In each unit will be two customs agents and one immigration officer, it is said.

Behind this "second line of defense," for as usual the Marines receive the first call to duty, will come the "moppers up," the state police.

Raiding Stills.

Working back among the cities and industrial centers where the smuggled liquor supplies ultimately find their way will be the prohibition enforcement agents, a distinct group of federal agents whose chief duty is to raid stills, arraign prisoners, secure "buys" from "speak-easies" and make an occasional visit to breweries not officially marked "clean."

Then there is still another force in the gigantic army of United States and state officials lining up against the new "rum row." There are the men who perhaps are least known but whose activities always result in the "big boys" being brought to court. They are the "under cover men," agents who work quietly in civilian clothes armed with blackjacks and highpowered revolvers and plenty of Uncle Sam's expense money. The daring young fellows silently slip through the enemy lines, mingle in Canada with the brewers themselves and after everything is set they spring the trap that nabs a whole shipload at once—thousands of dollars loss to someone "higher up."

Like Mexican War.

"This game of battling the liquor toters this summer ought to be a lot like the Mexican war," a veteran customs agent declared in discussing the coming campaign. "Here is the way I dope it out. The government, under direction of the president or secretary of the treasury or General Andrews, or someone, wants to make a real honest-to-goodness effort at stopping smuggling this summer. So they are ordering on all kinds of reinforcements."

Officials and watchers agree on one thing—that the Canadian border will resemble an armed camp from May 1 until snow flies later in the winter.

National Anthem in Dispute.

When to play the national anthem has caused great discussion in Australia following the request of the Returned Soldiers' League that managers of theatres play it at the opening instead of at the close of performances. The soldiers say that the exit scramble interferes with the proper observance of the singing, while managers claim that late comers would spoil the anthem when sung as the opening number. Managers also point out that there seldom is any sign of indifference, and that few other countries continue the singing of national anthems at every performance.

NEW LI[illegible] FOR SENATE PROBERS, A RESULT OF DAWES' DECISION

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Now that Vice President Charles G. Dawes has breathed the breath of what may prove to be eternal life into Senator Jim Reed's slush fund investigating committee, Reed's expected back in Washington, as soon as he can get away from the Ford-Sapiro trial, to begin to make the most of his opportunity.

The way Reed fought to keep that committee alive, just before congress adjourned, and the corresponding fury with which the other side fought, to chloroform it, suggest that its subsequent activities promise—or threaten—still worse revelations than its past ones.

The committee has raised Cain thus far mainly in connection with the 1926 Republican senatorial primaries and the subsequent elections in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

However, there are plenty of other states to be delved into, and earlier elections, too, and it may be later ones.

THE committee literally, the way Dawes has fixed it, is in a position to go on forever, if it chooses.

It was a creation of the 69th congress, which ended last March, and promptly proceeded to devote itself principally to ripping Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois up his political back and to lifting the political scalp of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

It's pretty generally agreed that Reed accomplished these two objects, though the final verdict won't be announced until the senate has held an inquest over Smith's and Vare's remains, if any, next December.

UNFORTUNATELY, as Reed viewed it, he and his fellow committeemen were kept so busy with the Smith and Vare cases, up to the time that the 69th congress expired, that they hadn't had much chance to deal with other eligibles.

"Therefore," said Reed, 'the committee will have to go on with its work after adjournment. Several more backs are marked for the ripping up process and several more scalps are ripe to be lifted."

And he introduced a resolution extending the committee's life indefinitely.

"Oh, no," rejoined a group of senators who were getting sick of it, and they filibustered the Reed resolution to death. That is, they didn't allow it to come to a vote and it went into the discard with the 69th congress.

"WELL," said Reed, "a senate committee's a permanent institution, anyway That resolution would have been nice but it wasn't necessary."

"It was, too," insisted the successful filibusters. "Your committee's extinct. A committee quits when congress does."

This is true of a house of representatives' terms all begin together and end together, and when their terms end naturally their committees end.

But the senate's what's known as a "continuing body." Only a third of its members' terms expire at a clatter. The others hold over. Consequently the senate never dies. Query: What, then, becomes of its committees?

IT was a point for Dawes to decide, as presiding officer of the senate.

After thinking the matter over carefully, Dawes has ruled for Reed—let the senate once create a committee, and until that committee gets ready, the senate can't get rid of it.

Its personnel may change—Senator Goff did, in fact, resign from the slush fun committee and Dawes named Senator Fess but Fess declined the appointment.

Behold a senate Frankenstein!

CONEY ISLAND MAN ON ROCK SPRINGS STAFF

Charles Welsh Will Handle Publicity and Promotion.

EX-CIRCUS AGENT

"Dare-devil" Signs Contract for Three-week Engagement.

Charles Welsh, former 24-hour man with the Sells-Floto Circus, and for seven years connected with Coney Island, New York's famous pleasure resort, today assumed charge of publicity and special promotions at Rock Springs park.

Oscar V. Babcock, internationally known "dare-devil," will stage his act of looping the loop, for a three-week period beginning Decoration Day, Monday, May 30. Afternoon and evening performances will be given.

Babcock, who will appear at some of the leading parks of the country, is now in Birmingham, Ala., and from Rock Springs park will go to Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh.

Improvements at the park are being rushed, the force of workers having been increased by Manager C. C. Macdonald.

The coaster ride, one of the new attractions, has been completed and motors and other electric equipment are now being installed. Installation of the new merry-go-round, costing $22,000, will be started within the next week. Walks and grounds are being put in first class condition.

The first picnic of the season will be the Odd Fellows' outing on June 4. The school picnic will be held during the same week.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. De Brissac makes love to Hattie as part of her training for screen work and Hattie seems powerless to resist him. She refuses to go with him on his yacht away from her family, however. O'Malley, to whom she becomes engaged, advises her to try to get work at another studio and invites a lawyer to look over her contract with De Brissac. A rival studio gives her a part and she goes to work for them.

She is a failure without De Brissac and finally she sees him in a restaurant. He asks her not to tie up with the other concern for more than one picture.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE.

Certain difficulties that confront the novelist have a troublesome habit of appearing to be insuperable. Coincidence, for one. So common in our daily lives as to seem, often, the determining factor, coincidence must not, with its familiar long arm, touch and arrange the scrupulous narrative . . . Talent, for another. Not unfamiliar to the least pretentious village neighborhood, a driving force in every department of life, it yet remains a quality that the writer dare bestow upon one of his characters only at the risk of his reader's simple belief . . . And, for still another. Success. Old-fashioned success, that spells riches and what widespread interest must step warily among them if he is to hold his reader's faith. And among all these facts of outcropping material success, the most blatantly familiar, of late, the swiftest to arrive, the most overpowering in quantity and force, are the successes of the screen. They come, some of them, overnight. They are almost instantly a matter of wireless communication from careless brain to empty brain all round the world. They strike capriciously and hard.

Thousands of eager young actresses and actors swarm at the gates of the studios. Some have experience, some talent; either may fail or succeed. A gifted and beautiful young actress may appear in twenty pictures without once capturing the popular fancy. A little cash girl out of a store may wander in by chance and arrive in a day. Repeatedly the managers in concert abolish the star system. Only to fight like cut-throats over the ignorant child who, as a result of some unknown law, photographs well; offering her fortunes in a moment, placing her in authority over trained, mature men. . . . A picture is released; within a week it is viewed by more than a million theatre-goers, and still within that week a thousand, two thousand, five thousand exhibitors have telegraphed to their exchanges a peremptory demand for more pictures of a certain pretty little face, or a pair of crossed eyes, or of two acrobatic feet. This dramatically capricious bolt strikes not, perhaps, so often, but strike it does. And no system of management can withstand it.

De Brissac's greatest picture, "Bagdad," was released after very brief preliminary announcements, but with a sudden burst of publicity that taxed the resources of the Earthwide's press department. Suddenly, in a blaze-light outbreak of posters and display advertising and reading matter, every city in the United States became vividly aware of it. The name "DE BRISSAC" everywhere preceded the slogan—"The Greatest Picture Ever Made." It was played in regular theatres at theatre prices in the Griffith manner. The great director went East in person for the New York opening. He was dined by Mayors and Governors. At Washington the President attended as his guest.

Hattie was at this time nearly through with her job at Plantagenet town. She was unhappy and tired. The end of the family income was more than in sight; it was fairly upon her within the fortnight. Mr. Mortimer had, she knew, done his best in his brusque way, to make the best of a bad bargain. And she had done her best; but knew now that it was nothing. She wasn't an actress; was sure now that she didn't want to be one. She even longed for the routine of the mailing room, which at least, however monotonous, didn't tire her brain, worry her about things she couldn't understand, drive her to secret tears and to playing in secret, at home, with a doll she, as secretly, bought one day. She talked to the doll. It was the only one she could talk her heart out to. More and more she had to cheer Henry. The family didn't know that she'd helped finance his fruitless journey to New York.

It was just then that the United States rose up and demanded more of Harriet John. She didn't even know that this was her new name. She saw none of the Earthwide people. And at first, when the men and women she saw changed sharply in their attitude toward her, she couldn't catch the significance of it. She was too tired. But she did observe with an almost impersonal, almost meaningless little thrill the constant appearance of her own "stills" in the Los Angeles papers. And a girl on the lot gave her the dramatic sheet of a sober New York Sunday paper with a remarkable lot of praise for her acting. They said she was an artist of rare delicacy, of utter appeal and charm, yet, surprisingly, with emotional power. Even this failed to come home to her. She knew she was no artist. The bitter thought came—"Ask Mr. Mortimer. He'll tell the world!" Whatever she was in "Bagdad" was what de Brissac had made her, by working in from the outside—by dressing her, and cleverly making her up, and posing her. She had never known what he was up to, what anything meant.

The family and Henry were excited, however. Alice couldn't resist dreaming expansively. At last the money was to come pouring in. But they hadn't got it yet. Times were terribly bad; Beverly was wretched with unemployment. Some of the studios had shut down. Henry, for all his natural enthusiasm, wasn't certain that the wealth would come so quickly. Ultimately, yes; he was sure about that; but perhaps not right away. It was a delicate time.

A Mr. Harbin, from the Earthwide press department, called one evening, with an enormous bundle of clippings for Hattie. He said that Mr. Zeeck, who had just returned from New York, thought that she'd be glad to have them. So there was no hard feeling, after all. She thought it awfully nice of them, and read the astonishing pile of reviews—all praise for Harriet John—with a queer, bewildered sense of unreality. They left her no happier than before, merely more excited. She found refuge in locking her door and whispering playfully with the doll. On the following evening Mr. Wurzel called up to warn her against accepting any offers that might come. "I may be able to tell you something pretty interesting within a week or two," he said. "Keep this closely to yourself. Suppose you just put yourself in my hands. That's the best way."

Vaguely, not knowing of any other course, she replied, "Yes. All right."

But if this sudden and unbelievable success brought no immediate wealth, it did bring something.

She came home from Plantagenet Town on her last evening but one, utterly dispirited. Alice met her at the door of the flat with flushed cheeks and rather apprehensive bright eyes.

"You can't guess who's here," she whispered.

"No, I can't," said Hattie.

"Arthur!"

"Who—oh, not——"

Alice nodded brightly, and led her within.

J. C. PENNEY'S COMPANY NOW 25 YEARS OLD

Silver Jubilee Discloses Growth of $500 Investment.

OWN 773 STORES

All Developed on Theory and Practice of Partnership.

The J. C. Penney company, with a store in East Liverpool, today is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary.

The silver jubilee discloses the fact that the original $500 invested in a "Mother Store" has grown to annual sales of $120,000,000.

According to Penney, "Success is entirely a matter of moral fibre. The opportunity for achievement is greater today than ever before." Upon his firm belief in the truth of it rests the foundation of the system of department stores, bearing his name, which now cover the entire country.

Community Stores.

These stores are not chain stores in the ordinary acceptance of the name. They are a closely knit group of individual community stores, contributing to the welfare of the community in the same manner as other local stores but with the added advantage afforded by co-operation with other Penney stores.

They have all been developed on the theory and practice of partnership. They have all contributed in a purely local manner to the development of the towns where they are located. The strength of the group has been used to serve the welfare of the local community.

The original J. C. Penney store was founded in Kemmerer, Wyoming, on April 14th, 1902. Today there are 773 J. C. Penney stores and plans are already under way to increase this number to more than 800 before the close of this year.

No Outside Capital.

In 1902, the" mother store" in Kemmerer did a business of $28,898.11. At the close of 1926 the 745 stores operating at that time did a total of $115,682,737 in sales for the year.

The $500 which was the original investment of J. C. Penney in the little store at Kemmerer was turned better than 230,000 times last year.

The original investment has grown to over $30,000,000 of invested capital. This growth has been brought about inside the group of stores. No outside capital is invested in the J. C Penney Company, and the only time that outside help was asked for was in 1919 when an issued of preferred stock was offered to furnish funds for tax purposes. This preferred stock has since been retired.

The growth of the Ford Motor Company was founded on an original $28,000 and was continued without the use of further outside capital. But this $28,000 has not grown in the same percentage ratio as the growth of the Penney $500 investment. And giving Ford a total turnover of $1,000,000,000 for 1926, the turnover is but 35,000 times the original investment which has been working approximately the same time as the Penney investment.

1,000 Partners.

A still greater difference is shown in the fact that today, J. C. Penney has more than 1,000 partners, each one of whom has started in exactly the same manner as he started, with the same future ahead and the same factors to contend with and to turn into personal success.

The Penney investment has been in men and the Penney policy has been to teach these men how to turn their investment of time, energy, personal interest and earnings into greater profits for themselves through the application of service to the people of the community where they are located.

The only way in which ownership of stock in the J. C. Penney company can be acquired is through work.

Today, in the 773 stores which operate under the Penney name, and in the home organization, the 1,000 partners are doing exactly what J C. Penney did and still does and each one has the same potential success ahead of him that the founder had.

E. C. Sams President.

At the start, 25 years ago, Penney owned a third interest in the original store in Kemmerer. He acquired the balance through earnings made by that store.

When Penney decided to start a second store he gave E. C. Sams an opportunity to acquire an interest in the new place of business. Penney had started a group with the Kemmerer store as the foundation. Sams soon started a group with the second store as a foundation.

Each trained managers for stores to follow. This was the birth of the Penney system.

Now, Sams is president of the J. C. Penney Company, and Penny is chairman of the board of directors.

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NICARAGUAN REVOLT RENEWS ACTION ON PLANS FOR CANAL

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Nicaragua probably would have waited a long time for an inter-oceanic canal if Dr. Juan B. Sacasa hadn't rebelled against President Adolfo Diaz.

As it is, prospects favor a pretty early start on the job.

The Washington was led into intervening in the Sacasa-Diaz fight.

Nobody seems very well satisfied with Secretary of State Kellogg's reasons.

It will hardly do to say that intervention was at the instance of some small-calibre banking interests.

But if it appears that the United States was forced to act, to protect its rights in a contemplated billion-dollar canal—why, that'll be an excuse which can't but be accepted as valid, on account of the huge sum involved, regardless of any other reason.

A billion-dollar stake justifies anything.

TO give verisimilitude to this explanation, it's necessary to have the Washington and Managua governments pushing the Nicaragua canal negotiations at a great rate.

Well, it so happens that there were some Nicaraguan canal plans and estimates on file in the office of the chief of army engineers.

The state department sent for 'em in hot haste. They were hard to find, for they were in a nearly forgotten pigeon hole, and most of them were very old, the most recent document bearing date more than four years ago.

The army engineers would have fixed up a nice new set, but this was such a hurry-up order that there wasn't time for that.

So the old papers were dusted off and turned over to ex-Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and Stimson's on his way to Nicaragua now, as President Coolidge "personal representative," to open up canal negotiations with President Diaz, as soon as possible.

THE curious thing is this:

Whereas you couldn't find a government engineer in Washington six months ago who'd discuss a Nicaragua canal with you as anything but a remote possibility of the dim and uncertain future, today you can't find one who doesn't insist it's an urgent necessity.

Nobody argues that the Panama canal's used up to anything like its capacity.

It's only open to shipping by daylight. It could do twice the business as a 24-hour waterway, but it wouldn't pay. It hasn't customers enough. If it ever does get on a 24-hour basis and can't handle the traffic, enlarging its locks will again double its capacity. It will cost money to enlarge its locks, but not a quarter as much as a new canal will cost.

ARMY and navy men admit all this. "But think," they say, "how nice it would be, if one canal should be shaken down by an earthquake or blown up by an enemy, to have another one to fall back on."

A sound argument maybe, only why didn't it occur to them until so recently?

AT all events, with Henry L. Stimson as canal negotiator-in-chief, it's reasonable to look for rapid action.

Stimson bossed muh of the heavy work on the Panama ditch, while secretary of war under President Taft. He knows the ropes and has a reputation as a go-getter.

Within the next two or three years engineers look forward to seeing dirt flying in Nciaragua.

To Prospect by Airplane.

Airplanes are to be used in South Africa to prospect for copper ore. The plan will first be tried in the new Katanga copper belt of the southern Belgian Congo and northern Rhodesia, and while that country is wooded as a whole, all the great outcrops of copper thus far found there by ordinary means are almost wholly bare of vegetation, prospectors say. Photographs will be taken from the plane by the continuous film methods, and when these reveal possible existence of ore bodies, geologists will be sent first by plane and then by land to the spots. By old methods about 200 square miles a year could be prospected, but by airplane it is expected that about 1,300 times as much territory can be covered.

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18:—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

40 MILLION TO RIDE IN AUTOS

Prediction Made By Chevrolet Motor Company.

The nation's greatest migration is to be made this summer. According to figures furnished R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, by officials of the American Automobile association, before the close of year, 40,000,000 people—a third of the country's population—will travel by motor car. Their wheeled flight over highways and byways, mountain and plain, constitute the most colossal peace-time movement in the history of mankind.

These vast caravanseries will use between 9,900,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in their wanderings—almost half the passenger cars in use in the nation. These figures are based on the situation which prevailed in 1926.

All indications point to an increase of about 10 per cent in the number of tourists and the number of automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 people taking to the highways in approximately 9,000,000 automobiles.

A vast amount of money will be spent by the traveling hosts to enrich the innumerable cities and towns and the millions of stay-at-home servitors that cater to road-side wants. The traveler will spend at least three and a third billion dollars—a tremendous factor in the increased prosperity of thousands of communities throughout the nation.

Of the total of ten million cars which will be on the road, three and a third millions will carry camping equipment and tour for an average of 33 days each. The other two-thirds will patronize hotels and will spend an average of 10 days on tour. For the canvas brigade the daily expenditure is estimated at $10 per car or $33,333,00 daily for them all, which in 33 days will total nearly $1,100,000. The hotel tourists will find their expenses running about even with the camping cohorts, although touring about only one-third as long, and will spend approximately $2,200,000,00. At the most conservative estimate it is safe to assume that the resorts, hotels, garages, filling stations and other agencies catering to motor travel will benefit to the extent of at least $3,300,000,000 from this year's mighty host of motor vacationists.

Test North Sea Flying Boats.

As the result of experimental flights being made in a big all-metal German Dronier Wal flying boat, driven by two British Rolls Royce engines, a regular flying boat service may be established across the North Sea between Oslo, Norway, and Harwich, England. The machine being used in the tests is that in which Capt. Roald Amundsen, the explorer, made his dash to the North Pole in 1925.

"TIN HATS" IS COMEDY HIT

Conrad Nagel and Claire Windsor at the American.

If you don't like war pictures, don't let that fact keep you away from "Tin Hats," for in spite of the title, there are no actual war scenes included. It is as delightful a comedy, and kept an enthusiastic audience near hysterics today at the American theatre where it was shown for the first time.

"Tin Hats" is a riotous yarn about three American doughboys, who through no fault of their own find themselves in Germany immediately after the Armistice has been signed, and in command of a village. This strange trio is composed of a rich man's son, a former gangster, and a roly-poly, German-American boy, played respectively by Conrad Nagel, George Cooper and Bert Roach.

Claire Windsor is a vision as the heroine of the story, Elsa Von Bargen. Miss Windsor's regal appearance, which has been lost in the last two or three pictures, is again in evidence, caused principally by the gowns which the actress wears, and the old-fashioned headdress of 1919.

Conrad Nagel is developing into one of our foremost comedians. If it is possible for a comedian to be dignified, Nagel is that, and is creating a type of comedy essentially his own. The actor has been learning a great deal about "timing" in his last few pictures, and "Tin Hats" shows a decided improvement over his earlier efforts.

Many Laughs.

Most of the laughs of the piece are contributed by George Cooper and Bert Roach, however, who make as funny a pair as were ever seen on the screen. These two as Lefty, and Dutch, bring a laugh whenever they walk in front of the camera.

Tom O'Brien, remembered as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the tough top sergeant in a manner that would strike fear in the heart of any recruit.

This is the season of the year when the householder endeavors to remember which of the neighbors last used his lawn roller.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

Machine Tests Auto Drivers.

Prospective drivers of automobiles are now being tested by machinery in Liepzig, Germany. They sit in a dummy car and handle the controls, while in front of them a motion picture showing traffic in a congested district gives the impression one would have in driving through a busy street. Any mistake in handling the machine is registered automatically on a tape connected with the testing machine.

CLIMATE HERE IS HELP TO CATARRH

Experts Say Three in Every Five People Suffer From This Disease

Experts on catarrh say the climate of this part of the country is one of the chief reasons why catarrh is so prevalent here.

Experts state that catarrh is so prevalent in this section that as many as three out of every five people suffer from the disease and its distressing symptoms, which are dripping in to the throat of a poisonous acid, of fensive substance, a great deal of which is swallowed and enters the stomach, discharge from the nose of large quantities of this same substance, pains the head, huskiness, dryness and soreness of nasal passages and throat, weak, watery eyes and the like.

World's Tonic offers catarrh sufferers something they have long needed, that is, a systemic treatment for catarrh. It relieves almost at once the distress of catarrh in the nose and throat and at the same time fights the disease within the system, where it originates, and is designed to rid the system of catarrh. It has brought astonishing results in many cases. World's Tonic, the new systemic treatment that is doing so much good in East Liverpool and vicinity, is sold by Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (248).

Short Skirt Wearers Fined.

Whether taxation will lengthen skirts or merely fatten the village treasury is still a question bothering the brave Mayor of Lamendrale, Spain. Following his threat to tax modern styles out of existence he finds that skirts are no longer than before, and some even are shorter. The tax is a monthly one, so that the senoritas after paying the fine are immune for a few weks. Some in defiance have cut off still more of the abbreviated covering. More than 200 have laughingly paid fines, but the mayor hopes that eventually they will have longer skirts on the street or longer faces when they appear in court. Reports from the village say that the policeman and tax-collector patrol the streets with a tape measure, allowing only girls with skirts reaching to within seven inches of the ground to pass.

Life Preserver Has Paddles.

Those caught in a shipwreck can don a costume of air-inflated rubber and float for an indefinite length of time during calm or storm, declares the inventor of the costume. The suit has a helmet of metal with hinged front that may be opened to replenish the air. A pair of paddles to attach to the wrists so that one may pull for the shore, is supplied with the suit. Tests of the invention in Germany have proved satisfactory, it is reported.

NOVEL REVUE AT CERAMIC

Herbert Crowley and Six Gobs Appear With Screen Hit.

With broad travesty that gives a hint of the fads and foibles of the gentle sex, Herbert Crowley and his six allied sailors — all husky gobs who saw service during the war — have fashioned an odd stage conception, termed "Herbert Crowley's Different Revue," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

The seven youths, who appear in conjunction with the picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," are made up as pretty girls. They give a touch of real novelty to the offering. They make no attempt to fool their audience for even though they impersonate women they always let it be known that they are men. Beautiful gowns, bright comedy and many novel songs and dances make the revue an unusual treat.

Using the same ingenius devices for creating suspense which have already won him everlasting fame, Herbert Brenon has taken Dixie Willson's tale of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," and turned it into such a film as should make even the author's heart beat with pride. Paramount's production is comparable to the best pictures which have so far been produced and because of it, both director and cast are destined to garner much praise.

The four featured players—Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall, and William Collier Jr.—each have "fat" roles to which they do full justice. Miss Moran plays the young waif who falls in love with an uncouth sailor, for all its worth. Mulhall is the gob who loved as he gambled, not too wisely but too many. The vamp of "Varfety" has her best part since coming to America, as the woman who placed her happiness on the flip of two coins — which she knew were crooked. Collier enacts a different sort of "heavy" after a series of hero roles.

As for the story—it is a rich, colorful affair in which Mulhall marries the little girl he'd met during the Mardi Gras carnival, only to have his home broken up by a former sweetheart who walks into his life and then refuses to leave it.

One of the reasons why so many singers shut their eyes while reaching for high notes is that they don't want to see the suffering of those in the audience.—Zanesville Signal.

PONTIAC SIX HITS HIGH MARK

One Hundred Thousand Cars Roll Out In 15 Months.

PONTIAC, Mich., April 15.—The Oakland Motor Car company's production set a new mark for the automotive industry to shoot at on March 28 when the 100,000th Pontiac Six rolled off the assembly line in the huge new plant at Pontiac, Mich. less than 15 months from the time car No. 1 was built.

In recognition of the company's achievement, not even remotely approached by any new car in the history of the industry, a brief ceremony was arranged at the factory. A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, handed the key of the 100,000th Pontiac Six to Mayor Charles L. Rockwell of Pontiac, who had christened the first Pontiac Six on January 4, 1926, less than 15 months ago. Several officials, including W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, and A. J. Brandt, vice president in charge of operations, were present.

"Completion of the 100,000th Pontiac Six was hastened by the heavy influx of orders for spring delivery," explained Tracy. "March production was increased from 14,000 to 16,000 Oakland and Pontiac cars in response to this increased buying, thus almost equalling last August's record production of 17,000. April's total will far outstrip all records in the company's history, being set at 22,000. This figure exceeds even the record production of August by 5,000 cars.

"There is a close relation between the recent announcement of the New and Finer Pontiac Six at new low prices and the volume of Pontiac Sixes built during its very brief history," said Tracy.

Pontiac Six No. 1, a two-door sedan produced less than 15 months ago sold at $825 at the factory while Pontiac Six No. 100,000 also a two-door sedan sells for but $775 at the factory. The price reduction to the public being due directly to the manufacturing economies possible by volume production.

CANADA BORDER NO LONGER BAR TO U. S. INDIAN

New Ruling Affects 100,000 Members of Six Nations.

CASES PENDING

St. Regis Reservation is Partly in United States.

MALONE, N. Y.—The Canadian boundary does not exist for the American Indians, who may go to and from Canada as often and as freely as they did when the Six Nations were a power on the North American continent.

This was the ruling of a decision announced in Philadelphia by Judge Oliver B. Dickinson of the United States District Court. While affecting more than 100,000 members of the Six Nations, it will have a direct bearing on the 1,500 members of the St. Regis reservation at Hogansburg, half of which is in the United States and half in the Dominion of Canada.

Several Cases Pending.

At present several cases are pending in courts growing out of the situation which the Federal Court ruling seeks to clarify. The decision means that the Canadian and American Indians are immune to the quota laws and immigration restrictions, and this is expected to create a still further tangle in the litigations affecting the Indians in the border reservation. The work of the immigration, customs and Federal prohibition enforcement bureaus will be hampered to a considerable extent.

The ruling made in a test suit instituted by Paul Diabo, an Iroquois Indian deported to his reservation in Canada affects the entire population of the Six Nations. The entire confederation supported Diabo in the legal battle with the government over the efforts of the immigration authorities to class them as aliens. Diabo was deported on the grounds that he was an alien, and had come into this country to follow his trade of structural iron worker without a visa of entry.

The Jay Treaty.

Immigration authorities contended that the Jay Treaty between the United States and Great Britain in 1794, recognizing the right of American Indians to unrestricted travel across the Canadian border was abrogated by the war of 1812. Judge Dickinson held that the Jay treaty did not affect the Indians' status because "it made no division of their country."

The turning point in the case is thus thought to be in answer to the question of whether the Indians are included among the members of the alien nations whose admission to this country is controlled by immigration laws. Judge Dickinson said:

"The answer seems to be a negative one From the Indian viewpoint, he crosses no boundary line. For him this does not exist.

"This fact the United States has always recognized, and there is nothing in this legislation to work a change in our attitude. This does not mean that the United States could not exclude him, but it does mean that the United States, having recognized his right to go from one part of his country to another, unobstructed by a boundary line which to him does not exist, will not be taken to have denied his right unless the clear intention so to do appears. We do not find any such denial in any of the cited exclusion acts of Congress."

Inspector W. C. Robie of the Malone immigration office stated that there were several cases pending which come under this class.

Great Britain is literally flooding this country with lecturers, inspiring an exchange to suggest that we might retaliate by sending Aimee McPherson over there.—Zanesville Signal.

It's hardly possible that the powers, when insisting on that open door in China, ever imagined that they were going to be kicked through it.—Marion Star.

MARKET SYSTEM IS BLAMED FOR COTTON LOSS

Growers Attribute Bankruptcy to Handling Plan.

ADVANCE SOUGHT

Expert Sees Diversified Crops as Means of Relief.

ATLANTA—Bankruptcy of hundreds of farmers in the southeast in the past few years is blamed on the "rotten system of marketing" by Martin Amorous, state cotton statistician and agricultural economist.

Amorous, who has spent years in the cultivation and study of cotton has invited farmers and agricultural economics anywhere in the country to suggest some plan which would be a good substitute for the present marketing system known as the United States cotton futures act.

"In the present system of marketing," he says, "there is no element of supply and demand fixing the prices of the farmers cotton. If the farmers produce 15,000,000 bales of cotton in one year, and the mills actually need 15,000,000 bales in that same year, the 15,000,000 at less than cost to produce and throw in the other million bales as bonus.

Producers' Profits.

"In all other articles of commerce the producers get a profitable price on actual demand and are thus enabled to margin and carry the surplus if any. If the saw mill men produce more lumber than they can sell, they get a profit on every car they sell and carry the surplus. Even if it rots in the pile, they still can pay their dents.

"I assert the bankruptcy of the farmer is due to the rotten system of marketing accredited by the United States government under what is known as the United States cotton futures act. Under this law, New York is the final market for all cotton grown in the United States. The New York cotton exchange is limited to trade in one grade of cotton, known as middling 7-8 inch, and the longest staple. This grade is only 25 per cent of the normal crop.

"The pricing of all other grades is fixed at 10 local spot markets, and once a month the average prices of these spot markets are used on the New York cotton exchange to settle differences in future contracts. All cotton mills protect the price level for the year by trading on the New York cotton exchenge.

Delivering Cotton.

"The Mills make four separate trades before getting a bale of cotton into their plants, two of which are made on the exchange. The spot cotton merchant who contracts to supply the actual cotton makes five different trades before delivering the bale to the mill, two of which are made on the exchange. The mills in Georgia do not buy their cotton from Georgia farmers and they have no advantage in buying cotton over the mill in Massachusetts despite the fact the cotton may be grown next door."

Your "Regular" Pain Now Needless

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes.

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable! Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

Midol

Takes Pain Off the Calendar

Diversified farming is the only solution in sight for the cotton farmer, Amorous says.

Louve Has Unique Vault.

To protect the many valuable exhibits in the Louve at night vaults have been installed beneath the floor and into these the display cases are lowered at the end of the day. The vaults are really one big burglar-proof safe, and the apparatus which raises and lowers the cases is so complicated that only authorized attendants, who knew the secret, can operate it. The great Regent diamond, valued at $2,000,000, is among the exhibits thus protected.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

15 extra hours on the NASH motor to be certain it is right

The illustration shows two Nash Advanced Six engines hooked together in the great Nash testing room.

One of these motors is driving the other, to limber it up. After a few hours of this, the motor now being driven will limber up another.

Then, after 8 to 10 hours on its own power, it will be taken apart. Bearings, connecting rods and pistons carefully inspected. Valves ground and reseated.

Next, the trained ear of an engine expert will listen to the operation of this motor. When he is sure it is absolutely right, it will be mounted on its chassis.

Then another rigid examination, in the car, out on the road. 15 extra hours in all are consumed before the motors shown above are ready for their owners.

How easily Nash could save this time and expense. You would never be able to see the difference.

But every Nash owner knows there is a difference!

There are extra hours of extra care in every Nash, to lift it above the level of the average car—to be certain Nash performance leads the world!
